HORNER NAMES PARK BOARDS; ASKS FOR AUDIT

Wants West System Affairs Told.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Gov. Horner returned today from Chicago. He whirled into his task of making appointments with an energy that produced more results than any single day heretofore.

He selected six of the seven men he intends to appoint on the west park board. He completed his list of seven commissioners of Lincoln park. He chose two members of the commerce commission and three of the five members of the industrial commission. He decided on several individual appointments.

Then he ordered thirty employés of the labor department, chiefly assistant superintendents of free employment agencies, dismissed as an economy measure.

The governor wound up this busy day by offering an appointment on the pardon and parole board to Carter H Harrison. He telephoned the former Chicago mayor and urged him to take up this important work, but Harrison while agreeing to think it over, indicated he was unwilling to undertake such a task.

Up to Senate Today.

It is probable that the appointments to the two park boards, to the commerce commission and the industrial commission will be sent to the senate for confirmation tomorrow.

The man Gov. Horner has selected for the presidency of the west parks board—although the election will be in the hands of the commissioners—is Harry Joseph, 5800 West Adams street, president of the Joseph Lumber company.

The other five to be named as commissioners are the following:

James C. Petrille, 1039 North Austin boulevard, president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians.

The governor has not determined who the seventh member of the board will be, but has several names before him.

Would Publish Hidden Audit.

In discussing his selections, he was asked his opinion of the attitude of Chairman Fred Sargent of the Chicago citizens' committee in announcing that he would not make public the long suppressed audit of the affairs of the west park board.

"The audit should be given out," he said. "There is no reason why it should not be. The public is entitled to the best information obtainable concerning the state of affairs when the new board takes over, so that it may understand just how big is the task facing the new administration.

"I have no desire that the report be withheld until after it has been submitted to me."

Lincoln Park Board.

Gov. Horner definitely completed his slate for the Lincoln park board by adding to the five previously determined upon the names of William Schlake, former president of the Illinois Brick company, and Walter Cummings of the Brill Car Co., both of whom had been under consideration for some time.

Those previously decided upon were A. D. Phinondon, who is slated for the presidency; Frank Bobrytzke, Louis Harrison, Martin V. Kennelly and G. Bernhard Anderson.

It is understood that when the new commission organizes it will name its three chief employes in conformity with the wishes of the governor. Those listed in this way are J. Frank Lyman, Democratic county committeeman from the 48th ward, as superintendent; Bernard Jung, said to be an employe of Marshall Field & Co., as secretary, and James M. Slattery as attorney.

Urges Lindheimer Accept.

Gov. Horner has indicated that in spite of the reluctance of his choice, he still hopes to persuade B. F. Lindheimer, now president of the Chicago board of local improvements and south park commissioner, to accept the chairmanship of the Illinois commerce commission. He intends to talk with him again on the subject this week.

The two men be definitely has chosen as members of this commis

Columbia U. Shuts Door on Technocracy

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Columbia university closed its doors on technocracy tonight and laid plans for an energy and technology survey directed by its own engineers.

Four members of the technocracy group, headed by Prof. Walter Rautenstrauch of the Columbia industrial engineering department, announced they were "not in accord with some of the statements and attitudes" expressed by Howard Scott, the nominal leader, and therefore were "withdrawing from association with technocracy."

Work on Columbia Survey.

"Technocracy ceases to exist as far as we are concerned," Rautenstrauch declared.

"Scott will not work here any longer," he said, in reply to a question.

Rautenstrauch also disclosed that the 100 or more idle engineers and architects, who have been working on technocracy's "energy survey of North America," while being paid from idle relief committee funds, will work in the future on the Columbia survey and not on any work Scott and the "technocrats" may carry on.

Misunderstand Its Aims.

The formal statement, signed by Rautenstrauch, Bassett Jones, Frederick L. Ackerman, and Leon Henderson, all members of the group which has been working on the technocracy survey at Columbia, said:

"The misunderstanding and confusion concerning the aims and objects of technocracy have caused us much concern and we state herewith our position in this matter:

"1. We are not in accord with some of the statements and attitudes expressed by Mr. Howard Scott.

Interested in Natural Resources.

"2. We are interested in:

"[a.] A study of our natural resources, such as coal, oil, water power, iron ore, copper, arable lands, forests, etc., and the rates at which these things have been consumed during the last one hundred years.

"[b.] A study of the quantitative changes in time during the last century, in the processes by which we, as a people, provide ourselves with food, clothing, shelter, and services; and particularly as these changes affect the labors of men and the use of energy.

"[c.] A study of the principles of organization and management by which the processes of production, distribution and consumption may be controlled and maintained in balanced quantitative relationship."

Woman Sneezes 25 Times Minute; Unable to Stop

Princeton, Ky., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Lonnie Dickson, 48, started sneezing soon after she awakened this morning, and tonight physicians had failed to stop the attack. Dr. W. T. Morse, her physician, said she sneezed all day at the rate of 25 times a minute.

IT'LL COST 40C FOR DEMOCRATS TO PICK OUT JOB

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—Prospective applicants for federal jobs under the new administration face the necessity of paying the government 40 cents each for lists of available positions, if they wish to make a careful study of them.

Senator Ashurst, at the opening of the senate today, asked that large quantities of the lists be printed. Each senator had received only two copies and he alone had applications for about 50 of the lists, prepared for the senate by the civil service commission.

When he asked that the committee on printing be directed to supply more copies Senator Fletcher replied that the committee may spend, on its own initiative, only $200 for copies of a specified document.

This wouldn't go very far," but, he said, copies may be purchased from the public printer for 40 cents.

"That is very satisfactory," said Senator Ashurst. "I know of several thousand gentlemen who will be glad to pay 40 cents for the document."

DOCTOR, IN AUTO, RESISTS BANDITS AND IS WOUNDED

Dr. Martin G. Luken, 50 years old, of 1448 Lake Shore drive, received a flesh wound in the chest last evening when he tried to escape from two bandits.

The shooting and attempted robbery took place in front of St. Elizabeth hospital, 1453 North Claremont avenue. Dr. Luken had finished his calls at the hospital and was about to start his car when the bandits jumped on the running board.

One asked for directions and Dr. Luken lowered the window. The man then revealed a revolver. The doctor pushed the weapon to one side. The robber fired and the bullet struck the windshield and glanced off. It tore a hole in Dr. Luken's clothing and caused an abrasion beneath the heart. The robbers fled. Dr. Luken was taken into the hospital and given medical aid.

Young Society Husband Kills Self in Home

John H. Silverthorne, 28 years old, member of a family long known in Chicago society and a cousin of the former Countess Alice de Janze (Alice Silverthorne), shot and killed himself last night in his home at 82 Nuttall road, Riverside.

In an adjoining room when he fired was his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Goddard Silverthorne, who was putting their 2 year old daughter, Jacquelin, to bed. Silverthorne had gone in to tell the child good-night only a few minutes before the shot was heard.

A physician was summoned by Mrs. Silverthorne, but her husband was dead when he arrived.

Father Off on Cruise.

Silverthorne owned an interest in and was a salesman for the Western Felt works, 4115 Ogden avenue. He was the son of George M. Silverthorne of Riverside, vice president of the concern. The elder Silverthorne is at present cruising in the South seas.

According to Mrs. Silverthorne, her husband had been ill for several months and underwent an operation for nose trouble about Christmas time. He had since been despondent over his physical condition, she added.

The house in which the tragedy occurred is the property of Mrs. Mario Saint Cyr, formerly Mrs. Ellen W. Reagan. It was the subject of a controversy last spring between the then Mrs. Reagan and neighbors, who maintained that she had converted the old mansion, which has about twenty rooms, into apartments, contrary to zoning laws.

Many Occupants of House.

In the house, besides the Silverthornes and Mrs. Reagan, then lived Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Grim, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Hellyer and three children. Mrs. Grim and Mrs. Hellyer are sisters of Mrs. Silverthorne. Each couple had one child.

The zoning question was taken to court and it was decided that it was still one house and one household. Mrs. Reagan won. The Hellyers have since moved away and Mrs. Reagan was married to M. Saint Cyr in Rome last September. She maintains her residence in Europe now. The three married daughters were born of her first marriage to J. Sterling Goddard.

Relatives in the House.

Mr. and Mrs. Grim and Sterling Goddard, 21 year old sister of Mrs. Silverthorne, were in the house when the shooting occurred, but were on another floor and did not know what had occurred until the physician arrived.

Alice Silverthorne, cousin of the man who shot himself, was married in 1921 to Vicomte Frederic de Janze of Paris. They were later divorced. In 1927 Miss Silverthorne created an international sensation by shooting herself and Raymond de Trafford, socially prominent Englishman. Both recovered and they were married last February. A divorce suit has since been filed by Mrs. de Trafford. She is a niece of Mrs. J. Ogden Armour.

TRUSTEES SEEK BUDGET SAVING OF 5½ MILLIONS

Members of the board of education decided at a secret conference late yesterday to cut the basic salaries of 14,000 teachers and 4,000 other employés of the school system in order to balance the 1933 budget.

The reduction will be 15 per cent for each employé above an undetermined exemption of from $600 to $1,000. The school board members hope to cut wages sufficiently to effect a saving of $5,600,000 under the 1931 pay roll appropriations of $47,000,000.

The trim will mean a flat reduction in the 1931 basic salary and wage scales, Lewis E. Myers, retiring president of the board, announced.

Decide Exemptions Today.

The amount of salary to be exempted from the cut is scheduled to be determined at another special meeting this afternoon. The trustees previously had discussed an exemption of $1,000, which would mean a 20 per cent pay cut above the compensation exempted in order to save $5,600,000.

Howard P. Savage, business manager of the school system, explained that if the exemption were established at $900, a janitor drawing $1,200 annually would lose 15 per cent of the $300 over the exemption, or $45.

"This plan was agreed upon," Mr. Myers said, "so that the lower salaried employés who receive barely a living wage will suffer the least. It is the desire of the trustees to eliminate the inequalities that resulted from special devices in reducing pay rolls in 1932."

Explains "Special Devices."

Among the "special devices" were the elimination of bonuses for teachers, a shortening of the school term and withholding teachers' pay for holidays. The civil service employés worked a month without pay in 1932.

The tentative budget drawn up by the school department heads contemplated continuing the "special devices" in the pay rolls for 1933, but these will now have to be rebuilt on the basis of the 15 per cent pay cut plan. In the tentative budget the total pay roll was set at $43,064,699.

In their consideration of pay cuts the trustees were faced with the problem of what to do with the teachers' pension levy of $1,315,631.

The citizens' committee on public expenditures, headed by Fred Sargent had recommended that all school tax levies for 1933, excluding the bond redemption and interest levy, should come within a total of $48,000,000. The department heads, however, had excluded the pension levy also.

May Compromise on Pensions.

Mr. Sargent, who was in Minneapolis, was reached by long distance telephone and said he would be guided by the recommendation of J. O. Rees, director of the citizens' committee.

"Probably part of the pension levy can be excluded from the $48,000,000 figure," said Mr. Rees. "How much will be determined when we find what will be saved by other means."

Some of the trustees expressed a doubt that the pay cut would be sufficient to balance the budget, and it was indicated that the elimination of fads will be taken up today.

Thus far in their trimming the department heads have left the fads and frills alone while appropriations for supplies and textbooks have been cut to the bone.

List Board's Revenues.

On the basis of including the teachers' pension levy in the allotment of $48,000,000 in tax levies to finance all school purposes other than the bond obligations, the tentative resources against which the school board may appropriate are as follows:

Tax levies for 1933 for all school purposes, $55,934,444.

Miscellaneous revenues, including rentals and state distributive fund, $5,223,472.

Using the above estimates of revenues the board would frame a budget of $69,442,424.

Agnes R. Clohesy, president of the Elementary Teachers' union, led a delegation which protested to Mayor Cermak against a plan to reduce the pay of new teachers. The mayor referred them to the school board.

Pastor's Blow at Choir Chief Stirs Scandal

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—When the Rev. Lemuel Conway, pastor of a large local Methodist church, knocked Willard F. Aurand, his choir leader, over the chancel rail in the presence of the congregation at evening services yesterday he also brought into the open charges involving himself. Those charges have split his flock into two factions.

The minister's action brought to light the fact that he appeared ten days ago before a ministerial trial board on charges of attempting to rape an 18 year old high school girl. The trial was conducted with the knowledge of only a few lay leaders of the congregation. The evidence was placed before Bishop Edgar F. Blake of Detroit.

Appeal to Authorities.

As a result of their preacher's fisticuffs, a committee of the congregation arranged today to hold a conference tomorrow afternoon with Paul E. Leffer, prosecuting attorney of Delaware county. They will ask him to make a secular investigation both of the charges against the Rev. Mr. Conway which brought about his church trial and of his trouble with Aurand.

The Rev. Mr. Conway came to Muncie 13 months ago as pastor of the Madison Street Methodist Episcopal church. The church is the second largest of that denomination in this city. The minister is married.

The name of the girl who made the charges against the preacher has not been made public. She is a member of his congregation. According to her story, she was walking to the downtown district from her home on the edge of the city on Dec. 15, when the Rev. Mr. Conway drew up to the curb in his automobile and offered her a ride downtown.

Charges Follow Ride.

She accepted, but according to her charges, he drove into a thinly settled rural district near the city, instead of the business district. There, she charged, he parked his car and made improper advances. She testified before the board of ministers, however, that she was successful in resisting him, and that he then took her back to town.

She went to her parents with the story. They brought it to the attention of leaders of the congregation. The minister denied the girl's charges, but was ordered to appear for a hearing before a board of five ministers of the church, headed by the Rev. Mr. Frank K. Dougherty, superintendent of the Muncie district of the North Indiana conference.

Pastor Denies All Charges.

The accused preacher denied all of the allegations of the girl. He presented affidavits from three residents of Muncie, stating that at the time of the alleged attack, he was with them, discussing plans for a hunting trip. Members of the congregation opposed to him charge, however, that he admitted to the trial board that he had given the girl a ride in his automobile, but denied any improper conduct.

The Rev. Dougherty refused today to disclose any of the proceedings of the trial. He stated that action in the case will be taken by Bishop Blake, and that the trial group merely acted in a fact finding capacity.

The trouble between Mr. Conway and Aurand arose from the fact, it is reported, that the preacher suspected or knew that Aurand had been active in bringing about his clerical trial. Aurand said today that he believed that the pastor had been misinformed as to his activity.

AMENDMENT TO END LAME DUCK RULE ADOPTED

36 States Approve New Law.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The 20th [lame duck] amendment to the constitution of the United States was officially adopted today when the Missouri legislature voted its ratification. Missouri was the thirty-sixth state to approve, furnishing the necessary three-fourths of all the states. The amendment goes into effect Oct. 15.

Georgia was the thirty-seventh state to ratify, its action coming a few hours after that of Missouri, which moved the time of its legislature session up several hours so that it might have the honor of effecting its adoption.

Still later in the day Utah ratified and tonight the Ohio legislature acted. The house in Columbus voted 127 to 2 and the senate unanimously.

Bay State Action Delayed.

Massachusetts, which had been expected to win the honor of the thirty-sixth place, and Nevada failed to take action today.

This amendment strikes from the government the time shackles that were placed upon it in the days of the stage coach, the saddle bags, and the tallow candle, when it required weeks for a legislator in the Georgia backwoods to make his way to the capital. It destroys, to a large extent, the influence of the lame duck,—be he representative or President—on legislation considered after he has been defeated for reelection.

Congress Starts Jan. 3.

Under the new amendment congressmen, both senators and representatives, assume office on Jan. 3 following their election. The defeated legislator has only about seven weeks from his defeat to hold onto his job and except on extraordinary cases congress will not be in session during this time. The President and the Vice President assume their duties on Jan. 20 following election. Under the old constitutional provisions all take office on March 4.

Other important changes are made by the amendment. The newly elected congress is automatically called into session on Jan. 3, and on the same date one year later. Under the old system the first regular session was held in December, thirteen months after election.

Unless a new President called a special session, the only laws passed for more than a year following a national expression of the people's wishes were those deemed worthy by the lame duck congress, many of whose members have, usually, been rejected at the polls.

Abolishes Present Situation.

Had the 20th amendment been in effect, earlier Franklin D. Roosevelt would have been inaugurated last Friday. The congress elected with him would have gone into session seventeen days earlier. The defeated Republican and radicals who were snowed under at the ballot booths would have been already retired to private life. So, too, would have President Hoover and Vice President Curtis.

The change does not, however, affect the term of Hoover and Curtis, nor that of any member of the present congress. It was specified that the amendment should take effect on Oct. 15 following ratification by the thirty-sixth state, which now means Oct. 15, 1933. Thus the terms of these congressmen coming in on March 4 will be shortened two months and a day and President Roosevelt will have a term forty-three days shorter than President Hoover's. The same rule applies to Vice President Garner.

All these will suffer a loss in pay, as government salaries are paid on the basis of full years, and shorter periods are paid for on a pro rata basis.

Time to Settle Presidency.

The reason for placing the inauguration of the President seventeen days later than the accession of congress is interesting. The constitution provides that congress must canvass the result of the election by states and declare the result before the President can take office. There being no session of congress regularly called between the November balloting and Jan. 3, it is the duty of the new congress to handle this work.

Under the circumstances seventeen days is not a long period, particularly if there is any trouble in organizing and choosing a speaker of the house. Also if there are three or more candidates for President and none receives a majority, the election devolves on the legislators.

Technically, a President is not elected in November. He is not declared the winner officially until congress has made its canvass. If all goes smoothly there is ample time for the Jan. 3 lawmakers to do this; if there is internal trouble the seventeen days granted may be a little short.

Trial for Holdover Vice President.

The period may well be a trial for the holdover Vice President. He will continue to preside for the seventeen days over the new and perhaps hostile congress, keep order and in case of ties cast his vote.

But the new amendment does something definite for the persons who become Vice President elect. It provides that in the event of the death of a man elected President, between election day and Jan. 20, the Vice President elect shall be considered the President elect, and shall take the chief executive office and hold it until congress provides for the election of a successor. Hitherto there has been no specific provision to cover this contingency.

The adoption of the 20th amendment is the first fundamental measure to modernize governmental practice since 1913, when the direct election of senators was provided in the 17th amendment.

Another change affecting the election of President and Vice President is being agitated—the direct election of the President, although no formal proposal to this effect is before congress. This would mean the elimination of the electoral college; that the candidate receiving the largest vote in the popular election would be the winner. At present it is possible for a President to be elected by a minority popular vote in his favor.

Would Abolish Electroal College.

Senator Norris, author of the lame duck amendment, is also proposing an amendment to abolish the electoral college, although it does not provide for "popular election" in the strict sense. The President would still be elected by vote of the states, each state having the same number of votes as it has in the electoral college, and based on the same factor—the number of representatives and senators to which it is entitled in congress. Pluralities instead of majorities would govern on both phases of the election.

Adoption of the "lame duck" amendment has been urged for years and as strenuously fought by so-called standpat elements. The existing system has been in use since 1788. It is considered remarkable that thirty-six state legislatures should have ratified in ten and a half months after the amendment was proposed. The delay was in the halls of congress and it was not until March 3, 1932, that the proposal for amendment was sent to the states.

There has been virtually no opposition in the state lawmaking bodies. The Virginia legislature ratified two days after the proposal in congress. Seventeen states in all approved before New Year's day. The other nineteen hastened to add approval when their legislatures met this month.

Many Slow Getting O. K.

Other constitutional amendments required a longer period of state thinking. The ratification of the one concerning income taxes took more than three years. The prohibition and woman suffrage provisions, the 18th and 19th amendments, required each about thirteen months. The record speed, however, was established by the 12th amendment, defining the manner of choosing the president and vice president. It was proposed Dec. 12, 1803, and ratification was complete Sept. 23, 1804.

The lame duck amendment was first approved by the senate in February, 1923, but was killed by the house. It was adopted in the senate in March, 1924, and not considered by the house. The same senate approval and house failure to act occurred in February, 1926.

Passed by Congress.

In March, 1928, the house failed to give the needed two-thirds vote of approval after the senate had again brought forth the measure. Revivals in 1929 and 1931 also failed to bring decisive action. The senate made its recommendation again in February last year and the house approved with minor changes in the form of the amendment. The final agreement was reached on March 2.

Among those who long fought against the 20th amendment were conservatives who feared that public opinion might go wild if allowed to exercise without the checks of the stage coach days, legislators who feared defeat and wanted a long time to look around for jobs, and executive officials who found lame ducks most responsive to executive will while they were looking for appointive jobs.

POLICE BREAK IN, SEIZE NORTH SIDE GAMBLERS

Detectives Trauth and Mullen who played the rôle of suckers in a visit to a gambling house at 116 East Superior street, returned in their true capacities yesterday, and with the aid of other policemen, carrying sledge hammers, raided the place. One hundred patrons, twenty-five of whom were women, were caught, and considerable equipment was seized.

The police carried a warrant issued by Judge Frank Padden. The twenty-five women were released with warnings. Twenty-nine male patrons were held as were seven alleged keepers. The latter were Van B. Austin, Henry Arp, Sam Claus, George Lewis, Joe Patrick, Sam Serman and John Poralsky. Austin is wanted by Wisconsin police as a suspect in the robbery of a bank at Menominee. He denied he participated in the holdup.

MURDER VERDICT RETURNED.

A verdict of murder by a person unknown was returned yesterday at an inquest into the death of Lester Schiller, 936 East 57th street, who was shot Sunday night when he went to the aid of his father, who was struggling with a Negro prowler on the back porch of their home.

LEGION CHARGES 30 CITY LEADERS HELP THE REDS

Report Offers Allegations of Communist Influence.

Thirty prominent clergymen, educators, and sociologists of Chicago are charged with having succumbed knowingly or unwittingly to the wiles of communism, according to an analysis of communist propaganda made public yesterday by the Illinois department of the American Legion.

Four charts are submitted to substantiate the Legion's conclusion that the individuals mentioned and the organizations they represent are helping to foster a world revolution allegedly being plotted in Moscow. The charts and attending report were drawn up by the Legion's Americanism commission, of which Roy Moffit is chairman, pursuant to a mandate given at the Legion's Danville convention last August.

Charge World-Wide Drive.

The first chart sets forth the communist objective to be the establishment of a world-wide dictatorship by the violent uprooting of civil rights, property rights, religion, and the family, as Lenin and Stalin are alleged to have done in Russia. The second chart depicts a kind of spider's web, with the Moscow dictators of the Third Internationale in the center, pulling the strings which animate the "Red," or communist controlled organizations in the United States, and the "pinks," or communist coöperating groups, in this country.

The third and fourth charts come down to specific individuals. They set forth the affiliations of such well known Chicagoans as Jane Addams, Mary McDowell, Mrs. John V. Farwell, Catherine Waugh McCulloch, Clarence Darrow, and Dean C. W. Gilkey, endeavoring to show that they are linked through interlocking directorates with such outright communists as William Z. Foster and with intellectual radicals of the stamp of Karl Borders and Scott Nearing.

List Red and Pink Groups.

Among the "Red" or communist controlled organizations, the Legion places the Young Communists' league, International Labor Defense, American Association for the Advancement of Atheism, Theodore Dreiser coal committee, unemployed councils, and Amtorg Trading corporation.

Among the "Pink" or communist coöperating groups are listed the Federal Council of Churches, Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition, and Public Morals; American Civil Liberties union, Women's International League for Peace and Freedom; Fellowship of Faith; League for Industrial Democracy, and National Council for Prevention of War.

"The purpose of the organizations, cited or implied, is to establish a political, social, and economic dictatorship," the Legion report says.

The Inducements Offered.

"Educated and wealthy men can be induced to embrace such a program through the hope for a reward in patronage, privilege and license, greater in value than their present economic, social or political status affords.

"It is not suggested that each of those named is a willful subversive agent. Some may be of unimpeachable sincerity. For these, circumspection is a virtue to be cultivated."

A dozen of the more prominent persons on the Legion list were interviewed last night. Most of them were inclined to regard the report with jocularity.

A prominent clergyman said he felt honored at the company the Legion placed him in. A lawyer voiced the joking suspicion that the authors of the report must all be die hard Republicans to attack good Democrats like himself and Clarence Darrow. An economist said the reactionary policies of the Legion would drive more people to communism than the communists could otherwise convert.

Report Cites Individuals.

Building up its theory of interlocking directorates under communist control, the Legion report cited individuals and affiliations as follows:

William Z. Foster—Communist party of America and American Civil Liberties union. Mr. Foster was the Communist candidate for President in the last election.

Karl Borders—League for Industrial Democracy. Mr. Borders is a University of Chicago lecturer and an investigator of industrial strife.

Jane Addams—Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, National Council for Prevention of War, and Fellowship of Reconciliation. Miss Addams is head resident at Hull house, the University of Chicago settlement in Halsted street.

Scott Nearing—American Fund for Public Service and American Civil Liberties union. Mr. Nearing, former professor at Northwestern university, writes and lectures on communism.

Evanston Pastor Named.

Attorney Herbert J. Friedman—Chicago Civil Liberties committee and Fellowship of Faiths. Mr. Friedman is past president of the Municipal Voters' league, director of the adult education council, and former president of the Chicago forum council.

Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch—Women's International League for Peace and Freedom and Chicago Civil Liberties committee. Mrs. McCulloch is a former master in chancery of the Superior court and a leader in the women's dry forces in the Democratic party.

Mary E. McDowell—Committee on Militarism in Education and Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. Miss McDowell is chairman of the Illinois League of Women Voters and a noted sociologist.

Ald. Mills on the List.

Wiley W. Mills—Chicago Civil Liberties committee. Mr. Mills is alderman of the 39th ward.

Charles W. Gilkey—Fellowship of Faiths and committee on Militarism in Education. Dr. Gilkey is dean of the chapel and professor of divinity at the University of Chicago.

Paul H. Douglas—Committee on Militarism in Education and League for Industrial Democracy. Mr. Douglas is professor of economics at the University of Chicago.

Mrs. John V. Farwell—Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, and Chicago civil liberties committee. Mrs. Farwell is a leader in the city's social life.

Clarence Darrow—Chicago civil liberties committee, and Society for Cultural Relations with the U. S. R. R.

Robert Morss Lovett — Committee on militarism in education, and League for Industrial Democracy. Mr. Lovett is professor of English at the University of Chicago and a resident of Hull house.

Norman B. Barr — Fellowship of Faiths, and committee on militarism in education. Dr. Barr is pastor of Olivet institute.

Organization Under Fire.

The Legion report contains sharp individual criticism of the various organizations allegedly in the interlocking directorate. Typical comments are as follows:

Committee on militarism in education: "The most effective way to assure success in any combat is preweakening of your adversary. Since the sixth and final principle of the communist party is revolution, it is desirable that the power of representative governments be minimized to the greatest possible extent. Weakening of national defense contributes to revolutionary success."

League for Industrial Democracy: "Their letter head states the object as 'Education for a new social order based on production for use and not for profit.' This is but an academic expression of the communistic doctrine of the abolition of private property."

Hits Civil Liberties Group.

Chicago Civil Liberties committee: "The committee's letter head specifically states an affiliation with the American Civil Liberties union. The American Civil Liberties union was cited specifically in a report of the Fish committee [headed by Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. of New York] as being a legal aid to communist and subversive agencies."

Fellowship of Faiths: "This movement is 'for the realization of peace and brotherhood through understanding and neighborliness between people of all nations.' The plan is laudable, ideal and Utopian, but has never been known to function. Cloaking internationalism or anti-nationalism with religion and at the same time confusing religion with economics and sociology is the accomplishment of this organization."

Copies of the Legion report were being mailed to every Legion post in Illinois last night. Legionnaires are to show the report to members of their families, churches, lodges and to friends, "to defeat the purpose of this political scheme to eradicate representative government, freedom of thought, freedom of speech and the family as an institution of government, and to establish in their stead an absolute dictatorship of a few irresponsible, self perpetuating political bosses."

"Undermining" Is Advised.

"Best counteracting results can be obtained by undermining the subversives," the report says. "Opposing, fighting or arguing with them always leaves the victory in their hands. If defeated they make martyrs of themselves and thereby turn defeat into victory."

The report closes with a digest of twelve citations from the state and federal code on the law pertaining to treason. The report includes the 1933 program of the Americanism commission, as follows: "Defend the constitution, maintain law and order, foster 100 per cent Americanism, combat autocracy of both classes and masses, promote peace and good will but peace only with honor."

Comments on the Report.

Among those commenting on the Legion report were the following:

Prof. Douglas: "I do not charge the Legion's Americanism commission with being in the pay of the Bolshevists, but if they were they would behave in the same fashion as they now behave. The Bolshevists hate the liberals far more cordially than they do such reactionaries as the Americanism commission. The Bolshevists know that if the reactionaries succeed in crowding the liberals out of place, the masses must turn to Bolshevism."

Dr. Barr: "I do not believe in communism by violence. I have addressed communists throughout the city, telling them I oppose their program. I believe in Christian communism, or the doctrine of each sharing voluntarily with the other."

"Must All Be Republicans."

Attorney Friedman: "Those fellows on that commission must all be Republicans, attacking good Democrats like Darrow and myself. I don't know whether I'm still on the Fellowship of Faiths board or not. They're pretty good people, though—they advocate the fellowship of all religions. I'm in favor of the Jeffersonian principles of freedom of speech and right of assembly, myself."

Ald. Mills: "It seems to me I was on the board of the Civil Liberties committee at some time or other. I've never attended a meeting, but I'm for their principles. The object is to preserve individual liberties and see that defendants get a fair trial. No one with the intelligent understanding of the constitution of the United States can oppose that."

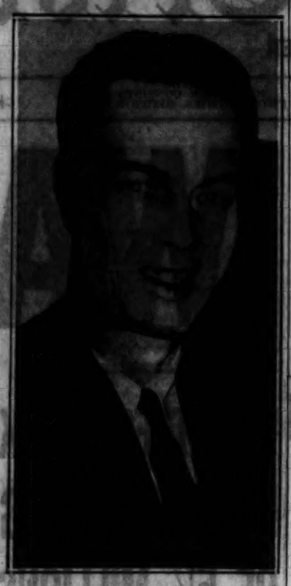

Dean Gilkey: "It's a joke. It's the old story that if one believes in the welfare of all, he's a Bolshevist. As for subversive activities, it happens that only today I was called on to address the Chicago Bar association."

View of Jane Addams.

Miss Addams: "As early as 1925 charts similar to these were discredited after congressional investigation. It's too bad they should now be used by the naive young men of the Legion, for it betrays their confusion of mind. The communists do not think I am a communist. I have told them this generation should get rid of class war. To assume, in a country which has declared war illegal, that a citizen opposed to war is unpatriotic seems to me illogical."

Mrs. McCulloch: "We should remember what the war time secretary of war, Newton Baker, said about a previous similar list of names. He said the war department was not responsible for it and that the absurdity of the list was demonstrated by inclusion of the name of Jane Addams, for, he said, any list was honored by the inclusion of her name."

RAILROADS TO BE ROOSEVELT TOPIC FOR DAY OR TWO

Baruch and Hines Carded as Callers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Warm Springs, Ga., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—President Elect Roosevelt today revealed that Bernard F. Baruch, New York financier, one of the few men of big business who supported the Roosevelt campaign, will be in Warm Springs tomorrow and that Walker D. Hines, former head of the United States railroad administration during the world war, will be here Wednesday.

BERNARD BARUCH.

Mr. Baruch has been spoken of in some circles as cabinet timber, but it is not believed he will receive a post in it. He is expected to discuss railway problems with Mr. Roosevelt, a question to which the President elect has given much consideration of late.

Mr. Roosevelt said today that he had made good progress in his investigation of the railways' condition, and he is expected to be ready when he takes office on March 4 with a definite program for rail relief. His talk with Mr. Hines on Wednesday will put some finishing touches on the rail plan, it was stated.

As to Senator Cutting.

When the cabinet question came up today in connection with the President elect's conversations yesterday with Senators Bronson Cutting of New Mexico and Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin. Mr. Roosevelt was asked:

"Did you offer Mr. Cutting a post in the cabinet?"

"Well, I'll tell you what I'd better do about this," Mr. Roosevelt said. "I'll get forty or fifty people down here and you can put them all in the cabinet."

The President elect was asked if the radical groups of both parties had objected to Owen D. Young.

"No," he said firmly. "I can say that definitely. They have not."

"Have you invited any one to join the cabinet?"

"Not one invitation has gone out."

Maybe a Name on Feb. 3.

"Will you announce any cabinet appointments before you leave Warm Springs for your yacht cruise the first of the month?"

The President elect was about to shake his head.

"On second thought," he said, "I may give you one appointment just before I leave. Maybe on the third of February."

HOUSE REFUSES TO ELIMINATE CITIZENS' TRAINING CAMPS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The house of representatives refused today to agree to the elimination of the citizens' military training camps as an economy move. By a vote of 117 to 46 it added $2,500,000 to the war department appropriation bill to assure their continuation during the next fiscal year.

As reported to the house, the bill carried no funds for the camps next year. The budget bureau had recommended an appropriation of one million dollars, or one-third of the 1933 fund provided for the C. M. T. C. camps. The war department appropriations subcommittee deleted that recommendation from the bill, however, on the ground that it would do no good to continue the camps on the basis of one-third of their regular capacity.

The house also accepted, 130 to 85, an amendment adding half a million dollars to the appropriation for the reserve officers' corps.

But 3 Inflationists Clash with Mills.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The rising tide of sentiment for increase of the volume of money as a means of restoring predepression commodity price levels was manifest in both houses of congress today.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [radical Dem., Mont.] announced he would move an amendment of the Glass banking reform bill providing for William J. Bryan's hard times panacea of 1896, the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

At a meeting of the house banking and currency committee the issue was joined between inflationists and anti-inflationists.

Mills Meets Three Inflationists.

Opposing currency, though not necessarily credit, inflation, Ogden L. Mills of New York, Mr. Hoover's secretary of the treasury, found himself pitted against three inflationists of the rural south—Representatives Henry Bascom Steagall [Dem., Ala.], chairman of the committee; Jeff Busby [Dem., Miss.], and T. Alan Goldsborough [Dem., Md.].

Mr. Mills had appeared to argue in favor of the extension for one year of the Glass-Steagall act, which is credited with averting a bank panic early last year and subsequently producing easy money conditions.

"Under the Glass-Steagall act, the federal reserve system," said Mr. Mills, "arrested deflation and there is some evidence that it expanded credit. Had it not been for the federal reserve operations there would have been contraction of credit when expansion was needed. Unless the act is extended beyond its expiration date, March 3, it will be necessary for the reserve banks to sell the government securities they have amassed. The result of that would be to contract credit and would be looked upon as deflationary."

Busby Eyes Treasury Minister.

Mr. Busby, a raven haired youngish man, who looks like an actor, had been eying the treasury minister across the table with a tolerant smile. Author of a bill to boost prices by issuance of currency up to 3 billions secured by government bonds, Mr. Busby, in soft southern drawl, wanted to know where was all this credit. Mr. Mills said it was there but hadn't been used yet.

"The member banks have excess reserves of nearly 600 millions which are exerting pressure to expand credit," said the secretary. "How soon it will be felt I don't know."

"The weakness of our whole economic position," Busby persisted, "is that business has no security to offer for credit that a bank will take. With 77 per cent gold backing it, our currency today is not serving as a basis for credit expansion. The fact is, the federal reserve board is not making use of the machinery set up to aid recovery. If the management of the treasury and reserve system are efficient, why has the reaction of business to the credit expansion operations been so poor? I know that something besides theory is involved."

A Question of Credit Volume.

"Yes, and I know that something besides currency is involved," Mills shot back. "The economic situation cannot be corrected by poking out currency. It is not a question of volume of currency. It is a question of volume of credit."

"We have arrived at such a condition," said Chairman Steagall, "that a bank is afraid to take the cashier's check of another bank over the counter."

Thereupon Mr. Goldsborough fell afoul of Mr. Mills. Mr. Goldsborough being the author of an inflation bill passed by the house last session but stopped in the senate, under the terms of which the federal reserve board would manipulate the currency to restore the predepression price level. Mr. Goldsborough thought this piling up of excess reserves in the reserve banks is the worst thing for the country.

Insist on Balanced Budget.

"Let me tell you," retorted Mills, "a worse thing. So long as the government has an unbalanced budget the banks have got to finance the deficit. If this continues long, disaster results. Unless the budget was balanced the Goldsborough plan would accomplish nothing but the mopping up of the deficit."

"My notion," said Goldsborough, "is to restore the normal income of the people and then the taxes will be available to balance the budget. Balancing the budget should follow, not precede, restoration of the people's income."

"The trouble with all these theories is that you can't boost the domestic price level so long as the world price level is dragging it down," said Mills. "No one step is going to help this complicated situation. We must balance the budget, maintain an easy money policy, attack the problem of domestic debts, solve the problem of intergovernmental debts, stabilize exchanges, and remove arbitrary trade barriers."

Lewis Calls Inflation Disastrous.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis [Dem., Ill.] in an address tonight said inflation would be disastrous but reflation the safe and sane course.

"Let it be known," he said, "that America has no necessity to inflate its dollar. The gold we have as basis for circulation medium, now off our billion dollars of value, allows in bills or in silver an additional billion of money.

"If we ever have a demand that calls for the increase of circulation to such sum, we can coin silver of the American silver mines on the basis of sixty cents an ounce—and add another billion of circulation in silver, backed and supported by our excess gold. This would reflate—or restore—ourselves to where we were ten years—and forty years—before.

"Let it be further remembered—that all the money we had through all the last ten years still exists. It has been transferred to new hands, and now only awaits the daybreak of the new day of confidence, which now has begun to flash its morning lights."

What's Left of Beer Bill Gets New O. K. in Senate

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Caught between senatorial red tape and the sniping of the die-hard drys, the Collier-Blaine 3.05 per cent beer and wine bill today appeared headed for the legislative scrap heap so far as the present session is concerned.

Although approved today in amended form by the senate judiciary committee, the measure faces another indefinite delay in the hands of the senate finance committee, headed by Chairman Reed Smoot [lame duck dry Rep., Utah]. Committee leaders said the measure might be taken up before the end of the week, and that it might be some time before it was reported back to the senate.

Smoot Plans Hearings.

According to Chairman Smoot, hearings are to be held on the measure. An attempt is to be made by senate wets to frustrate the plans, or at least to hold the time for the hearings down to a day or two. Sponsors of the measure admit that the bill must be reported back to the senate favorably by the senate committee within a week or ten days if it is to have even a fifty-fifty chance of passage before March 4.

The Collier bill was passed by the house within a few days after hearings were begun and sent to the senate before Christmas. Since that time the measure has met nothing but delay and dissection. The judiciary committee, outwardly friendly toward the measure, held it for four weeks before reporting it back to the senate today.

Alcoholic Content Cut.

As the measure reached the senate floor it authorized the sale and manufacture of beer, light wines and fruit juices with alcoholic contents up to 3.05 per cent by weight and 3.8 by volume. The alcoholic content was that recommended by the Blaine subcommittee after studying the Collier bill, which called for a 3.2 beer.

The revamped measure also carried an amendment added by Chairman William E. Borah [Radical, Idaho] barring the sale of the 3.05 per cent beverage to persons under 21 years of age. The bill now also bars advertising through the newspapers or over the radio of the new beverages in dry states.

The judiciary committee voted 8 to 6 to report the bill out favorably after an amendment limiting the alcoholic content to 2 per cent had been rejected. As soon as it was filed with the senate together with a favorable report Senator Borah introduced an amendment which would levy an excess profits tax on brewers.

Sliding Scale Tax.

This tax, which would be in addition to the straight $5 a barrel tax, would range from 10 to 30 per cent. The amendment proposed to exempt the first dollar of the brewer's profit on each barrel of beer, but to levy 10 per cent on profits over that amount to $1.50. A total of 30 per cent would be levied on profits above $2 a barrel.

The vote on the beer bill was as follows:

FOR THE BILL.

AGAINST THE BILL.

Borah, Robinson [Rep., Ind.], Havings [Rep., Del.], Austin [Rep., Vt.], Bratton [Dem., N. M.], and Neely [Dem., W. Va.].

The Borah amendment to prohibit the sale to minors of the newly authorized beer, wines, and fruit juices was adopted without a roll call, although the theory back of the bill is that the new beverages are nonintoxicating and therefore their sale does not violate the eighteenth amendment.

Dill Offers Ad Amendment.

The amendment banning advertising was offered by Senator Clarence C. Dill [Dem., Wash.]. It provides that it shall be unlawful to advertise the new beverages by any means or method in any dry state. Presumably newspapers could carry beer ads in wet states if no issues carrying these advertisements went into dry territory.

The committee bill removes the 3.05 beverages listed above from the field of federal enforcement. It stated in its report that 3.05 beer satisfied the provisions of the eighteenth amendment. It defined intoxicating liquors as those which contain alcohol in such percentum that when drunk in the quantity which may practically be drunk by an ordinary man, or in quantities which the human stomach will ordinarily hold, will cause drunkenness.

NEW IOWA BANK LAW AVERTS 2 BANK CLOSINGS

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The new Iowa law authorizing the state banking superintendent to take over the operation of state banks was invoked in two cases for the first time today.

The Mount Ayr State bank and the Benton Savings bank, both in Ringgold county, requested the aid of Supt. L. A. Andrew, under whose jurisdiction they may be operated without going into receivership.

The new law, rushed through both houses of the state general assembly last Friday, specifies that the banking superintendent shall be in charge for one year, although the time may be extended with the approval of the state executive council.

Andrew said in the case of the two banks no withdrawals will be permitted now, but if sufficient cash becomes available later it will be made available to the depositors on a prorata basis.

New deposits will be accepted, Andrew said, and will remain in trust entirely separate from the old funds. He was emphatic in pointing out that the new funds will be in no way pledged against the liabilities incurred before the institutions were placed in his hands.

IDENTIFY BERLIN REFUGEE WITH A JOB AT HARVARD

Boston, Mass., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Dr. Fritz Driesen, a Berlin merchant, today identified Dr. Joao F. Normano, Harvard lecturer, as Isaak Lewin, fugitive former Berlin banker, wanted in Germany for an alleged swindle involving $750,000. Dr. Driesen also identified Normano's wife as Mrs. Lewin.

Dr. Normano was arrested here recently on the request of the German government. He had been at Harvard for two years, and besides his lecture work was associate director of the Harvard bureau of economic research in Latin-America.

Identification was made in the presence of Baron von Tippelskirch, German consul general at Boston. A hearing on extradition to Germany will be held tomorrow before United States Commissioner E. J. Jenney, who held Dr. Normano without bail.

Oscar Isserlin of Somerville, a Cambridge fur store clerk, was released as an alleged accomplice of Lewin.

POLICEMAN SHOT BY BANDITS DIES; KILLER QUIZZED

Policeman Maurice Marcusson, who was wounded last Friday in a battle with three robbers on the ninth floor of the McNeil building at 323 West Jackson boulevard, died yesterday in St. Luke's hospital.

Marcusson was 34 years old and had been a policeman for four years. He is survived by his wife and two children.

In the battle with the three men he shot and wounded one, Anthony Rocco, 24 years old, 2531 Flournoy street, who was captured. Rocco, whose recovery was rapid at the Bridewell hospital, was questioned yesterday at the central police station by Capt. Willard Malone. He admitted firing several times at the policeman, but refused to name his companions, who escaped.

Candy Jobber Found Dead in Truck; Cause Mystery

William Spector, 34 years old, of 2851 Augusta street, a candy jobber, was found dead yesterday in his truck at 25th street and Harlem avenue, Berwyn. Police found two bottles, partly filled with acid, on the floor of the truck. They are investigating to determine if Spector killed himself.

FIND FACTORY OWNER HANGED.

Girl Ends Headaches by Shooting Herself

LEAPS THROUGH TRAIN WINDOW; FLEES OFFICERS

New Orleans, La., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Stanley Anderson, St. Louis underworld character known as "The Swede," today hurled himself through a plate glass window on a Pullman train and escaped from two United States marshals who were bringing him here for a charge of murder.

Although the train was moving at 40 miles an hour, Anderson apparently was not seriously injured. His cap was found and a Negro woman said she saw a man answering his description walk away quickly after the train passed. Later he was reported seen hitch-hiking.

Anderson's leg-irons had been abandoned for handcuffs as the train neared here in order that the prisoner might put on his overcoat, but he leaped through the window before the officers could grab him.

CHASE RESIGNS AT ILLINOIS TO TAKE N.Y.U. OFFER

Will Be Chancellor in Gotham University.

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Dr. Harry Woodburn Chase, president of the University of Illinois, announced today that he had accepted the chancellorship of New York university. He will present his resignation to the board of trustees of the University of Illinois on Wednesday, the resignation to take effect at the end of the present academic year.

Dr. Chase was elected as the sixth president of the University of Illinois on Feb. 20, 1930. Previous to that time he was president of the University of North Carolina.

Inaugurates Economy Program.

During the present biennium Dr. Chase inaugurated an economy program at the University of Illinois that will mean a saving of 22 per cent of the appropriation of the last general assembly for the university. University officials said that the program would mean a saving of $2,500,000.

Dr. Chase established a new college and a new school at the University of Illinois. The college of fine and applied arts was established shortly after he took office, and the school of physical welfare was made a separate entity last fall. Both units were established without cost to the university.

Acting on the recommendation of the university faculty, Dr. Chase had reorganized the university's administrative plan and placed more power in the hands of the university senate. The disciplinary powers were removed from the offices of the dean of men and women and given to a committee of the senate.

"The chancellorship of New York university seems to me to present a distinctive and challenging opportunity," Dr. Chase said in speaking of his new appointment, "and I have felt that I should accept it.

"New York university is carrying through a program of service to the metropolitan area which makes it, to me, one of the most interesting educational institutions in the country.

Regrets Leaving Illinois.

"I need not say that it is with great reluctance that I have decided to leave the University of Illinois. The cooperation of trustees, faculty, students, alumni, and the state has been all that any man could ask.

"I have no fears for its future. It is too well grounded in the esteem of the state, its work is far too valuable to be impaired. It has already demonstrated its willingness to share in the general state program of economy and I am confident that its fundamental values will not be disturbed.

"I shall present my formal resignation as president of the University of Illinois to our board of trustees on Wednesday, to take effect at the end of this academic year or as soon thereafter as may be expedient. For the present I owe my time and thought to our legislative situation.

"The end of this year, with our financial status determined for the next two years, and our internal affairs in good shape, seems to me a favorable moment for a change in the presidency. I shall always cherish the honor of having been president of the University of Illinois and the many friendships that have come to me."

Born in Massachusetts.

Dr. Chase is 49 years old. He was born in Groveland, Mass., and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1904.

In 1910 he was given the degree of doctor of philosophy at Clark university, and has had doctor of law degrees conferred upon him by Dartmouth, the University of Georgia, Wake Forest college, Lenoir-Rhyne college, and the University of North Carolina. He became president of the University of Illinois May 5, 1930.

He was president of the National Association of State Universities in 1928 and 1929, and is a trustee of the general education board of New York City and of Rosenwald fund of Chicago.

Dr. Chase was married to Miss Lucetta Crum of Logansport, Ind., in 1910, and is the father of two children, Elizabeth, 18 years old, and Carl, 20 years old.

Dr. Brown, the retiring chancellor of New York university, who becomes chancellor emeritus after 22 years as head of the institution, was educated at the Illinois state normal school and the University of Michigan. He once held the position of public school principal at Belvidere, Ill.

CANADIANS WINNERS IN RUM SHIP SEIZURE CASE IN U. S. COURT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The United States Supreme court today took the Canadian side in a rum running dispute that recently promised to bring to a controversial end the agreement under which the dominion government assists this country in suppressing the international liquor traffic.

Deciding the case which grew out of the seizure of the Nova Scotian rum ship, Mazel Tov, the court held that in cases of vessels of British and Canadian registry, the 1924 treaty with Great Britain superseded the provisions of the 1922 and 1930 tariff acts.

The court's opinion declared therefor that coast guardsmen may board, search, and seize British and Canadian vessels only when they are less than one hour's sailing distance from the American shore, instead of within a 12 mile limit as provided by the tariff act.

This was the contention of the Canadian government, when protests were made in the Mazel Tov seizure, and it was the contention of Frank Cook, master of the Mazel Tov, when the case was carried to court.

The vessel was seized 11½ miles off shore on the night of Nov. 1, 1930, with a cargo of liquor aboard. Boat and cargo were brought into Providence, R. I., and a penalty of $14,286 assessed. Taking the case into federal court, the ship's master declared his vessel could not make more than 10 miles an hour, and that the seizure had therefore been in violation of the treaty.

THREE DIE AFTER GERMAN RIOTS; BERLIN JAILS 100

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Three persons died today and more than 80 others were recovering from injuries after clashes yesterday between Adolf Hitler's National Socialists and political opponents. Many were injured when infuriated crowds sought to break up a parade of 18,000 Nazis to Buelow platz, where communist headquarters are located, and later to a cemetery. More were injured in minor clashes during the night in Berlin suburbs. Nearly 100 were arrested. Other disorders occurred in Cologne and Leipzig. Three injured at Cologne died today.

Communists announced they would hold a massmeeting Wednesday in Buelow platz under the slogan "Berlin stays Red." Socialists announced a demonstration for next Sunday in the Lustgarten.

Catholic Bishop Assails Nazis.

LINZ, Austria, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Bishop of Linz, Dr. G. Foehlner, issued a pastoral letter today declaring membership in the Nationalist Socialist party to be contradictory to the virtues of good Catholics. National Socialism, the letter states, suffers from materialism, racial delusion, and unchristian nationalism, for which reasons the party's program must be rejected.

Schildhauer's Widow to Escape U. S. Prosecution

Mrs. Frances Schildhauer will not be prosecuted for violation of the Mann act, it was learned yesterday at the federal building. Investigation of the murder of her husband, Edwin O. Schildhauer, bandmaster at Austin High school, revealed that Mrs. Schildhauer had traveled to Memphis with Carl Bradbury, a former deputy sheriff. Federal officials questioned the widow only to aid police in the murder investigation, it was said yesterday, and no action is contemplated in the federal court.

Bundesen Warns Victims of Dog with Rabies

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, issued an urgent request yesterday that any persons bitten by a fox terrier that ran wild last Friday and Saturday between 68th street and Lowe avenue and 94th and Loomis streets should see a physician immediately or go to the health department for treatment. The dog was killed and proved to be afflicted with rabies.

SURGEON LOSES INSURANCE SUIT FOR PALSIED ARM

Appeal Court Denies Plea to Collect $37,500.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday refused to allow the claim of Dr. Carl Beck, former operating surgeon at the North Chicago hospital, for $37,500 against the Zurich General Accident and Liability Insurance company of Zurich, Switzerland. The suit was brought on an insurance policy in which the surgeon had insured himself against the complete loss of the use of his right arm.

Dr. Beck had testified that in 1923, a year after the policy was issued, he became afflicted with paralysis agitans, or agitating palsy in his right hand. This condition, he said, kept him from using a knife in operations. His practice was 95 per cent operations, the surgeon testified, and he told the court that as a result of his trouble he had been able to practice only as a diagnostician and consultant. He admitted that he was able to write prescriptions with his right hand and able to use a stethoscope and other instruments for examination.

Upholds District Court.

The court of appeals held with Judge Charles E. Woodward of the federal District court, who directed a verdict in favor of the insurance company. The opinion pointed out that Dr. Beck had listed his occupation on the policy as physician and surgeon, whose duties were mainly those of operation.

The Appellate court judges ruled that as Dr. Beck had listed himself as a physician as well as a surgeon he had not lost complete use of his arm as long as he was able to write prescriptions and conduct examinations.

Cites Surgeon's Testimony.

The opinion also pointed out that Dr. Beck had testified that 95 per cent of his work was surgery. The definition of surgery was set forth in the opinion as "healing by manual operation." The inability to use a knife does not bar Dr. Beck from surgery, the judges held, as he is still able to set a bone or reduce fractures. The case was heard by Appellate Judges Will M. Sparks and Evan A. Evans and Judge James H. Wilkerson of the federal District court.

O. K.'S $103,000 FOR CARE OF STANLEY H. McCORMICK

Probate Judge Harold J. Taylor yesterday authorized the expenditure of $103,000 for the care of Stanley H. McCormick, heir to harvester millions, at his Riven Rock estate near Pasadena, Cal. Mr. McCormick was adjudged incompetent some years ago. The allowance is for the first six months of 1933.

The allowance for the first half of 1932 was $115,000, it was stated at the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, which is one of the conservators of the estate. Of that allowance, however, $15,000 was for the building of another house on the California estate.

The present allowance provides $75,000 for maintenance of the estate itself, a contingent fund of $3,000, and $25,000 for nurses, musicians, motion picture operators, film rentals and drugs "necessary for the therapeutic treatment of the patient." The budget was drawn by Dr. Langley Porter, chairman of the medical board which attends Mr. McCormick.

IRISH FREE STATE ELECTION DRIVE ENDS; VOTE TODAY

Cosgrave and De Valera Make Final Pleas.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Jan. 23.—The Irish Free State will go to the polls tomorrow in the most important election in its history. The nation will decide whether former President William T. Cosgrave's policy of remaining an equal partner in the British commonwealth and developing resultant economic advantages or President Eamon de Valera's policy of economic and political isolation, with foreign trade wiped out and the country producing its own food and goods, will guide its destiny in the future.

The voters will fill 153 seats in the dail eireann. There are 245 candidates, as follows:

Thousands Hear De Valera.

The campaign was climaxed tonight in two great meetings, one addressed by De Valera in Dublin and the other by Cosgrave in Cork.

The De Valera meeting, held in front of the historic parliament house, was one of the largest ever held in Dublin. It was equaled only by the Cosgrave meeting a fortnight ago. It is estimated that between 30,000 and 40,000 people were in each crowd.

The crowd was entirely orderly and seemed, except for one of two outbreaks, rather apathetic. De Valera did not appeal to passions. His speech was a rather dull economic tract, in which he stressed the necessity of facing the hard times to come to make Ireland economically self-supporting. There was not a word about freedom, not a word about a republic, and no harking back to Easter week and the civil war.

Escorted by Farmers.

Apart from an ovation given him when he arrived more than an hour late, the only signs of real life were when he mentioned Cosgrave and J. H. Thomas, British secretary for dominions, both of whom were heartily booed.

De Valera had been speaking in the country and he came in by automobile from Carlow. He arrived at College green with an escort of half a dozen mounted farmers.

Late tonight it was quite impossible to predict the result of tomorrow's voting, which will not be known until at least Thursday night and perhaps Friday because of the complicated proportional representation system used here. Everybody agrees that it will be a close race.

Cosgrave Is Confident.

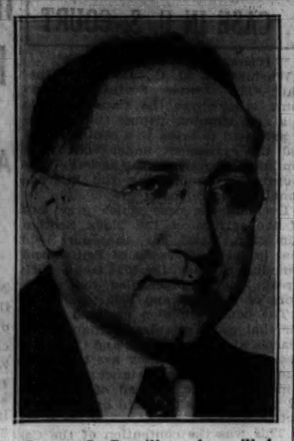

Cosgrave in a message from Cork today said he is confident of victory. For ten months, he said, the Irish citizens have been compelled to stand 1 and see the resources of the country which were laboriously built up by his party, Cumann na nGaedheal, squandered and dissipated.

Now the citizens have a chance to stop that process and put Ireland back on the road to prosperity, and they are going to do it, he declared.

HORNER NAMES PARK BOARDS; ASKS FOR AUDIT

He has selected Peter J. Angsten of Chicago for the chairmanship of the Illinois industrial commission, the board which passes on claims under the workmen's compensation act. Angsten served as chairman of a similar board by appointment of Gov. Dunne and held over two years under the Lowden administration. He is president of the Midland club.

The two others slated for memberships on this commission are August Hummert of Breese, Clinton county, a former coal mine superintendent, and Harry J. Reynolds, a Chicago boiler and tank manufacturer. The two additional members to be appointed will include a second downstater, it is understood.

Wants Rice to Serve.

The governor has definitely determined upon Joseph J. Rice, vice president of Lawrence Stern & Co., Chicago financial house, as his director of finance. He has been informed, however, that Rice cannot accept the appointment for more than 60 or 90 days because of the sacrifice involved.

He also announced the appointment of George E. Ray of Centralia, chairman of the Marion county Democratic committee, as superintendent of the state penal farm at Vandalia. Within a few days, it is expected, he will determine whether Walter McLaughlin of Decatur is to be director or assistant director of the department of agriculture. McLaughlin already is engaged in a survey of the department.

The appointments of Ernest Palmer, general counsel for the Chicago board of underwriters, as superintendent of insurance, and Sherman Coultas, a Jacksonville insurance man, as state fire marshal, are expected to go to the senate tomorrow.

QUITS WATERWAY JOB.

Benjamin H. Miller of Libertyville announced last night his resignation as state supervisor of the division of waterways. The resignation was mailed to Gov. Horner, he said, and is effective today. His duties will be taken over by the United States army engineers in Chicago in conjunction with the state division at Springfield, Mr. Miller added.

Mr. Miller, who is an attorney and a master in chancery in Waukegan, has held the office of supervisor for two years.

CAROL WELCOMES SERBIAN KING AT RAILWAY DEPOT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 23.—King Alexander and Queen Marie of Jugo-Slavia arrived today at Sinaia to visit King Carol for several days. With him were former Queen Elizabeth of Greece, Crown Prince Michael and members of the government headed by Premier Vaida-Voevod, Foreign Minister Nicholas Titulesco, and Marshal Prejan, commander-in-chief of the army.

The guard of honor saluted the Serbian monarch outside the station, after which the guests left for Pelles castle at Sinaia. At a luncheon with Carol, only King Alexander, Queen Marie and Jugo-Slav and Rumanian foreign ministers were present.

Alexander will visit the oil fields at Moreni tomorrow and then will go to Curtea de Arges to place a wreath on the crypt of the late King Ferdinand. Thursday is reserved for a visit to the capital.

Former Assistant Cashier of Bank Is Sent to Prison

J. Leo Ludwig, 41 years old, former assistant cashier of the Boulevard Bridge bank, was sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary yesterday by Judge Thomas J. Lynch when he pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzlement. Ludwig said he "just fooled away" the $12,619 which he embezzled over a period of several years. Prosecutors said the money was lost in speculation in the stock market.

ROCK IN TUNNEL FELLS ENGINEER OF EXPRESS TRAIN

Officials of the Rock Island railroad told yesterday how a fireman took control of their Golden State limited after the engineer had been knocked out by a rock as the train was speeding west Sunday night near La Salle, Ill.

The train was running through the Split Rock tunnel near La Salle when the engineer, Burton Bryant, 10360 Walden parkway, collapsed on the floor of the engine cab from a wound in his head. The fireman, William Greisheimer, 8656 South Carpenter street, leaped to the throttle and drove the train into La Salle.

Bryant, whose injuries were not serious, was taken to a hospital at La Salle, where Greisheimer obtained a substitute fireman and piloted the train to the end of his run. Bryant was able to return to his home today.

Confesses on West Coast to Plaza Hotel Robbery

George Smithwaskey, alias Jack Gordon, 19 years old, under arrest yesterday in Hollywood, Cal., confessed he was one of two robbers who on Nov. 19 last year stole $2,400 in a pay roll robbery of the Plaza hotel. Chicago police will try to extradite him. The other alleged bandit, Bernard Blake, alias Mejman, 18 years old, was killed in an automobile accident on the west coast Jan. 5. Gordon told Hollywood police he had planned to become a screen star.

MRS. MOSHER'S FRIEND QUIZZED IN DIVORCE TRIAL

Tells of Raid While He Was Guest at Home.

Various details in the friendship between Virgil Eckert, 32 year old insurance salesman, of 1201 Chase avenue, and Mrs. Florence Mosher, 32 years old, of 1205 Sherwin avenue, were discussed in testimony yesterday in the Mosher divorce trial before Superior Judge James J. Kelly. Both James B. Mosher, 33 year old scientific farmer of Prophetstown, and his wife have charged each other with adultery, but Mosher testified that he wanted his wife to return with her two children to Prophetstown, "where she belongs."

Mosher has admitted adultery and has made similar charges against his wife. His attorney, Benjamin Davis, has produced witnesses in an effort to prove that Mrs. Mosher was guilty of indiscretions with Eckert and with Lloyd A. Boyce, owner of a monument works at Clinton, Ia.

Judge to Decide Today.

Late in the afternoon Judge Kelly, after conferring with Davis and Frederick A. Brown, Mrs. Mosher's attorney, said that the remaining two witnesses to be called in the case would be heard today, and that he would dispose of the case today after hearing the arguments.

Eckert, a sprucely dressed young man, was cross-examined by Mr. Davis. He had been called as a court witness at Attorney Davis' request.

Eckert testified that he met Mrs. Mosher two and one-half years ago, after he was separated from his wife. He knew that Mrs. Mosher was married when he met her.

ATTORNEY DAVIS—Mrs. Mosher left her husband in July, 1931. How many times did you see her before then? A.—About five times.

Q.—During the first six months she was in Chicago, how often did you see her? A.—Do you want an average.

ATTORNEY DAVIS—Yes. A.—O, one and a half times a week.

Eckert testified that last September Mrs. Mosher bought a "very fine wire haired terrier," named Susie, and he was accustomed to take the dog out to exercise. He said, on further questioning, that he bought groceries for Mrs. Mosher, "not out of my own money."

Children Call Him "Uncle." ...

Eckert said that he was "a very fine cook," but that he did not prepare the groceries he carried to Mrs. Mosher's apartment at 1205 Sherwin avenue. He denied that he washed dishes for her. Concerning her children, Janet, 14 years old, and Jimmie, 9, he said, in answer to Attorney Davis' questions, that he was fond of them, that they were "the finest children he'd ever seen."

Q.—How did they address you? A.—As "Uncle Virge."

Q.—Did you have a telephone conversation with Mrs. Mosher Dec. 28, 1932, in which you said: "Go ahead and go to Akron; I'll take care of the house for you," and she answered: "All right, Kootchie-koo"? A.—No.

Detective Tells Story.

Previously Humphrey W. Fall, a private detective, had testified that he and Mosher had raided Mrs. Mosher's apartment on Jan. 11. He said that a bridge party was held that evening, that when the guests left Eckert left to exercise the dog, and that when he returned the lights went out and sounds of kissing were audible. As Eckert left half an hour later, Fall testified, he pushed Eckert back into the apartment. Mrs. Mosher was in pajamas, he said.

Eckert testified under Attorney Davis' questioning that on the morning of Jan. 12 he returned with the dog, and was chatting with Mrs. Mosher in the doorway of her apartment when Mosher and Fall pushed him suddenly. Mrs. Mosher was not in pajamas, but wore a housedress, he said.

Several rebuttal witnesses who had been present at the bridge party on the night of Jan. 11 testified that they left shortly after 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Mosher took the stand late in the day and denied that she was guilty of indiscretions with Eckert or Boyce.

ASKS ARKANSAS LAW LEGALIZING SALE OF WINE AND BRANDIES

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 23.—(AP)—A bill to "encourage agriculture and horticulture" in the state by making lawful the manufacture and sale of wine and brandies was introduced in the Arkansas senate today by Senator W. H. Abington of White county.

It would become effective "at such time as any federal laws now in conflict herewith may be repealed."

The manufacture and sale would be restricted to those persons actually growing the fruits from which the wines and brandies were made. They would have to be made from natural fermentation. The addition of adulterants would be prohibited.

FALL OF FORT TO BOLIVIANS NEAR IN JUNGLE WAR

1,200 Casualties Reported in 4 Day Battle.

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The fall of the Paraguayan stronghold, Fort Nanawa in the Gran Chaco wilderness, recently renamed for President Ayala, to the Bolivians, appeared a matter of hours today as a battle which has been raging since Friday gathered intensity.

Asuncion newspapers estimated there had been 1,200 casualties around the fort within a week, including those who were ill.

Paraguayans "Hold Ground."

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Bolivian forces today continued furious attacks on the Paraguayan forces for Nanawa in the Gran Chaco, but were not able to gain ground. The minister of war announced that Paraguayan forces had repulsed three strong Bolivian attacks against the fort yesterday, demoralizing the enemy's ranks. "Our losses were insignificant," he said.

Peru Appeals to League.

GENEVA, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Peruvian government asked the league of nations today to order suspension of "all measures of force" in the dispute between Peru and Colombia over the border territory of Leticia. Such suspension would safeguard the league's jurisdictional power pending arbitration of the dispute. Peru's message charged that Colombia had placed a naval flotilla in the Amazon "to threaten Peruvian territory and to attack Peruvians at Leticia."

Colombia Bares Notes.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The foreign ministry today made public a Colombian note, dated Jan. 11, concerning the Leticia situation and a reply from Peru on Jan. 14.

[Peru and Colombia are in dispute over control of Leticia, a border city now held by a group of Peruvian citizens who seized it recently.]

The Peruvian note said, "The progress of the Colombian expedition constitutes not only provocation but the beginning of aggression." This apparently referred to the movement of a flotilla of Colombian vessels now proceeding up the Amazon river toward Leticia.

MANILA BOARD VOTES AGAINST FREEDOM OFFER

MANILA, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The strong movement against acceptance of Philippine independence after a transition period of about twelve years, proffered by congress, was further evidenced today. The Manila municipal board voted 6 to 2 against the measure.

A resolution adopted declared the Philippine mission in Washington should have waited for the forthcoming Democratic congress to obtain a more satisfactory bill.

The insular senate elected Joe Clarin to preside in case Manuel Quezon, its president, goes to Washington to fight for a bill granting immediate independence. Clarin is an ally of Quezon in aligning legislators for rejection of the present measure.

85 CANDIDATES ENTER RACE FOR COUNCIL SEATS

Deadline for Petitions Is 5 P. M. Today.

Eighty-five candidates for seats in the city council had filed petitions with the board of election commissioners when the office closed yesterday. Since the board has set 5 p. m. today as the deadline for receiving the nominating petitions, indications were that the number of aldermanic candidates would fall far short of the 432 who filed two years ago.

One reason advanced by the election board for the apparent apathy toward filing before the final day was that many prospective candidates were awaiting action in Springfield on bills that would consolidate the aldermanic contest with the June judicial election.

Board Proceeds as Usual.

Under the present statutes, however, the election commissioners have had to proceed as though the election would be held on Feb. 28, as now scheduled.

Only fourteen of the sitting aldermen have filed petitions. Many of the Democratic aldermen, however, have turned over their petitions to their party organization, and these will be filed today. A last minute rush is expected today, but only those who are in the election commissioners' office before 5 p. m. will be allowed to record their nominating petitions.

Candidates Are Listed.

The names of those who have filed are given in the following list, asterisks denoting present aldermen. Wards omitted in the list have no candidates so far:

Walter J. Orlikoski, who has filed from the 35th ward, is an alderman elected from the 29th ward, but because of the redistricting of wards in 1931 he now lives in the 35th. The one woman in the race so far, Laura Osby, has filed from the 20th ward, where, also because of the redistricting, Ald. William V. Pacelli of the 20th and Ald. Frank A. Sloan, who was elected from the 26th, have been thrown together.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The London bus strike, in which 13,000 drivers and conductors left their work and tied up London's chief system of transportation for nearly a week, was called off late tonight.

It was announced officially that all strikers would report for duty tomorrow morning and that normal service would then be resumed. The men agreed to permit a settlement of their grievances through negotiations by the transport union, which consistently opposed the strike. Thousands of workers returned to work today.

The strike grew out of a dispute with officials of the London General Omnibus company over a small increase in speed ordered on one of the bus lines. The men maintained that conditions on this route were such that increased speed could not be maintained with safety.

Ex-Mrs. Brunker Wins Children

JUDGE DIRECTS BRUNKER TO GIVE UP HIS CHILDREN

Former Wife Wins Court Fight.

Mrs. Frederick Ruppel of Pasadena was at least a temporary victor yesterday in the litigation with her former husband, Albert R. Brunker, wealthy reformer of Lake Forest, over the custody of their two children, Barbara, 7 years old, and Robert, 5. Superior Judge Charles A. Williams instructed Brunker to turn the children over to their mother at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, after hearing physicians testify that they are well enough to be moved from Brunker's home.

Mrs. Ruppel's action to get possession of the children was brought in Judge Williams' court on the ground that Brunker had violated the terms of their Reno divorce, which provide that each shall have the children for six months of the year. The mother contended that the children should have been given to her on Jan. 1. Brunker has asserted that they were too ill to leave his home.

Brunker's Lawyer Makes Plea.

Attorney Thomas Shaughnessy, representing Brunker, argued yesterday against Judge Williams' order, reminding the judge that the Lake county Circuit court had issued an injunction against Mrs. Ruppel, forbidding her to attempt to gain custody of the boy and girl. Shaughnessy pleaded also that the children should not be "dragged away."

"But I haven't been enjoined," was Judge Williams' retort to the first argument. Attorney John A. Bloomingston for Mrs. Ruppel replied to the second with the declaration that the children would be better off with their mother than with "hired hands."

Dr. Theodore A. Proxmire of Lake Forest, who has been visiting the children the last few days at the instance of their mother, reported to the court that although they still have a slight temperature from a recent attack of influenza, moving them would not be harmful. Brunker's physician, Dr. Morley D. MacNeal of Highland Park, corroborated this opinion.

"Let Reno Settle It."

"The Reno court said we would not be in contempt of court if we kept the children until they are well, and that they were to be turned over to Mrs. Ruppel when they are well, pending the modification of the decree," said Attorney Shaughnessy.

"Under the Reno decree," answered Judge Williams, "the woman gets the legal custody. Go to Reno and settle the matter."

Recently Brunker petitioned the Reno court for the sole custody of the children and asked modification of the divorce decree received by the former Mrs. Brunker in May, 1931. This petition was dismissed last Dec. 30, with leave to reinstate.

DIES AS RESULT OF FALL.

Anton Cudzick, 60 years old, 1436 Cornell street, died in the county hospital yesterday of injuries which he incurred Sunday when he fell on the rear stairs at his home.

COURTNEY HOLDS TAX COLLECTION FEE DEALS VOID

The county board yesterday received from State's Attorney Courtney an opinion holding that the statutes prohibit the board from engaging special attorneys to collect delinquent personal property and real estate taxes.

"The state's attorney is required to initiate and prosecute all actions or suits in which the people of the state or county are concerned," Mr. Courtney quoted from the statutes in his opinion.

The county board more than a year ago made a contract with Attorney Henry M. Ashton to collect delinquent real estate taxes. Attorney Edward M. Winston inherited the contract when Ashton was suspended from practice for two years for unethical conduct. The contract expired on Nov. 30.

Attorney Lee La Rochelle has a similar contract for collection of personal property taxes, which the board is seeking to cancel. State's Attorney Courtney recently told the board that he could do the work of both special attorneys for $34,000, which is about a third of their estimated fees, which are on a percentage basis.

CITY EMPLOYES GET HALF MONTH SALARIES TODAY

Mayor Orders Loan from Special Funds.

Mayor Cermak yesterday authorized City Controller Szymczak to pay employés of the city and the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium $1,900,000 today from the city's aggregate of funds. The money will give the approximately 18,000 employés their first pay since Dec. 23 and will be for salaries due for the first half of September.

The aggregate of funds will be reimbursed, the mayor said, when the proceeds of tax warrant sales are turned in by the Dewey citizens' committee which recently sold $5,500,000 worth of warrants. The mayor took action for immediate payment of the employés on learning that the money would not be available from the tax warrant sale for ten days. Rather than wait that long he decided to borrow the cash from the city's special funds.

Not Enough for Teachers.

"I'm sorry that I cannot pay the teachers also," said the mayor, "but we haven't sufficient money to do that. They will be paid just as soon as the Dewey committee realizes on the subscriptions for school board tax warrants. The first $1,900,000 of the Dewey committee money that comes to the city will have to be used to reimburse the city's special funds for the present advance."

In telegrams to Senator James Hamilton Lewis and Congressman A. J. Sabath the mayor sought funds sufficient to give city employés another two weeks' pay by having those officials ask for authority to invest in city tax warrants the $2,327,000 that the Reconstruction Finance corporation recently loaned to the city for the construction of a new pumping station.

14 Months to Pay.

"The plans for the pumping plant call for its construction within fourteen months," said the mayor. "That means that the loan from the R. F. C. will be paid out in small sums during that period."

CATTLE FOR 10 TO 50 CENTS AT NEBRASKA FORECLOSURE SALE

Overton, Neb., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Threats of a dousing in the icy waters of a horse tank silenced prospective bidders at a foreclosure sale on the Mike Thinnes farm near here today and several hundred dollars worth of machinery and live stock sold for $15.

Mrs. Thinnes bought most of the property. The threats had been made by approximately 200 farmers who stood silently by. The sale lasted only a short time. Cattle sold for 10 to 50 cents, horses for 25 cents to $1, and machinery for an average of 50 cents.

Foreclosure was started by a South Omaha bank, which had taken the note from the Farmers State bank of Overton. Thinnes said he asked opportunity to take up the note by a possible federal loan, but the bank declined to delay.

REVEAL REALTY OWNERS VICTIMS OF NEW RACKET

An investigation by the state department of registration and education into a new real estate racket in Chicago has revealed that hundreds of Chicagoans are being victimized, it was reported yesterday by officials of the department.

The racketeers' scheme is to send postal cards to small property owners offering immediate cash purchase of their real estate. The property owner is advised to go at once to the address named on the card.

Once there the victim is informed that he is too late, but that the office has thousands of good prospects and can probably sell his property within a day or two if he will list it, paying a $10 fee for the service.

The racketeers, according to the information obtained by the department, came here recently from New York and in a few weeks have collected thousands of dollars from small real estate owners.

Fire Perils Bulgarian Port on the Black Sea

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Jan. 23.—A huge fire was reported late tonight at Mesembrija, a port on the Black sea. One report says it is feared the entire town will be destroyed.

AMOS C. MILLER OFFERS PLAN FOR BETTER JUDGES

Bar Leader Would Take Choice Out of Politics.

Amos C. Miller, former president of the Chicago Bar association and now chairman of its committee on candidates, yesterday advocated nonpartisan elections of Superior and Circuit court judges and the appointment of Municipal court judges, to raise the standard of the judiciary. He spoke before the round table on public affairs of the Union League club.

AMOS C. MILLER.

Attorney Miller held that popular choice of judges is a joke. While the party central committees have nominated some good men on the bench to succeed themselves, he said, they have returned many more poor men.

Elect Good and Bad Together.

"We have never been able to select from two tickets men we can be fully proud of," he said. "For years we had two judges on the Municipal bench who were known as 'cash register judges.' They were reëlected each time despite very plain condemnation of the bar association. They lost out in the election of last November. As a Republican I can say that was one good thing the landslide did. But at the same time at least two good men went down in defeat."

Mr. Miller defined a good bench as composed of honest men who have studied law. Toward this end his committee has, after study, reported two proposals to the board of managers of the bar association. One suggests legislation which would provide for election of Circuit and Superior judges at the same time on the first Monday in June, and the other urges a nonpartisan ballot.

The first proposal would protect good men from undeserved defeat in landslides, he said. Superior judges are now elected in November. He declared the bar is practically unanimous in support of this measure.

Explains Appointment Plan.

Mr. Miller proposed two methods of appointing judges of the Municipal court. In each case the appointment would be made by the governor. Under one method the judges of the Supreme court would recommend four attorneys, two from each party, for each post. Under the other plan, the recommendation would be made by the chief justice of the court. The governor would name one of the four.

The judge would serve six years. At the end of six years, upon petition of a percentage of voters, an election could be held to determine whether or not the judge should continue. If he were defeated another appointment could be made, while if he were returned, another election might be called six years later, Mr. Miller said.

CONDEMNED SPY FIGHTS FOR LIFE IN FRANCE TODAY

Exile 13 Years, Pacifist Seeks Vindication.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 23.—Henri Guilbeaux, anarchist and pacifist journalist, who spent 13 years in foreign lands with a sentence of death over his head, and who returned to France in August to meet the charge, will go on trial tomorrow. It is believed he will be acquitted. That is the opinion, not only of Guilbeaux's lawyers but also of practically the entire French press, sympathetic Left as well as grudging Right.

Heavy precedents are in his favor. He is of the line of Malvy, Caillaux, Capt. Jacques Sadoul, and the journalist Ernest Judet, all of them victims of the late George Clemenceau's will to win the war—according to the Left press, at least.

All Were Convicted.

Clemenceau, the "Tiger" of France, came into power in 1917 when this nation was at a critical stage in her battle with Germany. He ruthlessly made war not only on the invading enemy but also on defeatism within the land. Malvy, Caillaux, Sadoul, Judet, and Guilbeaux, were in his eyes the high priests of defeatism and he went after them. All were convicted. Some went to prison and others were tried and sentenced in their absence.

Malvy and Caillaux have since held high cabinet positions in the French government. Capt. Sadoul is quietly practicing law in south France. Ernest Judet, who like Guilbeaux was a gifted, if radical, journalist, and like him was tried in his absence, eventually came back to France. He was granted a new trial and acquitted.

Guilbeaux, it would seem, should have even a better chance than his journalistic confère, Judet. He has remained away from his homeland much longer, 13 years, allowing the war hysteria to cool that much more. And he comes back at a time when nationalist politics have been roundly repudiated by a Socialist and Radical Socialist landslide, and with the pacifist minded Joseph Paul-Boncour as premier.

Fought Against War.

Guilbeaux's defense will be that he did not traffic with the enemy, nor encourage their cause, and merely fought against war in general and German imperialism in particular.

A curious phase of the Guilbeaux case is that he is accused of dealing with the Germans in collusion with a certain Charles Leopold Hartmann. Charles Leopold Hartmann is the false name of a German spy. This spy used the identity and papers of an American by that name—a man who was born in Nordheim, Alsace, and who left for the United States more than 50 years ago and lived there uninterruptedly from then on until last year.

Last year Hartmann, 75 years old and retired hotelkeeper of Hollister, Cal., came to France for his first visit. He was arrested as the spy Hartmann who had been condemned to death with Guilbeaux. It was then discovered that the spy was a German intelligence officer who before the war had obtained copies of Hartmann's papers.

Return Is a Mystery.

Guilbeaux's return offered considerable difficulty. He wanted to get back without being caught in order to present himself voluntarily before the authorities.

He is reported to have returned by airplane on a British passport under the name of Gilbert.

Guilbeaux was condemned to death on Feb. 21, 1919, by the third council of war of the military district of Paris The charge was "intelligence with the enemy."

Literary critic of considerable talent and journalist of anarchist tendency, he was called to the colors at the opening of the war. He went and on June 2, 1915, was discharged from the army for physical disability—general constutional weakness. He then went to Switzerland, where he met Romain Rolland, the poet, and Nicolai Lenin, the latter an old friend whom he had known in Paris. Guilbeaux was then strong in communist councils, and when Lenin went to Russia to lead the revolution in 1917 Guilbeaux was one of his counselors. Guilbeaux later went to Russia to take an active part in the revolution until his activities displeased the authorities and he was expelled, going to Germany.

But none in France paid any attention to his activities until Clemenceau became premier. The "Tiger" launched his war on pacifism, and, to quote the present day Left press of France "wished to distract attention from the military disasters of Nivelle and Mangin by prosecuting 'traitors and spies.'"

At the time he was condemned to death Guilbeaux was in Russia. He was a member of the executive committee of the communist international.

Upon his expulsion from Russia for being a nonconformist he became Berlin corespondent of the French communist organ Humanite in Paris. After three years he lost that job, too.

FRANCIS J. DANIELEK.

A girl, two boys and four men were wounded last night when Francis J Danielek, 41 years old, of 2825 North Harding avenue, fired a charge of birdshot into a group of people in the rear of 1519 Noble street. No one was seriously wounded and all were taken home after receiving medical aid at the county hospital.

A dispute between Danielek and two men preceded the shooting, police said Danielek had called at the Noble street address to visit his uncle, and he said that while waiting in a grocery for the return of his uncle, two men started a quarrel with him. Later Danielek procured a shotgun and fired at a group of people in the alley.

Those wounded were Josephine Drause, 11 years old, 1527 Noble street George Koenig, 13, of 1576 Elston avenue; Edward Goleck, 14, of 1450 Noble street; Henry Mallek, 1453 Noble street; John Krol, 1500 McHenry street; Casimir Tyrkala, 1511 Noble street, and his brother, Mat Tyrkala 1627 North Oakley avenue.

DISSOLVE GREEK CHAMBER; GO TO POLLS MARCH 5

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 24 [Tuesday].—(AP)—President Zaimis signed a decree this morning dissolving the chamber and setting new elections for March 5.

The president's action followed approval in the senate of a resolution calling for the dissolution of the lower house under provisions of the Greek constitution.

Eleutherios Venizelos, who became premier for the fifth time in 23 years last week, requested new elections because he had only a bare majority of two votes in the chamber. The senate vote on dissolution showed a majority of 52. The meeting of the new chamber was fixed for March 27.

The decree calls for a second election in Greece in little more than six months. On Sept. 24 Venizelists won 105 seats in the assembly but lacked a clear majority. He agreed to tolerate a coalition cabinet headed by Panayoti Tsaldaris which was overthrown two weeks ago.

STILLMAN CASE HEARING IS SET FOR TOMORROW

New York, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—A hearing in connection with the alienation of affections suit started by Luc Rochefort against James A. Stillman, banker, was postponed to Wednesday when the matter came up before Supreme Court Justice Edward Reigelmann in Brooklyn today. The hearing is on a motion by Rochefort's counsel, Alfred Becker, asking the court to compel Mr. Stillman to submit to examination before trial and to surrender a certain affidavit so that a complaint charging libel can be drawn up.

CANNERS FIGHT 'U.S. INVASION' OF THEIR INDUSTRY

Bureaucracy Assailed at Convention Opening.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The federal government was accused yesterday of invading the field of private business by taking over active management of vast food canning factories and also of threatening to upset the entire production and credit machinery of one of the largest industries supplying the wants of the American people.

These charges were made in an address by Marc C. Hutchinson of Fennville, Mich., president of the National Canners' association, which opened its annual four day convention at the Stevens hotel. The convention of canners, together with associated conventions of the wholesale grocers and food brokers' trade organizations here this week, constitutes the largest annual gathering of food distributors in the nation. Nearly 5,000 delegates were registered last night at the Stevens and Congress hotels and the Palmer house.

Charges U. S. Discrimination.

"During the last few years," Mr. Hutchinson declared in his address, "there has been injected into the canning industry the financial power of the United States government with its unlimited resources in a discrimination between canners, aiding some canners by loans in unfair competition with others who are not so aided."

The results of this invasion already can be seen, said Mr. Hutchinson, who is both a banker and an official of a canning company. The government is in the "position of a banker for some canners," and in order to protect its loans the "government finds itself in the canning business, selling goods and manufacturing goods in competition with privately owned and operated canneries," he asserted.

He reviewed twenty years of federal legislation, "actuated by a desire to be helpful," but which has "pumped credit into agriculture with the hope that agriculture could be placed on an industrial basis.

"Smothering the Industry."

Not only have the plans of the congressmen failed, he said, but since canned foods are construed to be farm products the canning industry is now "threatened with the same excess of credit that is gradually smothering agriculture."

Not only the federal farm board but the federal intermediate credit banks have been used in this invasion, Mr. Hutchinson said. By the simple insertion of the word "processing" in laws framed for farm products, canned foods have come under bureaucratic control when the industry is already overproduced, markets are "disgustingly low," and the industry has been unable to build up its own capital sufficiently, he declared.

The canners went more deeply into the problems of governmental competition at the close of the president's address. Silas H. Strawn, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, gave hundreds of examples of government made goods and declared that many of the government's existing activties were unconstitutional.

Defends National Chamber.

Referring to an editorial in THE TRIBUNE yesterday deploring the "failure of the national chamber" to impress on congress the need for reducing expenditures, Strawn declared that he defied any one to point out an organization that had been more aggressive in "bringing to light the octupus-like activities of the federal government."

"Let us not have any more of the kind of governmental activity seen in the farm board," Strawn said. "We can't stand it."

He referred to the pending farm relief measure, the allotment plan, as one of the examples of a "grotesque" form of "panacea" for relief from present economic conditions. Muscle Shoals, he pointed out, is another example.

There are now at least 200 kinds of food products being consumed from cans, according to statistics recited at the canners' convention. Retail as well as wholesale prices of canned foods are the "lowest in history," said Howard A. Orr of Circleville, O., who is in charge of the industry's efforts to adjust production to consumption.

Tobacco Chiefs Are Assailed by Three High Court Justices

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—In a vigorous and lengthy dissenting opinion handed down today by three justices of the United States Supreme court, George W. Hill, president, and five directors of the American Tobacco company, were labeled "wrong doers" and denounced for having voted themselves stock subscription privileges worth two and a half million dollars.

The case caused Associate Justice Stone, who wrote the dissent, to urge federal courts to recognize their responsibility in the cases of corporations of a national, rather than a local, character.

Vote Selves Large Bonuses.

Into the opinion, the justice incorporated statements showing that prior to the case at issue, the defendants had voted themselves large bonuses and other stock splitups worth several millions, all "without authority of the charter or by-laws of the corporation, or without the knowledge or approval of its stockholders."

A majority of the court, in an opinion handed down by Associate Justice Butler, did not go into these charges, but sent the case back to the federal court of the southern district of New York for dismissal, on the ground that the tobacco company was a New Jersey corporation and the case should be heard in the New Jersey courts.

The court divided 5 to 3, Justice Roberts taking no part, and Justices Brandeis and Cardozo aligning themselves with Justice Stone.

Stockholders O. K. Plan.

The facts in the case were, that on June 25, 1930, the directors of the American Tobacco company, after halving the par value and doubling the number of shares of the corporation's common and common stock B, agreed on a plan, supposedly under New Jersey law, for employés to participate in the purchase at par of unissued B stock.

A notice, containing in a single sentence, the explanation that directors and officers would not be barred from subscribing, was sent to stockholders. The stockholders approved the plan and on Jan. 28, 1931, the board authorized the sale of 56,712 shares at $25 par value, the market value being $112.

The plan of distribution fixed by the directors gave the directors 32,370 shares, or more than half the total number, of which 13,440 went to Hill. Hill's benefit on the basis of the par and market prices was $1,169,280, and that to five vice presidents was $1,451,595.

Tries to Set Aside Distribution.

Suit was brought by Richard Reid Rogers, a minority stockholder, to set aside the distribution as illegal. The case was dismissed in district court and appealed.

Justice Stone's dissenting opinion described in detail the large amounts of money received from the corporation by Hill and others.

"For many years these officers have received large annual fixed salaries, as well as large annual cash profit sharing bonuses paid under a by-law of the company, adopted in 1912," Justice Stone noted. "In the year, 1930, the profit sharing bonus of the president, added to his fixed salary of $168,000, gave him a total compensation of over $1,010,000, which was further augmented by a special 'credit' of $273,470.

"In addition, a number of stock subscription plans have from time to time been put into operation by the directors, without authority of the charter or by-laws of the corporation, or without the knowledge or approval of its stockholders, by which they largely benefited.

"In that of 1926, the respondent Hill, the president, and also a director of the company, acquired 8,000 shares of common stock, and other directors, who are respondents here, received substantial amounts.

"In that of 1929, one year before the transactions now complained of, 46,500 of 51,750 shares of common stock, purchased by the corporation and set aside for the purpose, were sold to the corporate directors at $47 per share less than market value. Convenient arrangements were made for postponed payment of the purchase price. Respondents received 23,050 shares, of which the president received 15,050."

Entitled to Read Proposal.

Discussing the stock subscription at issue, Justice Stone placed the "plan" of the directors in scornful quotation marks; said that the "plan" did not comply with the New Jersey statutes, and remarked that even had the "plan" been within the statute the proposal should be interpreted in the light of the stockholders' "legitimate expectation that the directors were complying with their duty as fiduciaries and not dealing with them at arm's length.

"They [the stockholders] were entitled to read the proposal in the light of the fundamental duty of the directors to derive no profit from their own official action," said the opinion, "without consent of the stockholders, obtained after full and fair revelation of every circumstance which might reasonably influenced them to withhold their consent.

"They were entitled to assume that the proposal involving nothing which did not fairly appear on its face and above all that, it was not a cloak for a scheme by which the directors were to enrich themselves in great amounts at the expense of the corporation, of whose interests they were the legal guardians.

Statement to Stockholders.

"The respondents, must therefore, rest their case on the bare statement in their proposal to the stockholders that no employé or person actively engaged in the business of the company 'shall be deemed ineligible to the benefits of the plan' because a director or officer.

"We need not conjecture," said the dissenting opinion, "whether, if the directors had had the hardihood to disclose in advance the benefits which they were to award to themselves, the stockholders would nevertheless have given their approval.

"Their business competence did not confer on them the privilege of making concealed or unauthorized profits or relieve them of the elementary obligation which the law imposes on all corporate directors to deal frankly and openly with stockholders in seeking their consent to benefit personally by reason of their relationship to the corporation."

Holds His Offense Is No Longer Extraditable.

Attorneys for John [Jake the Barber] Factor yesterday filed a new brief with the United States Circuit Court of Appeals invoking the 1932 extradition treaty with Great Britain in an effort to prevent his extradition. Factor is wanted for trial in England on charges of fleecing middle class investors of some $7,000,000 through fake stock manipulations.

The brief, prepared by lawyers in the firm of Levinson, Becker, Glenn & Schwartz, cites the clause in the 1932 treaty which states that all provisions of the 1842 treaty and the 1889 convention, enumerating additional crimes, shall cease to exist. The new treaty became effective Aug. 19, 1932.

Claim Treaty Voids Order.

The defense attorneys contend that the adoption of the new treaty renders the order for his extradition null and void and ask that the Circuit Court of Appeals, which ruled that he must be returned to England, reconsider its order and dismiss the proceedings.

The brief also states that the 1932 treaty does not include "receiving money knowing the same to have been fraudulently obtained" in the enumeration of extraditable offenses. This is the offense with which Factor is charged.

The Factor case made its first appearance in the courts on May 21, 1931, when he surrendered here on a warrant obtained by counsel for the British crown. United States Commissioner Walker ruled that he must be extradited. Federal Judge George A. Carpenter released Factor in bond, pending an appeal, and ruled that the charge against him was no crime in Illinois, which would preclude extradition.

Judge Carpenter Reversed.

The Circuit Court of Appeals reversed Judge Carpenter and denied Factor a rehearing, but the case is now pending in that court on the new petition.

The proceeding against Factor was brought under the 1842 treaty and the 1889 convention, also known as the Blaine-Pauncefote treaty, and his extradition was ordered prior to the adoption of the new treaty. The brief states, however, that the new treaty applies to pending cases.

'MOIST THROAT' ENDED HIS COUGH!

"I had coughs all winter, till I learned about 'moist throat,'" writes R. G., of New York City.

Your throat and bronchial tubes are lined with millions of pores like tiny "bottles" continually supplying moisture to the delicate tissues . . . until you "catch cold."

Then these pores clog. Phlegm collects—dangerous germs find a breeding place. Tickling, irritation and coughing set in.

Your cough will be cured only when you increase the flow of your throat's natural moisture, loosening the phlegm so it can be expelled. Many cough "remedies" contain numbing drugs which merely "deaden" the nerves . . . but don't get at the real root of the trouble!

PERTUSSIN, a scientific remedy, is the extract of a famous herb which opens the tiny glands, stimulates the flow of throat moisture and brings quick relief naturally.

If your throat's the least bit raw or dry, take a few spoons of PERTUSSIN now. It's absolutely safe, even for children. At all drug stores, 60¢.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

RELATIONS WITH U. S. IMPROVED, JAP DIET TOLD

Foreign Chief Replies to Attack on Policy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Japan, Jan. 23. — Count Yasuya Uchida, Japanese foreign minister, assured the members of the diet today that Japan has no cause for worry about the United States because of the Japanese policy in Manchuria. Relations with America have undergone a remarkable improvement in the last few months, he said.

COUNT UCHIDA. (H. & E. Photo.)

The foreign minister delivered this speech of assurance after Hitoshi Ashida, a leader of the Seiyukai party, which constitutes what little opposition there is to the government, had defied the army rulers of Japan by attacking their domination of the nation.

Warns of Arms Race.

Continuation of the present militaristic policy, he warned, is likely to result in a headlong race in armaments between Japan and the United States which would culminate in plunging the world into a new war. The Japanese-American situation is indeed "gloomy," he said.

Count Uchida, agreeing that a race in armaments might lead to a Japanese-American war, attempted to calm Ashida by asserting that every effort would be made to avoid dangerous competition. He added that he saw no need for engaging in such a race.

Ashida, warming to his bold attack, mentioned the fact that when Count Uchida spoke to the diet on Saturday he omitted any reference to American relations.

Says Relations Are Bad.

"These relations are not in a condition to warrant such contentment," the Seiyukai spokesman cried.

The government is leading the Japanese people into a future which is "a pitch dark abyss," he charged.

Then he attacked the domination of Gen. Sadao Araki, minister of war, and other army leaders in the nation's domestic and foreign affairs.

"Forsake the notion that the army is almighty," he pleaded.

Ashida's shafts against the army elicited a stout rejoinder from Araki.

"The army is not dictating to the foreign office," he vehemently asserted. "There has never been greater coöperation between the army and the foreign office in the past 40 years. The army has never been arbitrary. It has not the slightest intention of trying to influence other departments of the government."

Prepare to Quit League.

As this surprising storm burst in the diet, persistent reports circulated that Japan has definitely decided to withdraw its membership in the league of nations on Feb. 1 or shortly thereafter. The announced reason for resigning, it is understood, will be that Japan cannot permit other powers to interfere in the settlement of the dispute with China over Manchuria.

The league is scheduled to invoke paragraph 4 of article 15, under which recommendation for definite action on a dispute can be made, this week. As soon as this is done, Yosuke Matsuoka, chief Japanese delegate at Geneva, is expected to start for Tokio.

The foreign office, which has declared it will make no attempt to prevent the league from proceeding under paragraph 4, is at present engaged in drafting a speech which Matsuoka is to deliver on Feb. 1. This speech, it is considered, will constitute Japan's last statement to the league on the Sino-Japanese dispute.

Japs Bomb Chinese Barracks.

TOKIO, Jan. 24 [Tuesday].—(AP)—A dispatch from Tungliao, Manchuria, said that a Japanese air squadron yesterday had again heavily bombed Chinese encampments at Kailu, in northeastern Jehol province, which Japan has announced she intends to seize. This was the fifth air raid on the Chinese camps since Jan. 15.

The aviators reported that Chinese barracks had been burned by the Japanese bombs and that other fires had been started in the town. The Chinese troops were widely scattered, the report said.

League Begins Work on Report.

GENEVA, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The league of nations, which for sixteen months has vainly sought a conciliatory settlement of the Manchurian conflict, today appointed a subcommittee of nine to draft a report containing recommendations for league action regardless of the wishes of China and Japan.

The nine nations selected to draft the report on the conflict are Germany, Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland Sweden, and Spain.

BECOMES SHERIFF

MRS. LILLIAN HOLLEY.

Mrs. Lillian Holley became sheriff of Lake county, Indiana, yesterday. She succeeds her husband, Sheriff Roy Holley, who was shot and killed one week ago last night in a battle with Michael Lantare, a crazed farmer, who killed one other man and wounded seven more before ending his own life.

"I'll do the best I can," said Mrs. Holley after she was installed. "I tried to keep Roy from taking this job. Now that's he gone, I'll carry on for him."

The new sheriff then retired into the office which her husband had occupied for about two years. They will be her quarters for the next two years, the remainder of his unfinished term. Mrs. Holley said the regular staff of twenty-six deputies would not be disturbed. Her territory is the second largest in the state and includes the steel district. Mrs. Holley is the mother of 18 year old twin girls.

SEES 10 MILLION TON WATERWAY TRAFFIC YEARLY

U. S. Engineer Describes Progress of Work.

In normal times, approximately ten million tons of freight a year will be available for the Illinois waterway, Col. Dan I. Sultan, United States district engineer, estimated last night in an address before the Society of Engineers at the Hotel Sherman. The waterway project is nearing completion. The engineers have set March 1 as the time for opening it for navigation, and various trade organizations up and down the Illinois valley are making arrangements for a ceremonial opening about May 1.

How fast the barge traffic will develop, Col. Sultan set forth, will depend on prevailing business conditions. He pointed to the movement of corn from Illinois river points to New Orleans in recent months as showing what cheaper transportation may mean to agriculture.

"Ten Million Tons a Year."

"We expect a ten million ton traffic movement will be available when the waterway gets into real operation and is given utilization," he said. "There is every reason for confidence that it will prove a huge commercial success.

"Looking at these pictures of the old Illinois and Michigan canal, with its small locks and canal bed, we wonder whether a hundred years from now the great locks on the Illinois waterway will not appear just as inadequate for the traffic demands of those days as the I. & M. locks are today."

Col. Sultan's address was illustrated with stereopticon pictures of the Illinois waterway in its various stages of development, including the development at Brandon road just south of Joliet, where the first water went over the dam last Friday, a sign that Lake Joliet was flooded almost to its projected waterway level.

"Only one of the four pools has not been raised," Col. Sultan said. "We have not been able to flood the Dresden Island pool, owing to Smith's highway bridge. If we raise the level, the approaches would be under water and the bridge awash. The state is building a new bridge, and this will supplant Smith's bridge.

Great Project, He Says.

"It is a great project, rich in potentialities to the entire Mississippi valley and the Great Lakes region. The Chicago sanitary and ship canal, extending 30 miles from the Chicago river to Lockport, has cost the people of Chicago approximately $75,000,000. The federal government has completed the improvement of the Illinois river to a nine foot depth from the Mississippi river up to the lower end of the Illinois waterway.

"The Illinois waterway, from Lockport to Starved Rock, is 60 miles long. The state of Illinois was authorized by its voters to spend $20,000,000 on it and the federal government has spent $7,500,000 to complete it."

TRIED QUICKLY; DOOMED.

York, S. C., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Will Sanders, 16, Negro, was tried for murder, found guilty and sentenced to the electric chair in a little more than an hour, here today.

REPORTS MADE ON 19 CLOSED NATIONAL BANKS

Receivers Tell Status of Liquidation.

Reports made by the receivers of 19 of the 21 national banks which have been closed in Chicago were made public yesterday by J. E. Fouts, supervising receiver at Washington. They show the progress of liquidation and the financial condition of the closed banks on Dec. 31, 1932. They are the first federal bank receivership reports made public in Chicago.

The total expenses of the 19 federal receiverships is given as $879,509, or an average of $35,763 for each bank. This compares with the total receivership expenses of $5,688,707 for the 140 closed state banks in Cook county, or an average of $40,490 for each bank.

The aggregate of the listed assets, book value, at the date of the closing of the 19 national banks was $48,714,184, or an average of $2,563,904 for each bank. The total listed assets of the 140 state banks at the time they were closed was about $224,000,000, or an average of $1,600,000 for each bank.

A 100 per cent assessment on the capital stock is added to the assets of a national bank as soon as it is closed and the receiver takes the responsibility of collecting this asset from bank stockholders as a regular part of the liquidation. This is contrary to the practice in Illinois state banks. Under the state statutes the collection from bank stockholders under the double liability act is an action separate and distinct from the bank receivership, and the practice is to appoint a separate receiver to sue the stockholders for the benefit of the bank creditors.

STATE DEMANDS JURY TRIALS IN ALL BANK CASES

Courtney's New Policy Is Revealed in Court.

State's Attorney Courtney yesterday announced that all bank cases involving criminal charges must be tried before juries. He declared he would block any efforts to have such cases tried before Criminal court judges alone on jury waivers.

The policy of the new prosecutor was made public when Assistant State's Attorneys John O'Hora and Earle C. Hurley appeared before Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court in the afternoon and informed him that they could not agree to allow the judge to hear the City State bank case, involving Attorney Seymour Stedman, once a Socialist candidate for mayor, and seven other defendants. They were acting, they said, on the direct orders of State's Attorney Courtney.

Case Continued 35 Times.

The City State bank case, which already has been continued 35 times was on the call of Judge Thomas J. Lynch yesterday. A petition for a change of venue was filed in behalf of Alexander Jaremа, one of the defendants, and former vice president and cashier of the bank. Frank D. Robinson, a former vice president, said he did not have an attorney to defend him.

"If I were not busy trying a murder case I would deny your change of venue petition," Judge Lynch told the defense attorneys. "The petition comes too late. And I do not see why Robinson has not an attorney after more than two years. However, inasmuch as I am engaged in the Varner Corry murder trial I will send the case back to the chief justice."

Judge Prystalski inquired of all concerned whether a jury would be required to try the case. The defendants said they would waive a jury. The prosecutors said this was agreeable to the state. The judge announced that he would hear the case himself and set it for trial early next month.

Demand a Jury Trial.

Later in the day, however, the prosecutors returned to the office of the chief justice.

"Without meaning any reflection we have been instructed to demand a jury trial," they told Judge Prystalski.

In view of the demand of the prosecution the chief justice said he would have to reassign the case because he could not be tied down by a long jury trial in view of the time required for the executive duties of the court.

Prosecutor Courtney later announced that a jury trial would be demanded in all bank cases, regardless of the judge to whom the cases might be assigned. Under the law the prosecution can demand a jury trial even though the defense waives this privilege.

Previously many bank cases have been tried without a jury. Many bankers were convicted under former State's Attorney Swanson's régime.

In view of the announced policy of Prosecutor Courtney, additional judges probably will have to be assigned to the Criminal court. Cases of this type which ordinarily would take only a few days, may be stretched out into weeks by jury trials. The City State case, with seven defendants, is expected to take several months for trial with a jury.

No More Piles

How to End Terrible Agony Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.

HEM-ROID is so successful in even the most stubborn cases that Walgreen's advise every sufferer to get a bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets today. They must end your Pile agony or money back.

There are other good cigarettes, of course—

TO TELL you that Chesterfield is the only good cigarette... that the makers of Chesterfield Cigarettes are the only ones who can buy good tobaccos and manufacture cigarettes scientifically... would be nothing short of foolish.

For all tobacco is sold in open auctions—where anyone can buy if he will pay the price. Even the machines on which different cigarettes are made are alike.

This much, however, is true: By using the right kinds of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos in just the right proportions... by blending and cross-blending them together in the most careful way... we make Chesterfield what smokers say it is... a cigarette that's milder, that tastes better. SEEK TO REMOVE TRUSTEES OF TWO LARGE BUILDINGS

Attorneys for Investors Attack High Fees.

The woes of bondholders who, prior to 1929, invested their money in first mortgage bond issues on large properties, occupied the attention of the courts yesterday.

Suits filed in the Circuit and Superior courts recently charge unethical, if not fraudulent, tactics on the part of trustees appointed to safeguard the interests of the bondholders. Bond issues totaling scores of millions of dollars are involved in these suits and the bondholders, the vast majority of them Chicagoans, are numbered in the thousands.

Bank Case Before Court.

Before Superior Judge William J. Lindsay yesterday, attorneys appeared in the case of the Central Republic Bank and Trust company, acting as trustee for the 333 North Michigan Avenue Building corporation. The bank, although it accepts no deposits, is still legally in existence and may therefore act as trustee for the building.

Attorneys Meyer Abrams and Leo Samuels, representing bondholders, asked to file intervening petitions seeking the removal of the bank as trustee. Allegations were made that the bank was disqualified to act as trustee. All these charges were vigorously denied by counsel for the trustee and Judge Lindsay finally took the case under advisement.

Bonds aggregating $6,250,000 were issued on the property in 1927. On Jan. 1, 1932, the corporation defaulted on the payment of $51,500 in bonds and $182,470 in interest. Nearly $90,000 in 1929 taxes had not been paid and part of the 1928 taxes was in default.

Foreclosure Action Begun.

On Feb. 1, 1932, the bank sued to foreclose the bond issue. A few days previously, according to the records, the Greenebaum Sons Investment company had been designated as reorganization manager.

"Since Jan. 7, 1932," Attorney Samuels told the judge, "a manager has been put in the building by the trustee at a salary of $10,000 a year. Legal expenses and other fees have raised the total of expenses to $37,000. About $400,000 in rents and other profits have been collected since then. It has taken nearly $40,000 in expenditures by the reorganization manager to collect $400,000."

"That's about 10 per cent, isn't it?" commented Judge Lindsay.

"Yes, and the expenses haven't all been shown yet," Attorney Samuels replied.

Attacks Foreclosure Suit.

Attorney Abrams then charged that, in order to coerce the bond owners to part with title to their bonds and vest the title in the reorganization manager and to "enable the trustee to make large gains and profits," the bill to foreclose the bond issue was filed.

"The real object of the foreclosure suit was to prevent any action by any other bondholder," Abrams declared. "As a result there is now a prior lien for taxes in the sum of approximately $300,000, the income is being diverted, and the bondholders are threatened with the loss of their investment in the mortgaged premises."

The intervening petition asked that the Central Republic Bank and Trust company be removed as trustee and another trustee appointed; that the reorganization plan be abandoned and bonds deposited with the trustee returned to their owners; that a receiver be appointed during the pendency of the suit, and that an accounting be made of all money received by the trustee thus far.

Case of Eitel Block.

The records of the Superior court show a somewhat similar case in regard to the Eitel block, at Randolph and La Salle streets. The bond issue on this property totaled $1,750,000. It was issued in 1925.

Evidence presented before Judge Robert E. Gentzel showed that the bonds were sold upon the recommendation of the Greenebaum Sons Bank and Trust company, acting as trustee. One of the advantages cited was the lease of the Palace theater at a rental of $200,000 a year from 1925 to 1951, a total rental of $5,200,000.

The circulars did not state, according to the evidence presented by Attorney Abrams, who also represents bondholders in this case, that the theater premises were subject to a paramount lien to the lessee to the extent of $800,000 for the furnishings and equipment of the theater and to the payment of interest on the $800,000 during the term of the lease.

Shortly before the trustee took possession of the property under a foreclosure on the bond issue, according to the charges made at the hearing, $62,000 was withdrawn for the payment of past due salaries to the Eitel brothers; $121,555 was used to pay off an obligation to the Eitel Bros. Investment company, and $168,300 was loaned to the Marigold Garden company.

Judge Gentzel refused to remove the trustee in this case, but ordered an accounting of the money received.

Bride of 3 Months Held After Her Husband's Death

East St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Frances Donovan Tunstead, 30, a bride of three months, was under bond today as a result of the killing of her estranged husband, Robert Tunstead, Saturday night. Police said Mrs. Tunstead told them she shot her husband as he was trying to break into the house where she has been living with her mother.

ONE-ARMED TRAPPER, BITTEN BY MOCCASIN, SAVES LIFE UNAIDED

New Orleans, La., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Charles A. Wicheres, one-armed trapper, set out early this morning in his pirogue for his traps. Deep in the swamp his shallow boat struck a tuft of marsh grass and he fell headlong. His one hand landed on a cottonmouth moccasin, most deadly of the south's snakes. The snake struck his wrist at the base of the thumb.

He sat on the grass tuft, brought out a trapper's clasp knife, opened it with his teeth and, with the blade in his mouth, sank the steel deep into the wound. He let the blood flow and withdrew the poison. From his pirogue he took a fishline and with the aid of his toes and teeth wound a tourniquet around his wrist.

His hand so numb he could hardly hold a paddle, Wicheres pushed his skiff out of the swamp and an hour later appeared at a doctor's office. The doctor said the trapper had saved his life.

BRITAIN DEMANDS MORE DETAILS ON DEBT CONFERENCE

Cabinet Delays Action on U. S. Invitation.

BY EUGENE SPECK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson's aide memoire to London inviting the British government to send a war debt mission to Washington, D. C., early in March, lay untouched in a drawer in the foreign office for two days before it was opened for study by the British cabinet.

When Prime Minister MacDonald gathered his colleagues at 10 Downing street this afternoon, it was revealed that the communication arrived in London Saturday morning. The only reason given for not beginning an immediate study of the invitation the British have been seeking for years was that it would have spoiled several rounds of golf and other diversions pursued by members of the government over the week-end.

Message Sent Immediately.

The message was coded at the British embassy in Washington almost immediately after the interview Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador had with Mr. Stimson on Friday night. It arrived in London before the Saturday half-holiday began.

The "widened scope" of the Anglo-American conference, which is scheduled to include economic problems, was considered of so much importance that the cabinet decided not to consider formally the Roosevelt-Hoover proposal until full information has been received regarding plans for the Washington meeting.

Francis S. Powell, president of the American chamber of commerce in London, today urged the British to promote Washington as the best site for the world economic conference at a luncheon today. Powell declared that other European debtors should send their dossiers to the state department immediately after the bargaining with the British is completed. These negotiations, he urged, should be expanded to include the whole conference now scheduled for London this summer.

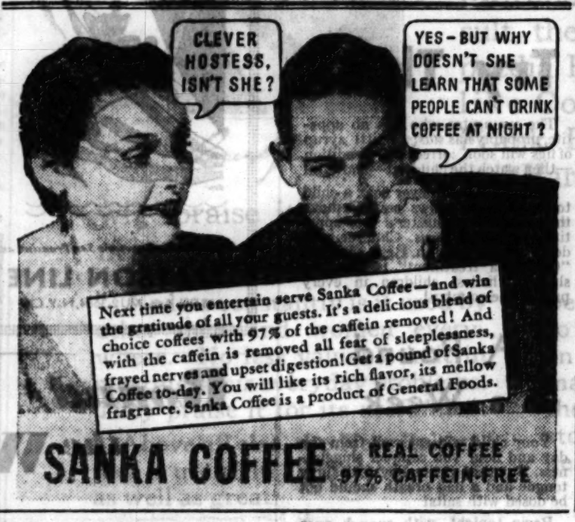

ITALY AND BELGIUM ASK INFORMATION ON BRITISH-U. S. PARLEY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The Italian and Belgian ambassadors today called upon the state department for information regarding the British-American war debt parley suggested by the United States for next March. In both cases the diplomats described their calls as of an informatory rather than an official nature.

State department officials declined to comment in any way on the visits of the two ambassadors. It is understood the diplomats were informed that any requests they might make for a reopening of their individual debt settlements would be forwarded to President Elect Roosevelt if made. There were indications that the state department also advised the ambassadors that in the present state of preparations for the parley they could give out no definite information.

Ambassador Augusto Rosso of Italy was the first to arrive at the state department. Later he said he had called merely to find out such information as he could regarding the effect the British-American discussions might have on the world economic and international debt situation. His government, he said, had given him no new instructions.

Ambassador Paul May of Belgium discussed the debt situation for only a few moments. Belgium defaulted on its Dec. 15 payment, but Italy paid up.

"You said it—we need a Big Car!"

A CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH HARRY D. EDWARDS (ENGINEER), 76 PINE BROOK DRIVE, LARCHMONT, N. Y.

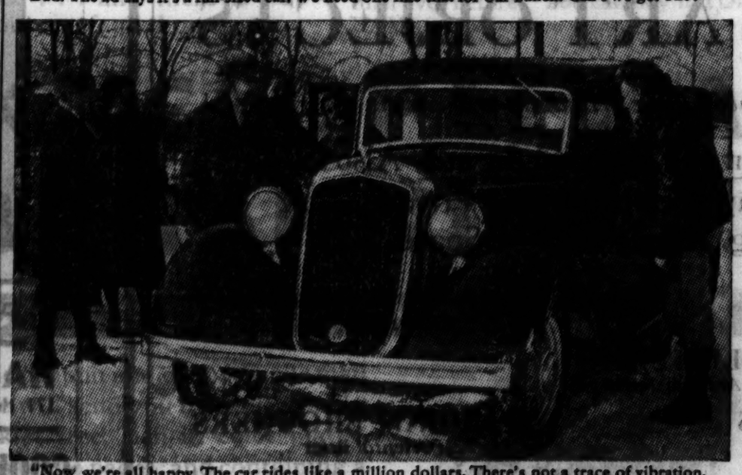

"There's nothing I'd rather do than take my family riding . . . but with a gang the size of mine, somebody usually had to stay home. So room in a car was mighty important to us."

"One day we saw a Plymouth ad in the paper. The kids said 'That's a swell-looking automobile, Dad. The ad says it's a full-sized car. We need one like that for our bunch. Can't we get one?'"

"So I took them down to a showroom in New Rochelle. And when the family saw the new Plymouth, I just had to buy it. But the low price of the car and the trade-in made it easy."

"Now we're all happy. The car rides like a million dollars. There's not a trace of vibration. After driving the new Plymouth, I wouldn't buy any new car that didn't have Floating Power."

"WE PICKED PLYMOUTH BECAUSE IT'S SO BIG IN SIZE...AND VALUE"

MAYBE you haven't got a big family like Harry D. Edwards, but you certainly want plenty of room in your car.

You can't have real riding comfort if you're cramped for space, or if you're annoyed by engine vibration.

We find that people who want comfort . . . who want to relax . . . are picking Plymouth. Because it's a full-sized car . . . and because it's the only low-priced Six that is free of all vibration . . . the only one with Floating Power engine mountings!

What do people think of it? Ask Mr. Edwards. He's an engineer. He says: "In my opinion, any car is behind-the-times without Floating Power! Or, in fact without Hydraulic Brakes or a safety-steel body! People with families have to think of safety these days!"

Prove it for yourself. Ask your dealer for a Floating Power ride. Also ride in the other two low-priced cars. Then decide!

LAUNCH ILLINOIS DRIVE TO BOOST U. S. DEFENSES

Seek Strength as Fixed by Act of 1920.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

National defense is to be made a political issue in Illinois and throughout the country under a plan adopted yesterday at a meeting of the Illinois National Defense council at the Union League club.

Active and veteran soldiers representing industrial and professional groups voted this action after a program had been presented by James P. Ringley, Illinois department commander of the American Legion.

Under the plan the people of Illinois are first to be educated in the minimum needs for national defense in army and navy as set forth by men who know these needs, the boards of the war and navy departments, and it is then proposed to get organizations in each congressional district to tell their particular congressman just what they want done. This to offset the campaign of the minority pacifist groups, which, it was stated at the meeting, is a formidable obstacle in the path of every member of congress.

Call Defense Force Inadequate.

The council voted to ask the national commander of the Legion to get behind a similar movement in other states. The situation was summarized as follows:

"In 1920, as a result of the world war and in view of the disasters attending all of our six major wars of the last 150 years, the congress for the first time in our history made an exhaustive study of the lessons of the world war and produced the national defense act. The congress, however, has never made the appropriations necessary to give even minimum effectiveness to its own legislation. The armed forces are actually less than one-half of what was estimated as necessary for the national defense act."

It was stressed at the meeting that at present the United States is setting the Philippines free and inviting trouble in the far east, at the same time chipping away at the navy and crippling the nation in the only branch that gives power and influence to what the nation says. The present aim of the pacifists, it was stated, is to put the military training camps and the naval reserve out of business on the grounds of economy.

Sets Defense Requisites.

The circular prepared for use by patriotic organizations to send to members of congress and to present to the people gives the following as the minima necessary for a reasonably effective application of the national defense act as calculated by the war and navy departments.

1. A regular army of 14,000 officers and 165,000 men.

2. A National Guard of 210,000 men with a proportionate number of officers.

3. A reserve corps of 120,000 officers, with a cycle of training so arranged each year as to maintain a standard of reasonable efficiency throughout the corps, and with provision for the training of at least 26,000 reserve officers in 1933.

4. A reserve officers' training corps in each qualified school and college desiring it.

5. Citizens' military training camps for not less than 50,000 youths for one month a year.

6. Adequate peacetime supplies and planning for procurement in time of emergency, including the placing of small orders for munitions to keep private plants prepared for emergencies.

On Naval Preparedness.

In connection with naval preparedness the circular says:

"The Washington and London treaties fixed the strength which our navy should have in ships, officers and men. The needs of the navy are therefore:

"1. The London treaty navy and the men to man it.

"2. An adequate naval reserve with appropriate provision for annual training cruises and weekly drill."

The council gives as its principles:

"We believe that America will never seek a war, and that a war will never seek a prepared America. We know that the pitiably small army in existence at the start of every war has never kept us out of war. We are opposed to the disarmament of the United States for the purposes of economy or as an acclaimed means to bring about world peace or as an example which some persons hope other nations will follow. National defense should be the last element of a nation's organization to be influenced by economic conditions. National defense must be absolutely and always divorced from politics."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Should congress refuse to cut veterans' benefits and present laws as to eligibility and rates be continued in effect, the American taxpayers will be paying $1,081,000,000 to all veterans in 1958 and 854 million dollars to world war veterans alone in 1960.

These were "peak years" in tables furnished today by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, veterans' administrator, to the joint congressional committee on veterans' legislation.

An even higher, but an "artificial peak year," Gen. Hines explained, will occur in 1945, when the bonus certificates mature and an additional $180,000,000 must be appropriated because of reductions in the interest rate on veterans' loans ordered in amendments to the adjusted compensation act. In that year the total for veterans will be $1,095,000,000.

Bureau Not Optimistic.

But the veterans' administration is not over optimistic as to the course congress may be expected to take. It would appear from other tables sent to the committee. These showed what the cost will be if world war veterans' legislation exhibits the same tendency toward growth evidenced by laws touching veterans of other wars.

Based on such anticipated increases, the tables show that the country may be paying as much as $1,913,000,000 on account of all veterans in 1950, and $1,626,000,000 on account of world war veterans alone.

Should veterans' laws be left as they are now, a peak of 2,832,800 veterans of all wars will be receiving benefits in 1952, and of these 2,523,700 will be veterans of the world war. Should world war veterans' laws be broadened as the laws relating to the veterans of other wars have been, a peak of 3,748,300 veterans of all wars, of which 3,401,900 are world war veterans, will be receiving benefits in 1949.

If Law Remains Unchanged.

If present veterans' laws remain unchanged, in 1955, a peak of 1,963,200 world war veterans will be drawing allowances for disabilities entirely unconnected with service, as against only 387,500 drawing service connected disability allowances, and only 145,000 dependents receiving service connected compensation. In terms of dollars the peak year in nonservice connected disability allowances will occur in 1963, when $656,300,000 will be paid on their account, out of a total for all world war benefits of $833,700,000.

If the policy of expanding veterans' allowances is followed, in 1963, nonservice connected disability allowances will require $873,200,000, and there will be death compensation payments as well, which will rise to $249,600,000 by 1966, and will go still higher after that.

In 1957 the veterans' administration expects 132,400 veterans to be receiving domiciliary care, 72,000 in hospitals, and 60,400 in homes.

PASTOR'S BLOW AT CHOIR CHIEF REVEALS TRIAL

Girl, 18, Accuses Muncie Church Preacher.

the minister announced that Aurand would not lead the choir at the evening service. Members of the congregation, who were present, spread the news to those who were not. When the time for the evening service arrived, the pews of the church were crowded.

Aurand preceded the minister to the church, and took his accustomed post in the choir loft. When the pastor entered the pulpit and saw him there, he repeated to the congregation his statement that Aurand would not lead the song service.

Preacher Wallops Choir Master.

The Rev. Mr. Conway strode from the pulpit to the choir loft, which is on the same level. As the organ sounded its opening notes, he swung at the choir master. Aurand, hit on the back of the head, was knocked over the chancel rail to the floor below.

Fortunately for him, the choir loft is low. He fell only a few feet. The blow apparently confirmed his impression that the minister did not desire his presence. He arose and marched up an aisle to an exit.

As Aurand left, a member of the congregation arose in his pew, shouting "All Christians get out." He followed Aurand from the church, and some others went with him.

A considerable portion of those present, however, kept their seats. The Rev. Mr. Conway returned to the pulpit and without further comment to the excited congregation, preached the sermon which he had scheduled. The subject was: "The Gift of the New Heart."

The preacher could not be found at his residence or about the church today. Aurand was interviewed, but he refused to state whether he intended to file any charges against the pastor for the blow.

A resolution by Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb, county commissioner, to petition the Reconstruction Finance corporation for funds with which to complete the county nurses' seventeen story dormitory as a self-liquidating public work was introduced at the county board meeting yesterday and referred to the finance committee.

Reconstruction of the building, at Polk and Lincoln streets, across from the county hospital, was stopped for lack of funds and because of the failure to sell $2,150,000 in bonds voted for that purpose.

The body of a man who drowned in the lake off Jackson boulevard on the night of Jan. 4 was identified yesterday as that of Mark Johnson, 45 years old, a stationary engineer who had been living at 4606 South Campbell avenue. His widow, Mary, lives at 3435 West 21st street.

and won't gain weight—

Try This!

The youngster who has no appetite, probably has stasis. A little syrup of figs will soon correct this condition—then watch the child eat—and gain!

Mothers should never coax a child to eat. Nature knows best. Remove the cause of a youngster's poor appetite—get rid of stasis. Children who don't eat are sluggish. Read what the "California treatment" is doing for sluggish, listless children in every part of the country!

A Pound a Week

Your child will eat well from the day and hour you conquer sluggishness. But that girl or boy with furry tongue and a bad breath should not be dosed with salts!

Begin tonight, with enough pure syrup of figs to cleanse the colon thoroughly. Less tomorrow, then every other day, or twice a week, until the appetite, digestion, weight, complexion, tell you the stasis is gone. When a cold or other ailment has again clogged the system, syrup of figs will soon set things to right.

When appetite fails, tongue is coated white, eyes are a bilious yellow, California syrup of figs will gently stimulate the colon muscles—and the child you used to coax to eat will fairly devour his food.

Just One IF—The claims made for California Syrup of Figs are true and it will do the same for you—IF you get genuine CALIFORNIA Syrup of Figs. Don't accept any substitute.

CORRY PLEADS AS HIS OWN WITNESS IN MURDER TRIAL

Boy Testifies He Shot Policeman in Panic.

Varner Corry, 17 years old, took the witness stand in his own defense yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge Thomas J. Lynch, where he is on trial on a charge of murder. In a quavering voice he told the story of the fatal shooting of Policeman Edward Smith in the John Marshall High school on Memorial day of 1931.

Guided by his attorney, James M. Burke, the youthful killer told the court how he went to the school with his brother, Earl, and a chum, Schuyler Pierson, to put back a revolver that he had stolen from the desk of the gymnasium instructor.

Enters to Return Pistol.

His father, finding the revolver in Varner's room, had ordered him to take it "back where he got it," Corry said. Varner said he and the other two boys climbed through a window of the empty school and decided to go in swimming while in the school.

"And did you go there with the intention of shooting any one?" Attorney Burke asked.

"No, sir," Corry told him.

Says He Fired in Panic.

"I walked toward my clothing," he testified. "The pistol was on top the pile. I picked up the gun and pointed it at the policeman."

Q.—Why? A.—I don't know.

Q.—What did the policeman do? A.—He pulled his pistol and jumped behind a post.

Q.—Did you fire? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you remember firing? A.—No.

Q.—Why did you fire? A.—I don't know. I was frightened when the policeman pointed his revolver at me.

Q.—Did you know the policeman was shot? A.—No, he walked out of the room.

Q.—Did you intend to shoot or kill the policeman?

Boy Scout Badge Winner.

Previous testimony had painted Corry as a youth who had been influenced by lurid literature and moving pictures. Questioned by his attorney, he told of seeing three gangster pictures shortly before the shooting and of reading the books "On the Spot" and "X Marks the Spot." Corry testified that he had been a regular attendant at grammar and high school, a member of the Y. M. C. A. and a winner of merit badges in the Boy Scouts.

The mother of the defendant, Mrs. Anna Corry, 736 South Claremont avenue, had taken the stand during the morning session and testified that her son had been a model boy before the shooting. Mrs. Corry is a school teacher at the Logan elementary school.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 90; recovered, 64; stripped, 11 (from Chicago police records for twenty-four hours ending at midnight Sunday).

Offenders in court: Michael Kopaczynski, larceny, held to the grand jury; John Radschi, receiving stolen property, 30 days in the Bridewell; Oscar Anderson, tampering with motor, 60 days in the Bridewell; William Costello and James Chuke, larceny, held to the grand jury; all by Judge Harold O'Connell; Fiore Pope, having fictitious license, fined $100; Tophie Deliutri and Joseph Anncica, having no license plates, fined $25; Steven Sananek, tampering with motor, six months in the Bridewell, by Judge John Gutknecht.

KILLED IN AUTO CRASH AT WILSON AND BROADWAY

Mystery of Artist's Death Solved.

Warren Callahan, 45 years old, 6255 North Oakley avenue, was fatally injured in an automobile collision at Broadway and Wilson avenue early this morning. He died a short time later in Lakeview hospital. With him at the time of the crash was J. W. Crandall, 1423 Ashland avenue, Des Plaines. Crandall received minor injuries.

Employed by "Tribune."

Callahan's machine was struck by one driven by Anthony Ficilia, 27 years old, 1229 South 59th avenue, Cicero. Ficilia's brother, Charles, was riding with him. Both were held by the Town Hall police pending the inquest.

Callahan was connected with the circulation department of THE TRIBUNE, being in charge of the accident insurance business which THE TRIBUNE does for its readers through the Federal Life Insurance company. He had been with the newspaper more than 20 years. A son, Warren Jr., is a printer for THE TRIBUNE. In addition to him, Mr. Callahan is survived by his widow and three children.

Mrs. Martha Shaw, 58 years old, of 4424 Drexel boulevard, died early this morning in the Chicago hospital of injuries received on Jan. 16 when she was struck by the car of a hit and run driver at 47th street and Drexel boulevard.

The deaths of Mrs. Shaw and Callahan increased the Cook county motor fatalities for 1933 to 54.

Solve Identity Mystery.

Mystery surrounding the identity and antecedents of Edward Patton, killed Sunday night in Michigan avenue near Harrison street when he stepped in front of an automobile, was partially cleared yesterday at an inquest in St. Luke's hospital.

Max L. Deena, 5311 Kenmore avenue, a commercial artist, testified that Patton was a Frenchman and that he had known him about a year. He gave Patton sums of money and food from time to time. Patton told Deena he had been a successful artist in Paris, but since coming to Chicago could not find work.

A list of prominent Chicagoans and society column clippings found in Patton's rooms were explained by Deena. He said Patton often had spoken of trying to get portrait commissions from wealthy persons. Deena was unable to explain a farewell letter to "Carrie." The letter indicated Patton intended to end his life.

Officials at the French consulate said a man answering Patton's description was registered under the name Edward La Cheney.

ALL-BRAN RELIEVED HIS CONSTIPATION

Delicious Cereal Brought New Health to Mr. Bartholomew

We quote from his voluntary letter: "I had considerable trouble with my stomach. Digestion was out of the question. I got medicine which gave me only temporary relief.

"Then I thought of taking ALL-BRAN. I started eating a cereal dishful two or three times a day.

"It has been over a year now since I ate that first dish of bran, but from that day to this I have had the pleasure of enjoying the proper functioning of the digestive organs.

"Thanks to ALL-BRAN, I still eat it regularly and like it better all the time."—Lester Bartholomew, Cadillac, Mich.

Constipation is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to promote elimination. ALL-BRAN supplies both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Certainly this food is more natural than taking harmful patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. With each meal in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

SHE DARE NOT SMILE

SHE'S not a bad looking girl. But her parted lips disclose unsightly teeth which repel others and shame herself. She dare not smile. What's more, she has only herself to blame, for neglect alone is the cause.

Neglected teeth not only mar beauty, they frequently endanger health by freeing virulent poisons into the system which cause serious diseases.

See your dentist and see him often. He can straighten your teeth, he can clean them, he can make them more beautiful and he can make them steadfast guardians of your health.

IN THE BOG.

Attorney General William D. Mitchell appeared before the house appropriations committee to discuss the items of his budget and fell into a contemplation of the dismaying spread of federal police work over the nation. In 1910, he said, the United States District courts handled 46,700 cases. In 1932 these cases had reached the dizzy peak of 222,700. Mr. Mitchell was asked what had caused this astonishing increase in the police work of Uncle Sam. Offhand he would attribute it to such congressional acts as the Harrison narcotic statute, the Dyer act, the Mann act, and of course the laws enforcing the 18th amendment.

Representative Tinkham asked the attorney general if he thought it was good policy to increase these federal jurisdictions not only in the field of criminal law but into the realm of commerce and industry. "Of course not," was Mr. Mitchell's reply in brief. Probably a majority of the thoughtful people of the United States would agree that the substitution of federal regulation and police authority for the sovereignty of the state has been misguided. Even the bureaucrats who administer the laws, in their candid moments, will confess their apprehension. Many congressmen see with a clear eye the dangers of what we have been accustomed to call centralization of authority, the absorption by the federal Union of powers and activities which our diversified population and widespread territory should reserve for state control.

It isn't often that an intelligent defense can be made of this trend in federal government, and yet such is the paralyzing effect of bureaucracy in its stride that it seems impossible to check it. Mr. Mitchell may see very clearly the troubles and dangers into which the federal judicial system is plunging, but he can't see the way out of it. Like attracts like. When one hobbyist has succeeded in persuading congress that his patent medicine is good medicine the door is open for the next fellow who comes along with another bottle. Each new job in the bureau becomes a vested right. Some political importance attaches to it and it is the instinct of government to acquire rather than to surrender. The only hope is that the people who pay the bills, who suffer from intervention of the government in their business or their private lives, will so raise the devil with the tax levying and appropriating body that it will not dare to reach out for more power and will be forced to turn about and retreat.

THE WEST PARK AUDIT.

No one has suggested that the suppressed audit of the affairs of the west park board contains any material inaccuracies or any misinterpretations of the figures. This is significant because the retiring president of the west park board, W. R. James, is said to have a copy of the auditor's report. If the document misstated the facts it would have been to his interest and well within the sphere of his duties and responsibilities to denounce the work as unjust to him and his associates. In the absence of any such denunciation the public will be disposed to believe that the report contains a true picture of the affairs of the board; and the continued suppression of the accounting by honest and conscientious public servants becomes inexplicable. Why should the financial situation of any governmental body be suppressed? If the Sargent committee for one reason or another regards the audit as a confidential matter, why doesn't the park board insist on its publication?

The employés of the park board have had one cash payment of wages in the last fifteen months. The west parks are in default on their bond issues and west park tax warrants are quoted at a greater discount than the warrants of any other of the major governments in the county. Obviously, this desperate financial situation will grow worse instead of better as long as prospective lenders have reason to fear that the financial management of park affairs has something to conceal.

SOME BIRD AND SOME STATES.

The Ohio legislature recently was reported as being up a stump to decide whether the cardinal or the wren should be selected as the state bird. Why states want state birds is a question which can be answered when we know why they want state flowers or even state songs. When the Illinois state song is heard the hearers groan. But legislators are sentimental creatures and they like to think that something noble occasionally sweetens the air of the assemblage place and testifies to their better natures.

If memory isn't tricky, Illinois adopted the cardinal as its bird several years ago. At least it was proposed, although this most fascinating of our year around birds seems not to have grown a taller crest in consequence of it. One thing a legislature cannot do is to add to the dignity and beauty of a cardinal. However, whatever Illinois has already done need not stand as a bar to anything Ohio wishes to do. For many states whose names can be found in the mendicant list of federal subsidies the esthetic decision would not be hard to make. The choice would lie with the cormorant, pelican, buzzard, or bittern. Presumably a legislature seeking a bird and song or a flower is reaching for its soul. In any one of the four birds above mentioned the mendicant states know where they can find their spiritual affinity.

A state must be very good indeed to deserve the cardinal. He is the prize flash of idolized romance. The sovereignty which can claim him had best watch its step or it will be discovered kidding itself.

PERSEPOLIS RECOVERIES.

"The discovery at Persepolis is one of the greatest and most important in archeological research. There never has been any discovery like it anywhere in western Asia since excavations began there one hundred years ago."

Thus Dr. Breasted announces the latest achievement of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago. An expedition of the institute has been working in a concession granted it by the Persian government for archeological research on the site of the great capital destroyed by Alexander in 330 B. C., one of the worst acts of vandalism in ancient times. We are encouraged to hope from the results thus far obtained that much will be restored and from Dr. Breasted's comment we are assured that priceless works of Persian art and architecture have now been added to the world's store of knowledge and beauty. The discovery of a stone age village in a very unusual state of preservation is another prize of this fortunate expedition, and the whole enterprise promises discoveries and restorations which will be epoch making in archeological research.

Circumstances have deprived modern Persia of the fame the Persian genius in artistic creation should have brought to her. Happily the present shah has an enlightened appreciation of the work at Persepolis and under his favor it will be carried on to new recoveries of the past glories of Persia and also to new knowledge of primitive society.

It is especially gratifying that this honor and opportunity has come to Dr. Breasted and the Oriental institute. The archeological research of the institute extends from Egypt to Anatolia and from the Mediterranean to Persia, a coördinated enterprise for the recovery of ancient civilizations, chiefly supported by the generosity of John D. Rockefeller Jr. and directed by the scholarship, historical learning, initiative, and administrative ability of Dr. Breasted. In the new building of the institute at the university campaigns are planned and their scholarly results brought back for record and study. Because of this widespread but unified activity the institute is becoming one of the chief sources of historical knowledge concerning the ancient life of mankind as well as a museum where lovers of the beautiful in art and the student of its evolution will find knowledge and inspiration. It is to be hoped the discoveries at Persepolis will enrich the museum with some of the characteristic works of Persian genius at its zenith. This would be a service to Persia, whose accomplishments have been so long neglected or overshadowed in western accounts of our cultural development. With further knowledge of ancient Persian art, architecture, and life, this influence upon that development will undoubtedly be recognized more adequately, to the honor of the Persian people now and in the future.

THE SANE FOURTH.

The mayor will have the support of most parents in the city when he makes his appeal to the legislature for a law prohibiting sale of fireworks in the state. Chicago's special interest arises from the fact that while it can and does prohibit the sale within its corporate limits, fireworks are being bootlegged from the suburbs and the accident rate on the glorious Fourth has been going up. THE TRIBUNE was leader years ago in the campaign for a sane Fourth, at a time when casualties, especially among the young, were a sad sequel to the great holiday. We are not joy killers, but the indiscriminate use of fireworks is not essential to the pleasant celebration of this holiday any more than of other holidays, and the gradual restoration of the former custom with its record of maiming and death should not be permitted.

One branch of the legislature passed a state bill last session, but it was killed in the other. We hope Mayor Cermak's proposal will have better luck. The mothers and fathers of the state might help.

Editorial of the Day

[New York Sun.]

Appearing before a joint congressional committee appointed to determine whether economies in veterans' benefits are practicable, John Thomas Taylor, principal lobbyist for the American Legion, voiced his opposition to a 10 per cent cut in all expenditures of the veterans' administration in these words:

> They say in effect that the government owes no more obligation to the aged and helpless soldier who returned unwounded from the trenches where he fought for the defense of all the people than it owes to the war profiteer who amassed a fortune while the soldier was fighting at the risk of his life.

Disregarding Mr. Taylor's straw man, whose sentiment no advocate of reduction of the veterans' administration's budget has ever uttered, it ought to be pointed out that the aged and helpless veterans to whom he refers are now, on the average, 40 years old.

Those who believe that congress has gone too far in yielding to the demands of an organized minority might also point out, in answer to Mr. Taylor's meaningless rhetoric, that though only 234,000 of the American soldiers were wounded in France, more than 776,000 of them are now receiving aid in some form or other from the government. Comparative figures for Great Britain and France show that these countries, whose participation in the war was much longer and more severe, are now paying benefits to only one in four of the number wounded. The principal reason for the difference is the efficient manner in which organized American veterans have brought pressure to bear upon congress.

The proposal to reduce all expenditures of the veterans' administration by 10 per cent is unjust to those men receiving compensation for service disability and to the dependents receiving compensation for service deaths. The joint congressional committee can find a fairer and a more courageous means to economize than that.

WHAT A TRAGEDY!

Mose—Who wouldn't be? Dat doctah what operated on me sewed me up with white thread.—Los Angeles Times.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

MR. HOOVER AND MR. ROOSEVELT are reported to be agreed that we should have a conference with representatives of Great Britain on the subject of the war debt. Probably a good thing, very probably, but, gee, how we dread it! We can send our sterling young athletes over to England and win all the silver cups and vases they've got in amateur or open golf, tennis, polo, croquet, checkers, blind man's bluff, or Ring Around the Rosy, but when our statesmen sit around a table with British statesmen to settle international matters Uncle Sam loses everything from the gold filling in his back teeth down to and including his undershirt. We seem to be great on teeing off, putting and forty-love, but when it comes down to solid argument the British can outtalk us forty ways to the jack.

EXORDIUM.

Outworn modes give place to newer schemes.
There is no falling back, no march retarded.
We must go forward in fulfillment of our dreams.
Let us make way to hail with glad acclaim
The coming of the light dispelling gloom,
Into the shadows passing whence it came,
Saving us finally from a common doom.
Select, appraise, reject but never falter,
Turning our faces toward the breaking light,
We who have sacrificed on pagan altar,
We who were gropers in a noisome night.
There is a lifting power, the power of wings
Can keep us yet above and mountain higher,

CLARENCE MILLIGAN.

"SECRET SERVICE Warns Public of Counterfeit $100 and $10 Bills."—Headline. Don't warn us, secret service; you be just wasting your breath. But if the counterfeiters have been doing any funny work on pennies, nickels, dimes or quarters we'd be very obliged if you'd spill the dirt.

AH, THESE DAYS! These days! In the Trib. yesterday we noted an item entitled, "Thieves Load His House on Truck and Drive Away." Don't you remember "Away Back When," as Harvey Help Help would say, when it was considered a rare joke to say that a man stole a red hot stove? Nowadays the robber gentlemen don't care how hot the stove is; they just take the whole house. Things get more complicated all the time.

MOODS.

Today the world looks good to me,
And I'm as gay as I can be—
And though the sky is somewhat gray,
I like the sky most any way,
And though I've lots of work to do
I love to work—an hour or two!
I've scores of friends that I adore—
Today I may be making more.
Next week I may not like so well,
But this is now, and it is swell!

MARJORIE F. W.

THE NEW DEMOCRATIC régime out in Iowa has gone into action; employés of the statehouse have been informed they must not chew gum during working hours or converse with persons who enter the office except on official business. The last rule seems to be all right, but think of the chewing gum workers who will be thrown out of employment. And think of the chicle farmers raising great crops of the delicious chicle and hauling it to the chewing gum mills only to be told that the Democrats have turned thumbs down on chewing gum out in Iowa. That's the trouble these days, no matter what you do you seem to throw somebody out of a job.

AND NOW WE KNOW what technocracy means. Three members of the President's research committee on social trends describe it as "a trade name for a special interpretation of the effects of the machine." The accent is on the phrase "special interpretation." And how!

AREN'T WE BECOMING entirely too tooth conscious? All the pictures nowadays of nice looking girls look like tooth paste ads. Every time we turn to the picture page so many teeth jump out at us that we shrink with terror. It is like going into a cage of peevish lions. Why do the girls try to show all the teeth they've got when they have a picture made? Maybe it's the result of the tooth paste ads over the radio. Or it might be the photographers insist on it as a pleasant change from pointing or sitting on the piano. Or it might be just adenoids. Anyhow, it's getting on our nerves something awful.

GULLS.

At sunrise and evening my harbor is landlocked.
The landlocked gulls sweep over my head.
Tame gulls, looking for crusts of city bread.

This evening the fishermen's wives face east
To the homeward-blown sails. Their faces
Pucker against a sky that is dull
Like a pewter platter, and the wind
Throws their words back into their mouths.
Wild gulls bend their wings to the gray waves
And come up with pearl necklaces.

At tomorrow's sunrise the fishermen's wives
Will pucker their faces against the east, where the new sun
Dumps its gold in hands full upon the wind.
And the wild gulls will dip their wings
To waves of yellow gold, and reel over the heads
Of the fishermen's wives with rubies in their beaks.

But at sunrise and evening my harbor is landlocked.
The landlocked gulls that sweep over my head

CAMPASPE.

NO MORE LAME DUCK congresses after this one. But the last of the lame ducks are certainly rubbing it in.

SIGNIFICANCE OF FEELING COLD.

THE human animal is far from being adapted to the temperatures in which he lives. He is able to adjust himself sufficiently well to prevent death from the excessive heat of summer and the frigid cold of winter, but he is not able to shield himself against much discomfort and some diseases which are the result of atmospheric changes.

It is generally accepted that man maintains his temperature steadily at approximately 98½ regardless of the weather and that never is there a fluctuation of a fraction of a degree. The fact is that the temperature of the human body fluctuates somewhat according to weather.

A temperature a fraction over the normal is not necessarily a sign of disease, and the people who take the temperature in the morning and find it a fraction under normal are not necessarily in the early stages of consumption. Nor is the body of the same temperature in all of its parts. The accepted normal temperature is that recorded on a thermometer held under the tongue while the subject holds the mouth tightly closed and breathes through the nose. The temperature taken at some better protected place is at least a fraction of a degree higher. In still other areas it may be several degrees lower.

When a man says he feels cold he probably is cold. If the temperature of his skin is taken with an accurate instrument, devised for recording accurately the temperature of exposed locations, it will be found that he is several degrees below the normal.

When a woman complains of cold feet the chances are strong that her feet are cold. Accurate measurements might show normal temperatures in the internal organs, but those of her feet would be much below normal.

The disease which reflects the influence of temperature more than any other is rheumatism. This is true of rheumatic fever, or acute inflammatory rheumatism, and it cousins the several kinds of chronic arthritis. If a person has any kind of rheumatic pain close records of the temperature of his skin everywhere will show areas that are cold, however warm other areas may be.

The cold feet brigade is naturally built for the development of some of the rheumatic disorders and, somewhere along the way from the beginning to the end, they can expect to develop rheumatic pains or to get creaky in the joints.

Any well-informed physician will say that there is very little rheumatic trouble along the shores of the Gulf of Mexico and near by; that the group of disorders becomes increasingly prevalent as one heads into the colder regions of the north, and that in the wet, cold climate of the British isles rheumatic disorders reach their peak.

For the relief of rheumatic discomforts nothing equals heat. That was the basis of the popularity of red flannel underwear, hot springs, and other heat cures.

A popular treatment for chronic arthritis just now is surgical. It consists in cutting certain nerves. By this procedure the cold, rheumatic feet and legs are kept in warm glow.

HOW TO SLEEP.

C. E. writes: I would appreciate your telling of some way to induce sleep. I find it very difficult to fail to sleep immediately when I go to bed, but lie awake for at least two hours. I do not eat before retiring, do not drink an exceptionally large amount of coffee. I try to relax in mind or body. Some one recommended drinking warm milk before going to bed, but that is one thing I cannot do. I get a sufficient amount of exercise, perhaps not enough fresh air, but that is something I haven't time for. I go to bed late enough to be tired.

REPLY.

Why not stop coffee, tea, cocoa, and chocolate? Are you at peace with the world? Spend the two hours waiting for sleep in quiet happiness. If you do that you will sleep long before the two hours are up. And if you do not, what difference does it make?

IT'S A BAD HABIT.

Mrs. W. E. M. writes: We have a relative who has terrible colds. She dries out her used handkerchiefs on any hot radiator she is near. My son tells me his school teacher does that, too.

1. Is this a clean habit?
2. Will it fill the air with cold germs?
3. Will it give a person a cold who sits in a room where the soiled handkerchiefs are drying out?

REPLY.

1. It is not done in the best society.
2. I doubt it, but I know of no evidence.
3. I think the answer for the second question holds for the third.

HOW BIG A SPOON?

Reader writes:

1. How many calories does a teaspoonful of sugar contain?
2. I understand saccharin has no caloric or food value. Is this true?

REPLY.

1. About 20. How full is the teaspoon?
2. Yes.

FAMILY EXPENSES.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A boy 13 years old was operated on for mastoid three years ago. No agreement was made as to the price for the doctor's fee. A bill for $200 was presented, of which $100 was paid. The balance is still due. 1. Can the doctor's lawyer place judgment against the parents' home for this bill? 2. If so, can he ever sell the house for that $100 bill? 3. If he can, how long will that judgment stay on the home before he can do so?

E. D.

1. Yes, unless the debtor can prove that the amount already paid is the amount fairly owing.
2. Yes, fifteen months are allowed for redemption from the sale.
3. Execution sale could be held practically immediately after the judgment.

2. There is no provision for a license.

ESTATE IN TRUST.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Some years ago an estate was left in trust with one of our banks. This bank merged with several other banks after the estate was left in trust. The will stated that this money should be invested safely so as to bring about 4 per cent, which was to take care of the daughter, only survivor, in her later years. The amount left in trust was about $7,000. $2,000 of this sum is yielding about $120 per year. The rest is not yielding anything. What can we expect? Is the bank liable and to what extent?

J. A.

The mere fact that the funds are not yielding an income is not conclusive. Your first step should be to ascertain what the bank has done in more detail.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—May a person who was put on probation sixteen years ago for one year ask for United States citizenship papers?

K. M.

Depends in part on the grounds for those proceedings. We suggest that you take the matter up with the naturalization office in the federal building.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 24, 1917.

LONDON. — British and German light naval forces fought two sharp battles in the North sea early yesterday, in the course of which at least one German and one British destroyer were sunk and several other German vessels badly damaged. The main engagement began about 2 o'clock in the morning and lasted until about 7. It was fought in intense darkness while the severity of the cold can be judged from the fact that eight corpses on the V-69, the German flagship, were so frozen to the deck when the boat arrived at Ymuiden that they had to be hewn free with axes. The British casualties are officially estimated at three officers and forty-four men. Reports as to the German losses are conflicting. Reports from Holland state that the German squadron consisted of fourteen torpedo boat destroyers, one of which, the V-69, was towed into Ymuiden badly damaged, with twenty dead aboard, including the commander and two other officers.

OTHER WAR NEWS.—Berlin reports resumption of advances in Rumania, particularly in the wooded Carpathians and along the frontier mountains to Moldavia, as well as along the lower Putna and in Dobrudja. Bulgarian forces crossed the Danube river near Tuitcha and held the ground against Russian attacks. Petrograd reports renewed German attacks in the Riga region have been repelled with heavy losses for the foe. Vienna claims minor trench successes in Volhynia. Paris reports renewed activity and allied successes in Alsace and Lorraine. Four German aircraft were brought down by French airmen. Berlin reports a successful raid northwest of Armentieres on the western front. Lloyd's reports the sinking of three more neutral ships.

BERLIN.—Some details of the voyage of the British steamer Yarrowdale, captured by the German commerce raider in the South Atlantic and brought into Swinenfuende, were disclosed by Naval Lieutenant Badewitz, commander of the German prize crew which brought it into port. Asked how he had succeeded in bringing the Yarrowdale, with several hundred hostile persons on board, through the North Atlantic and the blockade into the North sea with a crew of only sixteen men, he replied: "For such an action you need only to exercise coolness and determined blunt carelessness, especially if you have to deal with Englishmen. In addition you need to have a handful of smart boys like mine who have their hearts in the right place and revolvers in their pockets. Then you can fetch the devil from his own house." Lieut. Badewitz said he and the sixteen men of his own crew never left the bridge of the Yarrowdale and all preparations were made to sink the ship at a moment's notice without leaving the bridge. All on board, he said, knew that he would have sunk the vessel in event of a mutiny or a revolt.

CHICAGO.—Dixon C. Williams is to be Chicago's new postmaster after all, and former Gov. Edward F. Dunne is to be named to a high position in the federal service. Confirmation was received from Washington that Senator James Hamilton Lewis will not oppose Mr. Williams' nomination, which will be made by President Wilson after congress adjourns on March 4.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—"You shall not bury the Democratic party in a drunkard's grave." William J. Bryan today so paraphrased his "crown of thorns and cross of gold" speech of 1896 and produced a delirium of delight from 5,000 Illinois Democrats that seems to be possessed of intense political significance. It was his peroration to a speech in which Mr. Bryan announced a never ending fight, so long as he lived, to make the Democratic party dry in principle and dry in organization. He coupled it with a plea for general suffrage and universal peace.

AURORA, Ill.—The embargo against use of city streets by cars of the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago Electric railroad without franchise, which effected a deadlock at Batavia yesterday, threatens to spread to North Aurora within the next twenty-four hours. Emboldened by the stand taken by the Batavia city council in refusing the use of the streets until certain franchise requirements have been provided for, the North Aurora council has demanded a $500 franchise fee, transfers in Aurora, and agreement by the company to assume a major portion of the expense of paving nearly a mile of North Aurora's main street.

CHICAGO.—The ancient elm, a landmark to many old Evanstonians, is "at home" again. Mayor Harry Pearsons issued an order for replanting the tree in a small parkway in Dempster street, near Ridge avenue. Members of the Evanston Women's club had the tree dug up and removed to another small parkway near 615 Church street, where it would be more conspicuous. Old time residents objected and the tree was replanted in its original place.

THE VOICE OF GLEN ELLYN.

Glen Ellyn, Jan. 11.—Our village paper brings information about the tax rates for 1932. We find our rate has jumped 8 cents per $100 valuation over the 1931 rate. This year we will pay $6.30 instead of $6.22 for each $100 valuation. And the odd thing about it is that this extra money all goes to the state. Our village gets a cent less and the county 2 cents less. Last year 39 cents went to the state. This year 50 cents is called for.

Why is that? Especially does one wonder over it after reading Gov. Emmerson's expensively printed 142 page message that the state had a cash balance on hand in the treasury of $29,748,654.31 on Dec. 15. On page 20 of this same expensively printed booklet — fine calendered paper, if you please—occurs an explanation which states that because of decreased valuation the original 39 cent levy wouldn't return enough revenue to run state affairs.

Now an ordinary family which has its income cut, whether due to decreased valuation or a simple slash in salary, takes up the slack in two ways. It decreases its spending—there are many families today using kerosene instead of electricity—and it dips into its saving account, if any.

There are many savings these days not so drastic as the kerosene-electricity ratio, so that general expenses nowhere are so great as two years ago, except interest and taxes.

If a household practices these economies it would be seemly for a state to do likewise. If a household dips into its savings—much as it may hate to—would it not be seemly for a state to do likewise, a state which depends for its income upon its boss, the householder?

In our community this past year 71 per cent of the taxes were paid. In ordinary times about 96 per cent are paid. This present year, with higher taxes and worse times, why should the state or any spending body look for a higher percentage of tax payment?

To the taxpayer it would seem an excellent idea for the state to take this surplus in hand and apply it to state needs.

I haven't been quite fair, because I haven't read the whole message of the governor. But few people will. And it will stick in everybody's mind that here is a surplus and here is an additional tax burden. Most of us, unless we happen to be crooked or criminal, aren't particularly aware of what the state does for us. We are more conscious of our local unit of government, where we can see just where the money goes—if we have good eyesight.

Of course, 8 cents is a small sum. It will probably not wreck anybody already not wrecked. But in these times, when tax bodies are looked upon with such suspicion, is it not a straw that indicates pretty plainly a hard gale coming if something isn't done about it? Am I and other dissatisfied souls unjust to our state?

OUR UNKISSED GOVERNOR.

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 7.—"Happy days are here again." And so we have a picture of President Elect Roosevelt kissing his stenographer and one of Mrs. Al Smith kissing the new governor of New York. But so far we have had no picture of any one kissing the new governor of Illinois. Couldn't we get Mrs. Garner or one of the Cermak girls to kiss him? The great state of Illinois is being slighted. Couldn't something be done about it?

A NINE WORD HISTORY.

Winnetka, Ill., Jan. 16.—An accurate history of the entire world, from the beginning of time up to the final end, can be written with the use of only nine words. Here they are:

What was to be has been, or will be

CHARLES H. LOVETT.

AT A RELIEF SHELTER.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—After reading the criticism in THE TRIBUNE of the recreational centers in connection with the shelters for unemployed single men, I went to see the one in the Dore school.

The contrast was marked between the number of idle men just standing around outside and those inside. This was because the building is a "business" center. Some of the men are there to get their pay for one day's work a week [$4], which sum must last them [outside of any shelter] for a week; some are in line for their new work cards, while still others decide upon some occupation, such as reading in the library, or a class in English, or games, or playing instruments in a band just started, etc. Is not this much better for the men, and safer for the city, than just loafing? Does it not promise more for the future recovery of real man force?

Mr. Robert W. Beasley said it is becoming more difficult to persuade men, discouraged by one, two or three years of unemployment, even to express a desire for any form of recreation.

The charge made in the article of the cost of case workers to direct these activities was most unfair, as the majority of them are working for from fifty cents to one dollar a week, and the highest paid receives but three dollars!

All of the equipment for carpentering or play has been donated; the Emergency Relief fund has not expended a penny on that. The moving picture show, which was criticized, was an old one [also donated] and had neither sound nor explanatory notes, yet in that dreary basement the men were glad to watch action of any sort. If further material for carpentry were donated more men could be given work. Before Christmas they made nearly 3,000 toys for children which were sent to orphanages, etc. In the library there is more demand for nonfiction, and especially for simple books on economic and social questions. That is not going collegiate—it is hard business sense, trying to find out what is the trouble with this world of ours. Let us remember that if in prosperous times all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, in these times no work and no play makes him a dangerous one. But a better reason is to put yourself in his place and join in every way to lift the burden which is so heavy on rich and poor in our city.

A TRUST ACCOUNT IN A CLOSED BANK.

Wilmette, Ill., Jan. 14.—The unreasonable delay in the liquidation of the trust department of the closed First National bank of Wilmette, Ill., is an example of the flagrant abuse of power by the governmental bureaucracy. I own a small trust in this bank and although the bank closed June 24, 1932, I have so far been unable to move the receiver or the controller of the currency in Washington into action to release this trust. The controller says "the receiver and he are bonded officers of the United States whose actions are not subject to review," and the receiver says, in effect, "it will do you no good to go into court because no court has any jurisdiction over me and has no power to review my actions."

Congress should not only revise the banking laws, but should also forthwith throw some of these receivers out of office for insubordination and incompetency.

EVERETT L. KENNEDY.

CAN IT BE DONE?

Chicago, Jan. 18.—It was with much interest that I read "Arms Holiday and Debt Settlement" by Salmon O. Levinson. But Mr. Levinson omitted from his plan the most important point: a political moratorium, say, for ten years. Before you can have economic stability and disarmament you first must have political stability!

THE IRREPARABLE LOSS

[Punch (Copyright).]

The Bereaved One [to girl sympathizing on his wife's elopement]: "Very sweet of you, my dear, but I'll never get another chauffeur like Henry."

What Does a Consumer Consume? And How? And When? And Why?

One of the most amusing of statistics that has been produced in recent months is a series of charts showing that the readers of a certain magazine are at the top of the list of possessions. Apparently it has never even occurred to that publication that the top of the list of possessions is nearly always the bottom of the list of demand.

Even the little shop girl knows this. The first question she always asks her boy friend is, "Are you married?"—knowing very well that if he is, he is no longer a marketable product for matrimony. And he is immediately reduced to the bare possibility of a repossession or a replacement value.

The real, original consumer-market is not there.

But if the purpose of this page were merely to show that the top of the list in possessions is too often the bottom of the list of demand—if our objective were merely to present the facts that True Story readers, according to the most recent survey, owned the least number of radios in 1930 and have bought the greatest number in 1932, or that they head the list in the 1932 purchase of new and used automobiles, or that even in the matter of such comparatively recent contrivances as electric clocks they were at the bottom of the list of ownership in 1930 and at the top of the list of purchasers in 1932—if the purpose of this page were merely this, it might be very devastating as a present attack, but it would not be very thoughtful of the future rearrangement of American affairs. Every sales manager already knows only too well that he can no longer get his quota of sales from the same old sources that he used to look to years ago.

Capital and labor, the manufacturer and the wage-earner, are still bound together for the one objective, and neither can obtain that objective without the other. Mass production must go to mass consumption; it cannot go anywhere else.

So the object of this page is to try to find out what that capacity for consumption on the part of wage-earning America is today. How much of his purchasing power has the wage-earner left? How fast can he go in helping you, and thereby in helping himself, toward economic recovery?

To begin with, we know, from the constant flow of evidence that comes to our desk, that the resiliency of the American wage-earner is the greatest of any class, anywhere in the world. When he gets a job he can start spending. When he has a job he can keep spending. That is because he has no social objectives to maintain, no social position to hold nor to go in debt for.

Second, we know, from these same innumerable documents, that while the wage-earner has suffered the most where he has suffered at all, he has suffered the least in the general run of affairs. Commodity prices came down, even before wages came down, and are still below the comparative level of the wage scale.

So his buying power, in spite of the perfect devastation that surrounds the unemployment group, is undoubtedly the greatest buying power in America today, not only in volume but in actual percentage. In volume, of course, because of the enormous masses involved, it is tremendous. In fact, it is about the only thing that still keeps the wheels of business turning today.

Now, when we take the reflection from some two million True Story readers, showing quite evidently their spending capacity, and then turn to this most recent survey, which seems to be the talk amongst American businesses, we find a verification of this fact which is rather startling.

Here amongst the famous trade-marked names, which America knows as well as it knows its own, we find the True Story percentage of purchase now practically equal to that of the Social Front.

In other words, amongst the nationally known, famous brands of toilet soaps, hand lotions, salad oils, gelatine desserts, coffees, cleansers, baking powders, yes, even ginger ales, there is seldom any difference between the actual purchases per thousand homes of the Social Front and those of the wage-earning masses.

So that when you multiply these figures per thousand of the wage-earning masses by the tens of millions of wage-earners who are still employed, it doesn't require much perspicacity to understand that the buying capacity as well as the trade-mark demand of America is still in the hands of the wage-earners of America, and that the speed of our recovery will be in direct proportion to the sustaining of that capacity and the fostering of that demand.

U. S. GIRLS GLAD TO LEAVE SOVIET REALM OF MISERY

Close to Being Nervous Wrecks on Departure.

This is the tenth and last of a series of articles which Miss Christensen has written exclusively for The Tribune. She and her companion, Mary L. De Give, like the author, a resident of Atlanta, Ga., toured Russia for fourteen weeks, emerging late in November after a long series of adventures. This installment relates their expulsion from the soviet realm.

BY ALVA CHRISTENSEN.

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

While I was on my way to Tiflis to get our property there and to straighten out the legality of the sale of our automobile Mary L. settled herself for careful observation of things Russian in Moscow. She was one of the witnesses to the Nov. 7 celebration of the Red army.

She found it a stirring sight. Batteries of tanks charged across Red square at 30 miles an hour and were followed by thousands of fully equipped soldiers. There was a huge display of artillery. Unquestionably the Russian army is efficient. It is even enthusiastic. Alone among the Russians, the army and the G. P. U. are well fed and well clothed.

Several Killed in Crush.

Moscow was in a furor while the parades lasted. Several persons were killed in stampedes that day. It was dangerous almost everywhere in the city, so great was the crush of spectators.

My trip to Tiflis was broken by a long stopover. On the train I met the commander of the G. P. U. in Grosney and he invited me to visit his family for a few days. His name was Tovarish Kraft and he was a man of influence.

Accepting the invitation, I found he was met at the station by his personal automobile. He escorted me to the house reserved for foreign specialists in the oil fields. Although I was not required to spend a single kopeck, I was better accommodated there than anywhere else I stopped in Russia.

Dancing and Drinking.

The second night in Grosney I was taken to a Red celebration arranged for the engineers. It was held in a large hall, across the entrance of which were spread blood red banners. One was inscribed: "To Class Brethren, Captives of Capital and Victims of Fascist Terror, a Hot Proletarian Greeting." The other read: "Imperialists Are Preparing New Wars Against U. S. S. R. Proletariat of All Countries Be Ready to Defend the Soviet, Fatherland of All Workers." The writing was in English.

There was dancing, drinking, gayety, and speechmaking. I was asked to give a toast. With a glass of vodka in hand I was requested to drink to the soviet government. Before complying I added: "And to the U. S. A." That, apparently, was undiplomatic and unappreciated by the audience.

Then I made a little speech, the best I could muster. It was rewarded with a bouquet and more vodka, which I had to drink out of fear of offending my hosts.

The following day I gave a party, entertaining American, French, German, and Spanish technical experts at the expense of the G. P. U. A good communist is not supposed to touch liquor, but Tovarish Kraft was as good a drinker as any communist and our guests were not dry unless they desired to be that way.

Waits for Street Car.

I arrived in Tiflis at 4 a. m. and had to wait several hours before I could get even a street car to take me to the hotel. The same morning I called on the Georgian Sovnarcom and asked them to write to Moscow for permission to buy my car. Of course they had already bought and paid for it, but Moscow wanted the formalities complied with.

Sovnarcom refused to do this, but wrote a letter explaining that it knew what it was doing and nobody in Moscow had anything to do with the matter. It was the best I could do and I took this letter and bought a ticket back to the capital.

I rode four nights and four days. If I seem to touch too much upon the discomforts of travel in Russia it is because they are so striking. The horrors are, in fact, almost unbelievable. Cars are always cold, smelly, and dirty. In the so-called hard cars, where the poor ride, there was never anything but misery.

In one car I stopped to talk to two weeping women. One of them told me their children had been taken from them and sent to a new type soviet school, where they were taught that they must forget father and mother and live only to advance communism. They hated such a system, but were helpless.

Gas Mask Boy's Gift.

Their attitude was in contrast to that of a teacher from Baku. He was taking a gas mask as a gift to his 10 year old nephew in Miscow and declared he was glad modern Russian boys "were being taught the facts of life."

When I arrived in Moscow, cold and weary and miserable, I was confronted with the task of finding Mary L. I went first to the Grand hotel and found she had not registered. Then I called the National, and was told the room clerk had never heard of her. Making the rounds by telephone of all the hotels and failing to discover my companion, I started out to visit each one in person. I found her in the National.

We summoned our friends. All day long they came in a stream, to offer advice and consolation. We learned that to leave Russia we would have to have exit visas and that the government would not give us any unless we surrendered the 18,000 rubles we received in Georgia for the car. Also, we would have to forfeit $600 duty on the auto. We kept stiff upper lips, but were ready to weep over our troubles.

With the help of the Intourist manager we obtained the promise of a room in the Novo Moscovski hotel, a more desirable place than the one we were in, but we had to sit about in the lobby until midnight when the manager finally decided he really had a room for us.

Week of Red Tape.

Then a week of red tape went by. We hid our American money, except enough to buy our tickets out and pay for the exit visas. Also we did what we could to hasten the interminable formalities of the soviet officials. Daily we worried the officials who would have to issue the visas and those who would sell us the railway tickets. Meanwhile, we spent all our Russian money for icons, fur coats and junk.

At last the visas were obtained through Kiviliovitch, the Moscow Intourist manager. He was under the impression we had to borrow the money to depart on and he failed to charge us the usual commission of $2 each. With the visas in our hands we had no trouble getting the railway tickets for the border, for which we paid in American dollars.

We were close to being nervous wrecks when we boarded the Warsaw train on Nov. 23. I have little doubt that if it hadn't been for the help of friends in Moscow we would be locked up now in a Black sea sanitarium. We can look back now and laugh at our last week there, but then the absurdities of the soviets were real annoyances.

Marked for Confiscation.

Just as we went through the customs at the border town of Negereloye going in, so we had to go through them on the way out. Our baggage was examined closely and everything we had paid for with rubles was marked for confiscation, including the fur coats. Suddenly some of the customs men brought up the matter of the car and its sale.

Great excitement! Talk and more talk! Everything else was forgotten. While the discussion was at its height the suit cases were closed up and no seizures were made. Somehow the automobile question itself ran down and we were not required to hand over the $600. With our valuta in our pockets—just about all the American money we carried in—we left Negereloye happily and slid over the border.

During our trip of fourteen weeks Mary L. and I had lost, together, fifty-four pounds. We also had lost most of our films and all the notes we took before reaching Tashkent. The trip was worth the trouble, once. But never again!

We would not advise any Americans to try to repeat our motor trip. The uncertainty, the horror, and the untruthfulness of Russia as it is today are enough to break the morale of even strong willed persons. We are thoroughly disillusioned; we who had wanted to be convinced of the worth of communism. Russia is a land where even the most law-abiding, if they get along at all, must transgress soviet law. It is a vast realm of misery and hypocrisy.

RED LEADER ASSAILS U. S. FOR ITS STAND ON RECOGNITION ISSUE

MOSCOW, Jan. 23.—(AP)—V. M. Molotoff, opening the all-union central executive committee session tonight, struck out at elements in the United States and other countries which contend it is necessary to "study" the soviet union before establishing normal relationship with it.

The president of the council of people's commissars pointed with pride to the restoration of diplomatic relations with China, and added:

"In many other countries the question of relations with the U. S. S. R. is being discussed, but there are wise people in them who suggest study of the soviet union first. Is it necessary to 'study' a country which has been established fifteen years? The soviet union does not need to be studied. Everybody who can read and write can understand it."

Referring to America and Czechoslovakia by name, Molotoff added:

"Those are old methods. If any in Czechoslovakia and the United States want to study the soviet union it can be done not only by officials but by any citizen, for all citizens should have a correct idea about our increasing power and international rôle.

Einstein Blames U.S. Internal Affairs for Slump in Trade

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Prof. Albert Einstein attributes America's "severe economic depression" for the most part to "internal economic causes," relegating the war debts to secondary consideration. He spoke here tonight.

His speech was part of a symposium on "America and the World Situation," arranged by the Southern California Student Body Presidents' association. Other speakers were Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker; Dr. Robert A. Millikan, and Dr. William B. Munro, all members of the executive council of the California Institute of Technology.

Raps Conduct of Congress.

Prof. Munro, historian and political economist, declared "display by congress of half the good sense, patience, thrift, and resourcefulness which the masses of our citizenship are showing in this ordeal" would enable the nation to pass through the crisis much more speedily.

"More wealth has been dissipated by unwise political action since the armistice than was destroyed during the entire course of the world war," he added.

"Our immediate need from congress is a balanced budget," he added. "Last year nearly 20 per cent of the entire earnings of the American people were absorbed in taxes of all sorts—nine billions out of 40—and yet our lawmakers everywhere talk of piling new taxes on top of this stupendous burden. Right here is the greatest of all obstacles to a prompt economic recovery."

Blames Internal Conditions.

Prof. Einstein asserted the spreading of the view that internal causes are responsible for the economic situation would set aside "a dangerous source of mutual embitterment of the nations."

Dr. Einstein said of the war debts: "Viewed from a certain distance it is actually—for the most part—the indebtedness of Europe to America. Under the circumstances one hears the expressions of anger, that the wicked Germans will not meet their obligations to the allies, and that the latter will not meet their obligations to America, in spite of the fact that the obligations to pay are certainly legally unassailable.

"The American finds it indeed bitter that he, who of his own free will has given his help to others in their need, now in his own hour of need is left by them in the lurch, when indeed it is a matter of fulfilling assumed obligations. He may well regard the cessation of reparation payments by Germany as the first cause of this denial.

Talks of Reparations.

"Does bad intention really lie behind this, or has it to do with the necessities accompanying the situation? A nation possesses land, facilities for production, and the ability to labor of its inhabitants, and in addition also some gold, although in an amount which is practically negligible in comparison with the great indebtedness here coming under consideration.

"A nation can thus pay only with goods, that is—in the last resort—only with the products of its labor.

"Why, however," he asked, "has America not taken the payments in the form of goods or through an encouragement of the importation of goods? Because her own industrial establishments would have been seriously damaged by such importation."

World and the U. S.

Prof. Einstein said it has been assumed that "the world depression for the most part had its origin through the war debts." He added: "The economic connection of this great country with the outside is certainly not close enough to explain the depression in America as due in the main to the economic failure of Europe."

Extortioner Sentenced to Five Years in Prison

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Four hours after he was arrested for attempting to extort $2,000 from Mrs. Nell Donnelly, wealthy garment manufacturer, kidnaped a year ago, Henry J. Thomas, 27, was sentenced today to five years in the penitentiary. Thomas admitted threatening letters and pleaded guilty to attempted blackmail.

IDLE HUSBANDS TOLD NOT TO STAY HOME TOO MUCH

And Wives Warned Not to Nag Job Hunters.

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Idle husbands are warned not to stay home too much and their wives are cautioned not to punish their anxious menfolk in a report on "What The Depression Is Doing to Family Life" issued today by the national committee for mental hygiene.

It is compiled by George K. Pratt, M. D., under the title "Morale, the Mental Hygiene of Unemployment," and one section is devoted to family life.

When the breadwinner loses his job, the report says, "there is often seen a tendency in the other members of the family to throw blame on to the father for the dilemma in which they find themselves. He usually reacts in one of several ways: sometimes he gives in and adopts a hang-dog air.

Develops a New Disease.

"In this case he often develops numerous symptoms of apparent physical disease [headache, general weakness, vague pains here and there] for which, however, the most careful medical examination fails to disclose any adequate physical cause. However, this man does not deliberately and intentionally manufacture his symptoms of illness."

Sometimes he fights back. Sometimes he deserts the family altogether.

"Perhaps," says the report, "father should not spend so much time at home. There is sometimes a marked increase in hostility toward the father when, because of idleness, he begins to function more actively in the domestic scene. His presence at unusual hours tends to upset domestic routine and to throw many of the usual daytime customs of the family out of gear."

Less Juvenile Delinquency.

On the other hand, the report finds evidence that "there is less juvenile delinquency at present because idle fathers are spending more time with their children at home."

It is found that some husbands and wives unwittingly seek to punish each other as a result of these upsets. An example, says the report, is the wife who runs up bills in unconscious punishment of her husband whose reduction of income has threatened the comfort of the family. Spasmodic or chronic irritability and mutual nagging are other examples.

LEFT HAND PAGES OF PAPERS SCANNED FIRST, REPORT SAYS

New York, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Newspaper readers, contrary to the general belief of advertising men, have a definite and natural impulse to turn to the left hand pages of their favorite dailies before they give their attention to the right hand pages, according to a report made public today by Prof. Howard E. Nixon of the school of business, Columbia university.

Show Raises $20,000 for Welfare Fund.

Chicago radio entertainers staged a gala revue last night that brought more than 20,000 radio fans to the Chicago Stadium to view their favorites and added more than $20,000 to the Emergency Welfare fund for the relief of the needy. All tickets were sold, radio entertainers in many instances ahving bought blocks of seats and distributed them to youngsters and the aged. Several thousand had to be content with standing room.

The revue, comprising 36 acts, required nearly five hours for its presentation and brought loud applause from the audience.

Give Services Free.

All the entertainers gave their services for nothing. The revue was staged on Monday night because that is the regular relief night for radio dance bands. Ben Bernie, orchestra leader, who was master of ceremonies, pointed out that James C. Petrillo, president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians, had permitted the bandsmen to perform without pay.

The hundreds of radio performers taking part included entertainers from all Chicago stations, several from Indiana, and from the National Broadcasting and Columbia networks. THE TRIBUNE radio station, W-G-N, was represented by an even dozen acts and several others for which W-G-N serves as a network outlet. Among these were the W-G-N minstrel show, Tom, Dick, and Harry, Clara Lu 'n' Em, Big Leaguers and Bushers, and Hal Gilles and Hank Moeller.

Makes Plea for Funds.

The grave situation facing the Emergency Welfare fund was described yesterday by Commissioner W. A. McIntyre, territorial commander of the Salvation Army, a veteran of 50 years' service in relief work. He spoke at the meeting of fund campaign workers at the Hotel La Salle.

"The situation has become so grave that it now takes real courage to work in the midst of the fields of dire want," said Commissioner McIntyre. "If the people of Chicago only recognized the fact that this fund is the great protective agency in the community during this crisis they would respond more readily."

The meeting revealed that only a few thousands of dollars had been subscribed in the last week. The total pledges are now $4,575,000. Subscriptions from grocery concerns and employés amounted to $27,000. Of this amount $21,500 was pledged by the National Tea company and its workers The goal of the fund is $7,500,000.

DONORS REPEAT GIFTS TO FEED HUNGRY PUPILS

School Class Raises $4.95 at Recess.

A number of repeating donors were found in yesterday's list of contributors to the Hungry School Children's fund, a genuine tribute to the worthiness of the fund which has as its purpose the feeding of the needy and undernourished children in the public schools.

Back again in the list was the senior class of the Kenwood-Loring school, 4600 Ellis avenue. Last fall this class selected as a slogan: "Feed yourself and another hungry child," and raised money for the Hungry School Children's fund at a recess benefit. Other classes in the school followed suit. Yesterday the senior class sent $4.95, raised at a recess lunch.

The ladies of the Bon Villa Bridge club sent another gift of $2. From time to time $1.10 has been sent to the fund from "Fees." Equally as regular is the ten cents from F. W. Virden. Among the new contributors was Miss West's Sunday school class of 12 year old girls of the Covenant Methodist church, Evanston, who sent $1.50. The day's contributions in full are as follows:

$18—Tuesday Bridge club at Oak Park.
$5—The Bridge Club of Fort Sheridan, Mrs. Tillie Tewes.

H. S. DITCHBURNE RESIGNS POST AS PROSECUTOR

The resignation of Assistant State's Attorney Harry S. Ditchburne, prosecutor in murder cases for the last six years, was accepted yesterday by State's Attorney Courtney. Mr. Ditchburne announced that he would enter the private practice of law in partnership with Charles E. Lounsbury, also a former assistant state's attorney, in offices at 160 North La Salle street.

Attorney Ditchburne last appeared for the state in the case of Bert Arnold, 16 years old, who was tried for the murder of his grandmother, Mrs. Ellen O. Saxe. Young Arnold was sentenced to from one to 14 years in the penitentiary. Attorney Ditchburne also obtained the only death verdict in Cook county history on a charge of murder by abortion. The defendant, Dr. Amante Rongetti, later won a reversal in the state Supreme court.

SWEDISH PRINCE ASKS FOR RADIO ANNOUNCING JOB

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Prince Lennart of Sweden, who has been plain "Mr. Bernadotte" since he disobeyed the king and married Miss Karin Niasvandt, a commoner, last year, was reported today to have applied for a job as radio announcer with the Swedish broadcasting company.

Grandson of King Gustav, he was seventh in line for the throne when he renounced all his titles and his right of succession at the time of his marriage. Since then he was engaged in varied activities.

At first he announced he would become a gentleman farmer, but not long after that he set up a sales agency in Stockholm and seemed to be doing well. Subsequently it was reported he had written a play for Greta Garbo.

'COUNT' TO FACE COURT ON FAKE MONEY CHARGE

Henry Dechow, alias Count Enrique von Buelow, will be arraigned on Friday before Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward on a charge of possessing $96,000 in counterfeit $100 bills. Dechow waived removal proceedings and was brought to Chicago after his arrest in New York City. Dechow admitted making arrangements to pass $25,000 worth of the fraudulent bills in Chicago, but denied that he knew they were counterfeit. He said the bills had been given him by a "respectable New York citizen" who said the money belonged to bootleggers.

Father of 8 Killed When Crawfordsville Wall Falls

Crawfordsville, Ind., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—David Nelson, 42, father of eight children, was killed instantly late this afternoon. He was buried under a large concrete wall and tons of earth that caved in at the site where Crawfordsville's new $100,000 city hall is being built.

AVIATRIX, SAVED IN SAHARA, LANDS AT DESERT TOWN

ALGIERS, Algier, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Lady Mary Bailey, South African aviatrix, arrived by plane at Adrar, in the Sahara, today. She will continue to Oran on Tuesday if weather permits. She took off from Niamey, French West Africa, this morning.

It was believed that Lady Bailey, by turning northward, had abandoned her projected flight from London to Capetown. Last week she was missing four days after taking off from Oran on the second leg of her flight and was found near Tahoua, French West Africa.

She had started out to better Amy Johnson Mollison's record of about four and one-third days for the London-Capetown flight.

LADY FURNESS DIVORCES BRITISH SHIP MAGNATE

(Copyright; 1933: By the New York Times.)

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Viscountess Furness, the former Thelma Morgan Converse, was granted a divorce decree nisi today on the ground of misconduct by her husband, Viscount Furness, the shipping magnate. The suit was undefended. She was granted custody of their only child, a son, born in 1920, and costs of the suit.

Lord and Lady Furness were married in London June 27, 1926. She is a daughter of Harry Hays Morgan of New Orleans and New York. Her first husband was James Vall Converse, New York broker. They were divorced in 1925.

Cutting Proposal Seeks 15 Millions.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—If he has no home, he gets no help.

This was the plaint of the social workers who today urged the senate manufacturers' subcommittee to pass the bill of Senator Cutting [Rad., N. M.], which would grant 15 millions of federal bonds to the states to care for the transient idle, who are pushing their way across the country.

The local community, the witnesses declared, try to take care of the native idle, but when it comes to the stranger within their territory, "they call him hobo, bum, vagabond," and have the police load him on a train. Passing the buck, from city to city, is bringing destitution and despair, the witnesses insisted, to the increasing army of itinerants.

Size Is Undetermined.

Just how large this migratory army is, nobody can determine, Prof. A. W. McMillen of the University of Chicago told the committee.

"But its number exceeds anything the country has ever known before."

And sixty per cent of its group, the professor estimates, are under 30 years of age; while twenty-five per cent are under 21.

Prof. McMillen, who made a survey for the children's bureau last year of the transient boys in the southwestern states, and who more recently has been making a similar geographic survey for the Reconstruction Finance corporation stressed the fact that so many of the modern nomads are young men of high school, even college education.

Grace Abbott Adds Plea.

Miss Grace Abbott, head of the children's bureau, maintained that it is a national problem, and should be dealt with nationally, but suggested that the funds be administered through local units with the approval of a federal board.

While it is impossible, Miss Abbott pointed out, to obtain accurate figures on the growth of the army of transients, there are certain figures available which are sign posts. For instance, from Sept. 1, 1931, to April 30, 1932, the Southern Pacific railroad alone ejected 416,915 trespassers from its property.

The boys and men ride the rods, the testimony brought out; some of the boys and the girls [there is an increase in the number of girls] hitchhike; and families jerk from town to town in broken down automobiles, loaded down with babies, children and hope.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Judge Francis Borelli said THE TRIBUNE was in error in saying that he testified that he knew the Public Indemnity company, which signed the bond of Frank Nitti, Capone gangster, was on the blacklist. The term blacklist was not mentioned in the judge's testimony, but he said that he would have accepted the bond even had he known the company signed some bonds on which forfeitures had occurred.

An item yesterday concerning the death of Mrs. Alice E. Crawford, 5514 Blackstone avenue, stated that she was the widow of William Crawford. Mrs. Crawford was the widow of Attorney Charles Henry Crawford.

WIFE'S GUARD, SHOT BY COONS, SUES FOR $50,000

A suit for $50,000 damages was filed in the Superior court yesterday by Humphrey W. Fall, a private detective, against Sanford F. Coons, cosmetic manufacturer. Fall was shot in the leg by Coons last September.

The trouble grew out of a divorce suit filed by Coons' wife, Lillian. She obtained an injunction restraining her husband from visiting their home at 9813 South Winchester avenue. Fall was shot, it was alleged, when he attempted to enforce the injunction and keep Coons out of the house.

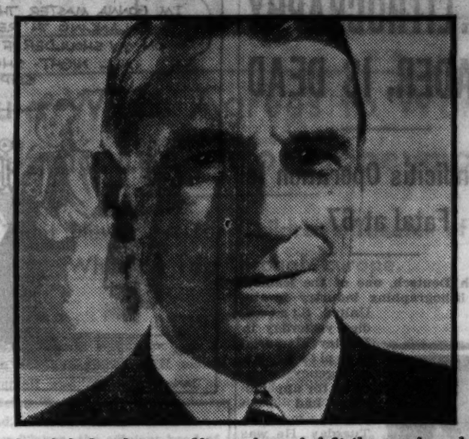

A charge of assault against the manufacturer was dismissed in the Municipal court. A hearing on the divorce case is to be held before Judge James J. Kelly tomorrow. Coons has filed a cross bill in the suit.

PAIN DEADENED CHEST COLDS LOOSENED WITHOUT DRUGS

Get quick relief from neuralgia pain, sciatica pain, neuritis pain, rheumatic pain, lame back, stiff neck, headache, strains and chest colds by rubbing plenty of Baume Bengué (pronounced Ben-Gay) on the spot. It doesn't blister or stain. Rub it in till it sinks down and soothes the pain or breaks up the chest cold. Take no drugs, for any drug that is powerful enough to "deaden" pain or loosen a chest cold may not be good for you.

But beware of imitations. Ask your druggist for Baume Bengué by name (called "Ben-Gay" in English). There are many analgesic baumes, mostly cheap imitations of Ben-Gay made out of synthetic drugs. That is why they are cheap. That is also why they are ineffective. Insist on Ben-Gay and you will get real results.

How Old?

He doesn't look a day over fifty. And feels like forty.

At the age of 62.

When your system is stagnant and you feel sluggish, headachy, half-alive—don't waste money on "tonics" or "regulators" or similar patent medicines. Stimulate the liver and bowels. Use a famous physician's prescription every drug store keeps. Just ask them for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin.

This appetizing syrup is made from fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. One dose will clear up almost any case of headache, biliousness, constipation. But if you want to keep in fine shape, feel fit the year 'round, take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin every few days. You'll eat better, sleep better and feel better in every way. You will never need to take another laxative.

Give the children a little of this delicious syrup two or three times a week. A gentle, natural stimulant that makes them eat and keeps the bowels from clogging. And saves them from so many sick spells and colds.

Have a sound stomach, active liver and strong bowel muscles that expel every bit of waste and poison every day! Just keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin on hand; take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. See if you don't feel new vigor in every way. Syrup pepsin isn't expensive.

AGAIN THE STATLER HOTELS PIONEER

Restaurant Check Room Tips Abolished

Buying a hat is the only installment purchase you never complete. You buy it once from the store and a thousand times from check room attendants. It may be your hat, but it's their meal ticket.

But not in a Statler hotel... Not after today! We've banned gratuities at the check rooms of all our public dining rooms. They're barred—forever!

For years we've been trying to limit hat and coat checking expense and annoyance to our patrons. Years ago we posted signs declaring diners were not expected to tip. That helped a little. Then, for some restaurants, we had chairs constructed to hold hats on the rungs. That helped some more. We put racks inside certain dining rooms. Many guests availed themselves of these and that too helped.

But still a large number continued to pay the hat toll charge. The custom was annoying to our patrons. We disliked it, too. So we decided something conclusive had to be done. Now we've done it. The attendants, hereafter, cannot and will not accept a tip.

You'll acclaim and help us with this reform. We know you will, because you helped us when we banished the tip-soliciting attendants from our wash rooms, and applauded when we barred all surcharges at lobby news stands and cigar stands.

Statler pioneering, Statler leadership is continually blazing new trails to greater comfort, finer service, more perfect economy in hotel living. You know the Statler record... that these hotels were the first to provide a private bath with every room, circulating ice water, a morning newspaper under the door, free radio reception and a dozen other comforts.

You know, too, that the friendly, courteous service you have always received in these hotels has grown out of a genuine desire to make life more pleasant for the guest. This last innovation, the abolition of the hat check tip at restaurant check rooms, is present day proof that our spirit of service marches on.

ARTHUR GARFORD, INDUSTRIALIST, POLITICIAN, DIES

He was president of a $5,000,000 company organized under his direction for the manufacture of bicycle parts here before 1900 and later organized the Garford company to manufacture automobiles and trucks. In 1912 the company's plant was sold to the Willys-Overland company.

E. A. McCULLOCH OF U. S. TRADE BOARD IS DEAD

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Word was received here this afternoon of the death of Commissioner Edgar A. McCulloch of the federal trade commission, who died shortly after noon in St. Louis, where he had gone several weeks ago for treatment for a stomach ailment. He was in his 72d year.

McCulloch, who had been in charge of the commission's sweeping power inquiry, was appointed to the commission in 1927, coming from Arkansas, where he had been a member of the Supreme court for a quarter of a century. He also had been chief justice of the court. He served as chairman of the commission in 1929.

Commissioner McCulloch made his home at the Army and Navy apartments, 820 Connecticut avenue. His wife died two years ago this month.

Four sons survive. They are: Dr. Hugh and Edgar H. McCulloch, St. Louis; Richard, Marianna, Ark., and Ben, San Francisco.

The death of Commissioner McCulloch, who was a Democrat, reduces the commission to three members — two Republicans and a Democrat. There are two vacancies.

GIVE YOUR STOMACH ONE HOUR'S HELP

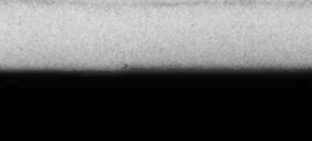

That "lump" you feel an hour or so after eating, is a symptom of slow stomach. This very common condition can be remedied.

Instead of taking soda, or anything else you must take the rest of your life, try some diapepsin. Each tablet saves half an hour's digestion time. If your stomach is one hour slow in emptying, just take two tablets of diapepsin and all that gas, sourness, and distress after meals will be gone.

One box of Pape's Diapepsin will test your stomach and correct your digestion time. Then eat anything you like, and it will digest like crackers and milk! Keep on with diapepsin a few days, until the stomach is doing its work without need of help. When it slows down, take diapepsin again; it's good for the digestive system and can't hurt you.

Pape's Diapepsin may end all your "stomach trouble" and is certainly worth trying!

John McKeown Heads Music Temple Drive

BY EDWARD MOORE.

John McKeown was yesterday made executive director of the campaign for the new Temple of Music on the lake front, and the facts behind his engagement constitute one of the most romantic episodes of that project.

Since the idea was first proposed by Frederick Stock, two of the greatly enthusiastic supporters of the plan have been Mrs. Walter Borden and John Alden Carpenter, whose forthcoming wedding has already been told.

The Friends of Music, now engaged in raising funds for the new music building are pledged to put every dollar of subscription into the structure, and all overhead expense must come from other sources.

Seeing the necessity of an executive chief, Mrs. Borden told some of her friends that the wedding present she would prefer would be the employing of Mr. McKeown as director of the project. As a result, the money that would have been spent on gifts for her will be converted into paying his fee, and he takes charge immediately.

His first contact with the new position occurred yesterday noon at a luncheon at the Chicago club presided over by Russell Tyson and Chauncey McCormick. Before the end of the meeting wholehearted support of the project had been pledged by representatives of Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, the Round Table, the Elks, the Executive club, and other men's organizations.

Plans for the building were submitted at the meeting and largely approved by individual members of the organization. At another meeting later in the afternoon, however, certain points were disapproved, and the decision was made not to release them to public view until a number of changes had been made.

Plans also were announced for a monster dinner to take place at the Drake hotel next Monday night. For one dollar, exactly the cost of a subscription to the Temple of Music, guests will dine, hear plans outlined for music at A Century of Progress, and listen to a program of music played by thirty members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra and conducted by Frederick Stock. The soloists will be Janet Fairbank, soprano; Rudolph Gang, pianist, and if his plans will permit of his being here at that time, Serge Prokofieff, the Russian composer and pianist.

The committee in charge of the dinner consists of Rufus C. Dawes, president, and Charles Peterson, vice president of A Century of Progress; Dr. Allen Albert, representing both the exposition and Rotary, George C. Hager of Rotary, Frank Lynch of the Round Table, Justin McCarthy of the Elks, Frank Weakly of the Executive's club, Henry Dorman of Kiwanis, George F. Killinger of the Lions, and in addition John Alden Carpenter, Harold F. McCormick, Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mrs. Francis Johnson, Russell Tyson, and Chauncey McCormick, chairman.

The old and the young are joining hands in the subscription campaign. At a meeting of the Friends of Music in the Lyon & Healy building, Oak Park, yesterday morning, memberships were taken by Mrs. Eliza Pates, 95 years old, and also by Julia Marcusson, 11.

A window decoration at 28 South Michigan avenue shows an exhibition of prizes for those selling the most subscriptions during the drive. Among other prizes there are round trip tickets to points in distant parts of the country, the cost of which has been met by individual members who are in sympathy with the movement.

Princess Obolensky, Former Alice Astor, Weds Son of Author

New York, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Princess Alice Astor Obolensky, a daughter of John Jacob Astor and sister of Vincent Astor, was married on Saturday in Newark to Raimund von Hofmannstahl, an Austrian and the son of the Viennese dramatist, it became known today.

Police Judge John C. Howe revealed the marriage. He performed the ceremony in his law office and at the couple's request kept it secret over the week-end. A few hours after the marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Von Hofmannstahl sailed for Europe on the Bremen.

Mrs. Von Hofmannstahl is the divorced wife of Prince Serge Obolensky Neledinsky Meletzky. They were married in 1924 and divorced last December in Nevada, the princess charging her husband with cruelty.

On the application for a marriage license, Mrs. Von Hofmannstahl gave her age at 29 and her husband declared 26. He gave his occupation as "author," and told Judge Howe that he intended to follow the footsteps of his father.

Princess Obolensky, the former Alice Muriel Astor, was the daughter of John Jacob Astor, who perished in the sinking of the Titanic, by his first wife, Ava Willing Astor, later Lady Ribblesdale.

On her twenty-first birthday she came into complete possession of a $5,000,000 trust fund bequeathed to her by her father.

Bishop Stewart Will Welcome Oxford Group

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago will welcome 25 representatives of the Oxford group, widely known as Buchmanites, at a meeting at the Drake hotel today. In the group to visit Chicago in a nation-wide tour is the Rev. Dr. Frank N. D. Buchman, founder of the movement.

This religious movement, which is not confined to any one denomination, obtained its widest following among students and faculty members in various colleges of Oxford university. Bishop Stewart pointed out in speaking of his coming appearance before the group that the Buchman movement, known as the Oxford group, should not be confused with the Oxford movement that began just 100 years ago at the same university. He stated that while he would welcome the Buchmanites, he was not giving full approval to the movement.

The visitors will meet the Episcopal clergy of the city at 10:30 o'clock at the Drake hotel and will be presented at a men's church meeting in the hotel at noon and at a woman's meeting at 3 p. m.

It is stated that the methods used by the Oxford groups are best compared to the old fashioned Methodist class meeting which, except in a very few communities, has passed out of existence. Methodism's sensational spread over the English speaking world during its first 150 years is laid very largely to the existence of the class meeting. While the class meetings laid first emphasis on a definite experience they called "conversion," the Buchmanites speak of an equally realistic experience of being "changed."

In the old Methodist class meeting, persons who had experienced conversion would "confess" wrongs in their past lives and relate with vividness how their conversions had come about. In the Oxford groups, there are no "confessions," leaders of the groups say, but the changed members "witness." Their witnessing, however, tells from what they had been changed.

One principal difference between the class meeting and the Oxford groups stands out. The Methodists in the early day were largely the unprivileged and unlearned people, although Methodism's founder, the Rev. John Wesley, was an eminent scholar, and sometime a fellow in Oxford university. The Oxford group, on the other hand, have secured their strongest following among the more highly privileged and wealthy groups. Their meetings are generally known as "house parties," and while on tour the group stops only at the more fashionable hotels.

Among the membership of the group to visit Chicago are Vice Admiral Sidney Drury-Low, R. N., C. M. G., of London; Baroness Lillian Van Heecheren Van Kell de Steeg, Holland; Mr. and Mrs. H. Kenaston Twitchell, Oxford, England, and Malcolm Ross, Keble college, Oxford.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

(Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.)

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

FRATRICIDE.

Apparently the drill had fallen from Tom Boyle's hand when he had become asphyxiated in his garage by monoxide gas. An exhaust whistle found near the body and the new, clean hole drilled in the exhaust pipe were evidences of the work he had been doing just before his death.

Tom's brother, Milton, found the doors and windows of the garage locked and had forced an entrance. After turning off the engine and airing the place he called headquarters.

Sergt. Reynolds, hurrying to the scene, picked up Prof. Fordney on the way.

"He knew better than to close the place up tight with the motor running," exclaimed Milton Boyle as the professor examined the nasty bruise on his brother's temple. "Must have happened when he fell," he continued.

"Sure you didn't touch anything?" demanded Fordney.

"Certainly," with an indignant look.

As Reynolds sketched the scene Fordney examined the car. It looked newly painted but there was a long, fresh scratch on the left front door. Squeezing his way between the bumper and the wall of the garage he placed his hand on the radiator. As he did so Milton watched him with appraising eyes. It was warm, all right.

"No one lies about a crime unless there's a reason, Boyle," he stated quietly. "What is yours? Did you murder him?"

Reynolds stopped dead, lead pencil resting on tongue. "Gosh, professor," he exclaimed with admiration, "you solve a crime before I even get the scene drawn!"

WHY DID FORDNEY SUSPECT THE BROTHER?

A Job a Day

Every little improvement we give our home right now helps us—and the other fellow, too.

Have the dining table wired for electric toasters, percolators, grills—all those step-saving pieces of equipment that add in beauty as well as comfort to meal enjoyment. Under the edge of the table a pair of electric outlets can be set. The wiring circuits can be joined just under the table top and carried down the center pedestal or the inside of one leg to a connection with floor plug or side socket. Of course, careful insulation is always necessary.

Newest Trifles Put Swank in Winter Dress

Stores Show Accessories in Abundance.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The hunt for new costume trifles, the little things that enliven a dark dress, a tailored two piece suit or a winter knitted frock is the hunt that goes on forever.

Prowling shoppers who wander a bit aimlessly are not half as aimless as they appear. If they are watched closely you can see that acquisitive gleam that flames only when "something new" is discovered. Watch them the next few weeks while they shop for such things as scarfs, collars and cuffs, kerchiefs, new gloves, belts, new handbags, and shoes.

Chicago shops are showing plenty of these new things, for instance, scarf collars, some enterprising scarf makers must work overtime to produce such stunning things. One shop is showing a lot of the new bib scarfs, three cornered affairs that tie in a swashbuckling knot at the back with the third point hanging well down in the center of the chest. You can find some extraordinarily different color combinations, good blues, flaming scarlet, a burning orange, some eye blinking greens, and some black and white combines that will make the most casual shopper stop for approving selection.

If you hunt far enough you will be able to find handbags to match some of the scarfs . . . some startling new bags are made of gayly striped woven fabrics with stripes at least two to two and one-half inches in width. Polka dots still splatter themselves merrily over scarfs, handbags, and collars.

Another bright invention in the neckline business is the ascot scarf collar, an arrangement that is, just what it sounds like, a smooth swanky ascot scarf of cheerfully checkered cotton that is a collar from the back to each shoulder seam and then a tie in front . . . practically any and every color, plaid and checked pattern any choosy customer could ever demand is available, and besides being most moderate in price, they are quite the smartest things you can whirl around your winter neckline.

It looks like a good Chicago blizzard in the white pique neckwear sections . . . you will see demure-ish little bows, medium sized bows and perky outsize bows with stiff pointed ends in this popular waled material . . . there is hardly any sort of a daytime or eveing costume that isn't embellished with this modest stuff this year. You can buy the bows and collars and cuffs and plant them on every frock you possess and prove you know your piquant pique fashions.

Later on you will be able to buy colored piques, powder blue, dusty pink and all kinds of canary yellow, red, navy, and black, for these are the contrasting colored accents that the knowing clothes hound will use on the extremely simple daytime cottons for spring and summer.

White organdy is fluttering all over the town, but the new cross barred patterns seem to be grabbed first—with the colored plaids of small design running in second place.

The new blouses with high round Buster Brown like collars have circular sleeves of organdy and are very fetching with slim young black and brown and dark blue dresses made in the rather old-fashioned looking jumper or suspender models.

And some of the most attractive dance dresses are glorified with guimpes of crisp white organdy made with impudently puffed short, short sleeves.

Pamphlets Are Help to Child Study Groups

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

There are many study outlines suggested for parents and parents' groups by organizations and associations of one sort and another. Some of these are excellent; some are too elaborate for the time allowance of mothers who are busy almost all of their waking hours.

For them something rather brief and yet comprehensive is more to be desired. This is not always easy to find. There's this book or that which may deal with a special age or a special subject. But something that gives a rounded picture of the nature and needs of children it is not easy to put one's finger on. In going over the leaflets mentioned yesterday it seemed to me that in many ways they do serve this purpose.

The literature I'm referring to are those leaflets based on the reports of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection. They treat of three aspects of childhood: Personality, growth, and habits. Each subject is treated in a series of five pamphlets of about ten pages each.

The cost is 10 cents a copy for each pamphlet, or $1.25 for the complete set of fifteen. If a group wanted to use them a better price is made for larger quantities upon application. In ordering them write to the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection, Interior building, Washington, D. C.

Further details about the series will be given in this column for the next three days.

Children's Hospital Reports Deficit for 1932 at Meeting

The Children's Memorial hospital operated during 1932 with an increased number of free patients, a decrease of pay and part-pay patients, and closed the year with a deficit, it was made known yesterday at the annual meeting of the auxiliary board.

"The number of free patients increased from 64.7 per cent in 1931 to 71.6 in 1932," the annual report stated, "while the number of pay patients decreased from 1 per cent in 1931 to .7 of one per cent, and part-pay patients decreased from 34.3 in 1931 to 27.7 per cent last year. The deficit is $12,144 despite the fact that the operating cost was $39,083 below the operating cost the preceding year.

"The out-patient department attendance increased from 62,557 clinic visits to 68,330. The staffs of the social service and out-patient departments have carried a burden which even two years ago would have seemed impossible. The clinic capacity is 150 to 175 patients a day. We now have 300 to 340 a day, with no increase in staff. Because of lack of funds the contagious unit of the hospital was closed last August."

Paula Wilms Agrees to Work for Junior League on Honeymoon

BY JUDITH CASS.

PRETTY Paula Wilms took on a job yesterday and when she goes abroad on her honeymoon next month she will have more to do than enjoy herself and meet her new husband's family, for she promised Miss Helen Tieken that she would try and find some new children's plays in England, France, and Germany for the Junior league's Children's theater.

Miss Tieken, the efficient head of the theater for three years, has resigned that job to take on one at A Century of Progress, where she is doing part of Edwin Winter's work—he is ill at the Passavant hospital—but she still is so interested in the theater that when she heard Miss Wilms telling about her plans Miss Tieken wheedled the promise out of the bride-to-be right there and then.

Miss Wilms and Malcolm Henderson, the young British vice consul, are to be married on Feb. 23, very quietly, by the Rev. Dr. Duncan Browne at his residence, with only the bride's father, William Wilms, and her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Paepcke Wilms, as witnesses. Mr. Henderson and his bride will sail "in" the Majestic, which Miss Wilms says her English fiancé says instead of "on," on the 25th to visit his parents, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Kenneth Henderson, in West Horsley, Surrey, England, after which they will tour France and Germany, returning to Chicago after a 6 weeks' trip.

They have taken an apartment at 70 East Walton place and yesterday Miss Wilms was full of excitement about plans for decorating it, for she had just come from a tour of inspection of the apartment with her uncle's wife, Mrs. Walter Paepcke, who is going to help her with the decorations. Mr. Wilms is going to give a reception for his new son-in-law and daughter after they return, for there will be no reception following the wedding ceremony.

Tea for Fair Committee.

Miss Tieken and Miss Wilms were among the guests yesterday at a delightful tea party given by the board of managers of the Junior league in the charming red and ivory living room of the league's quarters in the Italian court for the members who are working in connection with the Enchanted Island of A Century of Progress.

Receiving were Miss Margot Atkin, the president; Miss Tieken, Miss Dorothy Schmidt, chairman of the league's Century of Progress committee in charge of the production of the league's plays on the Enchanted Island, and Miss Elaine Blackman, business manager of the productions. Pouring at the smart black tea table, which was uncovered and which was ornamented with an ivory bowl of red and white carnations and two five-branched candelabra holding ivory candles, were Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer and Mrs. Alfred Wolfe.

Mrs. Cramer did the research work for an interesting and cultural map of Chicago which Miss Isabel Bates drew and which is hanging on the wall in the office and was generally admired yesterday by those who took off their coats in this little room.

Red geraniums, they must be artificial, for no real ones would grow on a radiator, in ivory pots, are an attractive note in the living room decorative scheme, and it was hard to decide whether they were more effective against the background of the window before the red satin draperies were pulled across, or afterwards. But gay and effective they were both ways.

Busy on Pageant of Transportation.

Miss Tieken is in charge of the transportation pageant which is to be staged in an outdoor stadium opposite the Travel and Transportation building at the fair, and it was fascinating to hear her tell about the vehicles that are to be used. She also is booking additional attractions for the children's theater on the Enchanted Island, so she is a very busy young woman. The league is to produce its plays three times a week during May, June, July, and October, but the theater is to be open all the time with almost continuous entertainments, so there will be many other productions in it.

Some of the others who were at the tea were Mrs. Nathaniel Owings, the busy amateur press agent for the Enchanted Island; Miss Adelaide Atkin, Miss Beatrice Borland, one of the speakers who are publicizing the island and who told yesterday of sitting down in a bus the other day and of wondering what was wrong with her, her little neighbor stared so, until the child said, "I know you; you spoke at our school the other day"; Miss Harriet Borland, Miss Dorothy Dewes, Mrs. John I. Shaw, Mrs. John J. Finlay, Miss Alice Dickinson, Miss Gloria Chandler, Mrs. Norman Pritchard, Miss Margaret Sinclair, Mrs. Carleton Scribner, Miss Helen Bell, and Mrs. Walter F. McLallen.

Name Wrigley Baby For His Grandfather

Mr. and Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley had no difficulty in deciding upon the name for the son born to them last Saturday at the Chicago Memorial hospital. The baby is to be named for his paternal grandfather, the late William Wrigley Jr., and the news of his arrival was wired at once to Mrs. William Wrigley, who is spending the winter at her estate in Phoenix.

The Philip Wrigleys have two older children, Ada Blanche, age 9, and Dorothy, who is 7 years old. The new baby's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bert L. Atwater, whose younger daughter, Olive, was married last Wednesday to George F. Getz Jr.

Colin Leiter Campbell and his bride the former Mrs. Elizabeth Cook Lynch of Tulsa, Okla., have arrived for a visit with Mr. Campbell's aunt, Mrs. Joseph Leiter of 44 Banks street. The Campbells' future residence has not been decided on, but it is likely that they will spend at least a part of every year here. Their marriage took place on Dec. 5 in Tulsa. Mr. Campbell's sister, Miss Audrey Campbell returned last week from Aiken.

Sydney Heaps Land in New York

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney H. Heap (the former Virginia Skinkle) landed in New York yesterday from their honeymoon in England and probably will spend a few days in the east before coming on to Chicago, as Mr. Heap is not due back at his office until the first of next month.

The Heaps, who were married on Nov. 12, have written Mrs. Skinkle enthusiastic letters about their reception and entertainment in England by Mr. Heap's parents, the Sydney R. Heaps, and all of his other relatives and friends there.

On Dec. 1 the senior Mrs. Heap gave a large reception for her son and new daughter-in-law and at another family party the former Miss Skinkle donned her wedding gown and veil and she and her husband went through a mock ceremony to the accompaniment of a wedding march and cut a bridal cake for their English relations.

Most of their time was spent at the Heaps' country estate, Mellington hall, located about 45 miles outside of London, and at the country estate of other relatives of the Heaps. They did a lot of hunting and attended several colorful hunt balls and shooting parties.

After their return to Chicago Mr. and Mrs. Heap will reside at a hotel until they locate an apartment in which their furniture and wedding gifts—they are bringing home a lot of presents from England—will be installed.

Donald French Leaves Hospital

Donald French, who had an automobile accident as he drove home from Miss Jean Dorothy McVoy's debut ball at the Blackstone hotel on Dec. 22, has recovered from his injuries sufficiently to leave the Passavant hospital and is completing his convalescence at the residence of his mother, Mrs. George T. French, in Winnetka.

Mrs. French's sister, Miss Isobel Gillespie, who has spent the early winter in Winnetka, is now at the Knickerbocker hotel in town.

A year in Munich is in store for Miss Katharine Leslie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Leslie of Evanston, who plans to sail for Europe the middle of April. Miss Leslie studied at Les Fougeres in Switzerland and later spent three years at Vassar. This winter she has joined the ranks of the employed, doing part time work for the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. McLeish Day of Winnetka has gone west to spend several weeks with

"Album" Recalls Romantic Custom of Earlier Days

Album

BY NANCY CABOT.

Dating from the time when quilts were necesary as well as decorative, the "Album" design, sketched herewith, is an amusing commentary on romantic customs of the good old days.

In every girl's hope chest, if she did not care to be considered shiftless, quilts were to be found. Following the announcement of an engagement, friends of the bride-to-be called at her home to make the "Album." Each girl sewed a block of the quilt, stitching her name in the center block. The blocks were joined and the rest of the day was spent in quilting; later there was supper, followed by merriment in which the menfolk joined.

FOLLY ISLAND

By Wallace Irwin

SYNOPSIS.

Bart Burgess is marooned in a catboat on Peconic bay, fifty miles from his Long Island home in Wyattville. His companion, Ingalls Frederick Warren, spoiled child of a new made fortune, known as "Nosey Ingy," rows to town for a carpenter. A girl in a canoe invites Bart over to her family's island, but her small brother says their mother would have a fit. Bart senses a family secret. Ingy sends help and taxies home. Bart learns that the Bayleys have lived on the island fifteen years, but don't mix. The father travels. He invites the girl, Alice, to visit him in Wyattville. Less than a week later Trevor Burgess, Bart's father, dies suddenly from a heart attack. Bart finds himself the head of the house with his invalid mother to care for. Shortly after the funeral, Lora Sackett, distant relative and recent divorcée, calls on Bart. The family lawyer gives Bart a letter left for him by his father.

INSTALLMENT VIII.

A WRITTEN CONFESSION.

Dumbly Bart stood, turning the envelope over. "For Barton L. Burgess" was written across it in his father's script. "Not to be opened until after my death."

The envelope, unopened, was still in his hand. He should have gone to see his mother, as he usually did when she was dining off a tray. Instead he went up to his room, turned on the lights, closed the old fashioned shutters over the windows. He sat at his desk and was all too methodical. Shaking the large envelope he saw two smaller ones, each weighted with something, thump down on the blotter. And again in Trevor Burgess' handwriting, "Key and order to Port England bank," one said, and the other, "Key and order to Bankers' Trust company."

He had never thought of her as of any age in particular; certainly she wasn't old, and her slight figure had always given her a girlish look.

Minor puzzles these. Bart unfolded two sheets of closely written script which required close examination because the writing was so crooked and crazy:

My Dear Son: Don't read beyond this paragraph unless you feel the utmost loyalty to me and your mother. What I'm asking won't be easy. I make no excuses for myself. . . .

Bart was unsettled by the feeling of a presence in the room. Over there was the rocker where his father used to sit when he dropped in at bedtime with wise advice and funny stories. Then he read on:

In the New York bank is the deed to a parcel of property which is yours in strict confidence. In my deposit box at Port England are two packages of Liberty bonds which you will dispose of according to my wish.

But I want to tell you, without reserve, the circumstances. The property I am giving you I acquired many years ago, before it had any great value, as a hunting and fishing preserve. Perhaps you recall my occasional wish for solitude. God will believe me when I say that this was all I asked, at first. Silence and a space to think things out in. I was very ambitious then.

And what had Mr. McClellan said about dad's arrested ambitions? Now again the letter:

It is years too late to right the wrong I have done your mother. But in my heart I feel another grave responsibility. Many years ago, when I only wanted to be alone to hunt and fish, I found a lovely woman living on my preserve. She was a refugee from fate. Your mother and I—let me only say that there come domestic crises when husband and wife can be very far apart. I saw a great deal of this other woman, and finally married her.

What was this that Trevor Burgess' crooked script was shouting in the voice of a madman? A lovely woman . . . refugee from fate . . . married her. Somebody else, some devil, stealing dad's handwriting . . .

I can only entrust this work to you, because the secret must not leave our family. As you value your mother's life, the truth must be kept from her always. This will give you a shock, but you are strong. And in the light of justice the other woman is also my wife, and her children mine.

I have left these arrangements to you. In the Bankers' Trust there is your deed to this property, lying about a mile off Port England, and called Folly island. . . .

Folly island. An amethystine mound, rising out of the inlet. Yes, that was it. No use to think of anything else now. Bart's eyes went plunging through the written confession like wild animals through a burning forest.

In the Port England National bank two packets of Liberty bonds, in the following sums: $250,000 to be given to the wife who married me in the belief that my name was Matthew Bayley; $100,000 which you are to hold in trust, to dispose of as you see fit for the education of the oldest child, Alice,

A blurr of instructions swimming dizzily under Bart's gaze, but he read to the end.

When you refer to my business, mention me as a traveling representative of Ryan & Wheeler, contractors. There is, I believe, no such firm.

Use all your discretion to conceal my identity. Do this, if not for my sake, then for your mother's.

That was all except for the initials, straight and firm this time, as though asking no pardon for an unpardonable sin.

Bart's hand did not tremble as he lit a match and touched it to a corner of the folded paper. When it had burned itself to death on an ash tray he rose and switched off the lights. Darkness would shield him for a while against shame and tragedy. His father, Trevor Burgess, the perfect citizen who had refused to enter national politics. Why? Because he had feared the light.

A wife and children on Folly island. Ah, and the girl with the aquamarine eyes, Alice Bayley. What a ghastly trap nature had set for her and Bart that day. What wild thoughts had burned in both their hearts as they had lain together, eye to eye, speaking dangerously of themselves and what they would choose from life. Yes, that filthy letter had told it plainly enough. Alice was Bart's sister. . . .

His fingers locked in his hair, he crouched in darkness, groaning, making no attempt to think it out, but only feeling the sting of his disgrace. The woman who dared call herself Mrs. Bayley. Her very existence was an insult to Bart's mother. And the family pride, poor, daubed and tattered thing. Trevor Burgess, who had ornamented Wyattville so many years, attended church, led charitable movements, donated stained glass windows—and what had he been all his life? Attractive, cheerful hypocrite. At any moment a sheriff might have touched him on the shoulder, taken him to trial for common bigamy.

Yes, and what ingenious, black cruelty lay in every word of that letter. Bart Burgess, of all the people in the world, must be responsible for the comfort of the Bayley family. And Alice. Surely he could never look her in the face again. The night was telling him all this as he sat like a stone, a Hamlet, faced by a deathly problem of another's making, but his to unravel.

Down the corridor he saw a square of light shed through an open door. Heavily his feet approached it, then he halted outside, dreading to go in. "Barton," he heard his mother's thin voice calling, so he braced himself and entered.

He had never thought of her as of any age in particular; certainly she wasn't old, and her slight figure had always given her a girlish look. But as he saw her now, half sitting up in bed, framed in lacy pillows, he marked the worn lines in her little face, the shadows under her eyes.

Perplexities of Kitchen Topic of Food Editor

BY MARY MEADE.

So many folk are having kitchen perplexities this week that it won't do to let them all stack up for Saturday. And by the way we like questions, both because our answers for them can help you and because often a trouble of yours will give us just the correct inspiration for a day's column.

First, on the subject of capers. These small greenish flower buds grow on a European shrub and are pickled and packed for use in salads and sauces. Mrs. C. R. H. writes: "The capers I bought are covered with white spots. The clerk said it was caused by changes of temperature. The capers were quite soft. Should the outer leaves be removed before using?"

Unless the appearance of the capers is disagreeable there is no reason why you should not use the capers. They are preserved in vinegar and if they have been kept covered with it and sealed the change of color does not indicate spoilage, though I am not familiar with such spots being produced by temperature changes. Many times capers are soft by the time they reach the consumer, but are nevertheless good. No, the outer leaves do not need to be removed.

More cake troubles—this one from Mrs. H.: "Every sponge cake recipe I try," she writes, "has a sticky top layer about one-fourth inch thick. Under that the cake is fine. I follow directions very carefully."

It is a bit hard to say what the trouble might be, Mrs. H. Usually sticky crusts come from too much sugar in the recipe. They may also come from damp flour. Try sifting the flour you use five or six times in front of the open door of a heated oven. Then, too, a sticky top may be caused by insufficient baking. I wonder if you are not perhaps mistaken in the degree of your oven heat. A slow oven (325 degrees F.) is required for about 45 minutes, or until the cake is done, has ceased to sing, has drawn somewhat away from the sides of the pan, and when touched springs back at once. If you are using a regulated oven test it with a dependable portable thermometer. I wonder if in inverting your cake you are holding steam under it? Probably not. I am sending you one of my own sponge cake recipes which may bring you better luck.

Next, "What about onion salt?" asks Miss H. B. N. "Is it made from real onions?" And the answer is, yes. Onion salt is a flavoring excellent for meat and vegetable dishes and is made of onions which have been dried, then ground fine, and blended with salt. There is really quite a small percentage of salt to the amount of onion. I've found that onion salt saves many a weapy ordeal in cutting.

Next for a contribution from Mrs. D. J. S., who read recently in the column about Miss L. S.'s research for baked corn beef. For twenty-five sandwiches Mrs. S. buys seven pounds of brisket corn beef, parbolls it about three and one-half hours, and then removes it from the water. To bake the corn beef she advises first sear it across the fat in diamond shapes just as you would in preparing a ham for baking. Next sprinkle with brown sugar and dot with cloves. Bake about one and one-half hours in a slow oven (300 degrees F.), basting once in a while with the juices in the pan. Mrs. S. sometimes bastes with pineapple juice and sometimes with cider and recommends both flavors as great appetite rousers.

Then a last question from Mrs. K. D. R., who asks: "Why are metal skewers used in cooking meat?"

Metal skewers, as they are commonly used, are not intended as a means of holding the meat together, but rather as a way of hurrying up the cooking and reducing the loss of juices. And this is the way they do it. Metals conduct heat speedily while muscle fibers carry it but slowly. Usually the skewers are made with a thin pointed rod the size of a pencil which is inserted into thick roasts. The outer end, which stays outside the meat, may be in spiral form or made in a series of discs. The object is to absorb as much heat as possible from the hot oven and carry it through the metal into the heart of the meat. Experiments have shown that the speed of roasting can be increased 30 to 45 per cent when skewers are used as compared with the cooking of meat without skewers.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. John W. Herbert, who arrived on the Manhattan, is at the St. Regis for a few days before going to Augusta, Ga. to join Mr. Herbert at Salubrity Hall, their winter residence.

Mr. and Mrs. David T. Dana returned to the Ambassador from their country home at Lenox, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Fish Armstrong gave a dinner this evening at their residence, 14 East 81st Street.

'Babe' Herman Takes Role in Baseball Film

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 23.—Floyd (Babe) Herman, Chicago Cub outfielder; Walter Berger of the Boston Braves; Irving (Cotton) Warburton, little quarter back of last autumn's University of Southern California football team, and Mike Frankovich, pass throwing quarter back at the University of California at Los Angeles, are among the horde of past and present athletic stars playing with Joe E. Brown in the latter's version of Ring Lardner's baseball story, "Elmer the Great."

They couldn't find Frankovich, who is a special protégé of Brown's, when time came to shoot a scene, so they went ahead without him. In the middle of the scene the sound track was ruined by sudden snores and, tracing them to point of origin, Frankovich was found asleep on one of the beds brought in for the later apartment boudoir scene.

Joe E. Brown has all but adopted Frankovich. The young Slav collegian occupied quarters at Brown's home for years and when Frankovich's team recently went to Florida to play the University of Florida Brown went along as the life (and Cresus) of the party of young athletes.

In fact, the comedian was so much the life of the party that there were mutterings when the U. C. L. A. team and Brown returned on their special car to Los Angeles after losing the football game to the rival climate college that Frankovich's teammates had been "over-entertained."

Three names that conjure recollection of past eminence are announced in the cast of a Masquers' club comedy started today at RKO. Reginald Denny, Richard Carle, and Laura La Plante are playing in it. So is Helen Bolton. The comedy is laid in London's Limehouse.

George MacQuarrie, Broadway character actor, who arrived here shortly after the holidays to pay a short visit to his wife, Helen MacKellar, was seized by the movie scouts and, after a short character part at another studio is now playing a rôle in one of the final sequences of Radio's "King Kong."

Gregory Ratoff ordered mush and milk at the RKO studio restaurant today for lunch. Said he was in an old man's makeup and wanted to keep the mood.

One reason for the continued absence of Irving Thalberg, Norma Shearer's husband, from his duties as producer at MGM is because Thalberg's physicians decreed an extra long rest period for him after his December flu attack in order to guard Thalberg's heart.

George Raft will be doing double shifts this week. He's already playing with Sylvia Sidney in "Pick Up" at Paramount and he's going right ahead with a featured rôle in "Temple Drake," which he was reported to have withdrawn from at the same studio.

SCRUBBING TOILETS?

OF COURSE toilets must be clean! Stains are ugly. Odors are objectionable. But you need not scrub. Use Sani-Flush and toilets will glisten like new. Dirt or smells can't stay where Sani-Flush is.

Just sprinkle a little Sani-Flush in the bowl. (Follow directions on the can.) Flush the toilet. And that's all! Germs and odors are killed. The hidden trap that a brush can't reach is purified! Sani-Flush can't harm plumbing.

At grocery, drug and hardware stores, 25c. (Another use for Sani-Flush—cleaning automobile radiators. See directions on can.)

her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. G. Billings, in Montecito. Mr. and Mrs. Billings have just returned to their Montecito residence after a visit to La Quinta on the desert.

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Dean Bevan of 1550 State parkway have arrived at the Huntington hotel in Pasadena to spend the balance of the winter.

Drama League Cabaret Party

Serious theatricals held second place to a Spanish portrait caricaturist and a Punch and Judy show last night for Chicago Drama league members. Three hundred patrons of the theater with their guests gathered shortly after 7 o'clock at the Drake hotel for the first cabaret party of the league and danced until well after midnight.

Mrs. Charles A. Hough, president of the league, wearing white crepe embroidered in sequins, introduced the performers. Charming Ethel Dixon, in spite of a cold, brought a round of applause with two ballet numbers.

Miss Georgia Jesseph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Jesseph, danced a semi-classical number to Schumann's "Soaring" and an encore to a Chopin prelude, and Julio Diego roamed the audience making caricatures.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Foster are livening up this drab month, when every one is running off to the south or west, or wishing they were, with a dinner party this evening at their town apartment, 1512 North Dearborn parkway. "It's small, very small," Mrs. Foster said in speaking of the plans.

Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, president of the woman's board of Grant hospital, is opening her residence at 1455 State parkway tomorrow morning for the annual meeting of the board.

Mrs. Hugo Simon, wife of the German consul-general, will be hostess at a tea tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at her residence, 433 Barry avenue, for the committee in charge of the inaugural dinner to be given by the Carl Schurz Memorial Foundation on Feb. 1 at the Palmer house.

Mrs. Cragg to Lead Causerie.

Mrs. George L. Cragg will be in charge of a French causerie for members of the Alliance Française Thursday afternoon in the clubrooms in the Fine Arts building. Miss Margaret West will assist.

Mrs. William L. Hodgkins, president of the Chicago Y. W. C. A., has sent out invitations to a luncheon for Miss Ruth Woodsmall of New York to be given next Monday at the Harriet Hammond McCormick memorial. Miss Woodsmall, associate director of the foreign division of the National Y. W. C. A., was formerly the executive of the Y. W. C. A. in the near east with headquarters in Constantinople. She is to give several talks at "Y" branches during her stay in Chicago.

Feb. 22 is the date of the dancing and bridge party the Army Relief society will give in the Army and Navy club's quarters in the Lake Shore Athletic club instead of tomorrow, as announced in yesterday's paper. Mrs. William C. Hubbard is the head of the club.

The Country club of Evanston announces an ice carnival as part of an "open house" party on Friday evening. The entertainment committee says it is to be a costume affair and suggests that the members wear "bright colored sweaters, caps, pantaloons, or hard times costumes, ancestral raiment, overalls, togas, lumber jackets, pajamas, or what have you. Umbrellas especially recommended."

For those who prefer not to skate there will be dancing, bridge, and ping-pong inside.

Pola Negri in Seclusion While on Visit to City

Wearing dark glasses and inclined to shy away from contact with the public in general, Pola Negri registered last night at the Drake hotel. To reporters who made inquiry as to her plans, Miss Negri sent word that she had been taking a cure and that she was on her way east to sail for France for a visit with her mother. She will return to Hollywood the latter part of April, her spokesman said, and will make a picture from a story by Zola.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover had luncheon today with Mrs. Adams, wife of the secretary of the navy, whose guests included the wives of the other cabinet members. It is not often that the cabinet hostesses are all in town and able to meet together. They will begin their Wednesday afternoon receptions next week and they expect to be "at home" through February.

The Austrian minister and Mme. Prochnik were joined today at the legation by their elder daughter, Mrs. Francis Le Compte Spaulding, wife of the American vice consul at the Canal Zone, who came up from Panama to spend two months.

The Netherlands minister, J. H. Van Royen, went to Philadelphia today to be the guest at the annual dinner of the Netherlands society tonight.

Representative Elect Mrs. Virginia Jenckes of Indiana was the guest at the weekly forum luncheon today of the Women's National Democratic club.

Mme. Helen Dupuy of Paris, accompanied by her son, Jean Dupuy, is in Washington this week. They are accompanied by Viscount De Bonchamps. Mme. Dupuy is now carrying on as editor and publisher of her late husband's newspapers in France.

WEDDING

The marriage of Miss Alice Elisabeth Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Williams of 3100 Sheridan road, to Arthur Monroe Moody Jr. of New York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Monroe Moody of Boston, was solemnized at 3:30 o'clock last night at the Wellington Avenue Congregational church.

Miss Dorothy Raush of Bloomington, Ill., was maid of honor for Miss Williams and the bridesmaids were Miss Susan Comfort of Haversport, Pa.; Miss Josephine Arnold, Miss Virginia Lutzenkirchen, and Miss Harriet Neile of Chicago. Walter C. Crawford of New York was best man and the ushers were Robert Speil, Joseph Nolan, William Meany of New York, and the bride's brother, Lucian Williams. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the Williams residence.

Since her graduation from Connecticut college in 1929 Miss Williams has been active in social service work. Her father is a former judge of the Circuit court. Mr. Moody is a graduate of the Yale class of 1929.

Herbert Bradleys to Entertain Guests at 2 African Dinners

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

ONE young matron who has been invited to the jungle dinner the Herbert E. Bradleys are giving Friday evening at their penthouse apartment at 5344 Hyde Park boulevard is wondering whether she'll eat bananas with an elephant tusk or crocodile steak with the horn of an antelope.

There's nothing livelier on this week's social calendar than the two dinner parties the Bradleys, who trade a caligraph for a gun with so much ease, are having tonight and Friday evening. Samuel Harper, the son of the first president of the University of Chicago, will have the place of honor at tonight's party and recount some of his recent experiences in the late land of the czars.

On Friday evening the Bradleys will do their own entertaining with such commonplaces as hunting elephants, chatting with cannibals, and meeting an African chieftain with his five courteous, modest, but scantily attired wives.

"Both of the parties are to be quite small and terribly informal," Mrs. Bradley explained yesterday with her usual enthusiasm. "That's why I'm keeping the guest list private, friends who I know want to meet Prof. Harper and another group that will like some of the unexpurgated films of our last African trip.

"There is, however, always a thrill for me in calling up friends for the simplest party," she continued. "We were away for so long, six months, in fact, without any sort of communication with the outside world, that it still seems good just to be able to go to the phone and get some one on the other end of the wire."

Blazing logs in the big open grate at one end of the Bradleys' trophy room will furnish the only illumination for the long table at which the guests will gather Friday evening. This room is always the setting for their African dinners, for it provides such perfect jungle atmosphere with all of its water buffalo hides, tiger heads, zebra skins, and antelope horns.

There's a pile of elephant tusks in one corner and the floor uses lion and leopard skins for covering. Even the chairs and divans are of woods found only in the African jungles.

For a table cloth Friday night Mrs. Bradley will use long runners—and place doilies, too—of native bark cloth, quite a departure from the usual linens and laces! And for decoration there will be bowls of tropical fruit, carved ivories, oddments of native jewelry, and strange little witch charms that some guests will undoubtedly want to pocket.

All of this represents the many months the Bradleys have spent in the Ituri forests, in the Nameless mountains, and other parts of darkest Africa. And the movies they will run off after dinner will portray some of their more intimate experiences in the jungle—how elephants swished by them in the middle of the night, for instance, or again how their daughter Alice, who has accompanied them on both their expeditions, had to put her doll to sleep at least a thousand times for the amusement of the great stalwart chiefs.

Mrs. Bradley explains that it was Sunday school that first made her think of Africa. "When I used to sing—a little off key—'Where Africa's sunny fountains roll down their golden sands,' I felt the lure of far horizons and often wondered if the life of a missionary didn't have its compensations in its thrilling contacts with cannibals and crocodiles," she explains.

The dinner Friday is only the first of several African parties the Bradleys expect to give the next month or two. And then, too, they hope to find time to go to Virginia or perhaps as far south as Miami for a short midwinter vacation.

Society, Film Stars Select Same Clothes

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The movie idea of the society woman is getting closer and closer to reality. Girls who hail from the farms of Iowa or the wilderness of the Bronx when they become Hollywood queens and come to Paris to pick their clothes are proving that they have the same taste [with a capital T] as the pampered pets of the French four hundred.

They choose, with an unerring eye, the same clothes that have been selected by Frenchwomen celebrated for their chic.

The Schiaparelli frock, shown today, is an outfit that is being worn simultaneously by Joan Crawford, whom you all know, and by Mme. de Gainza, whose Parisian chic is known and admired in every corner of Paris.

The jacket of this ensemble you have seen before, if you're faithful to THE TRIBUNE fashions, and we hope you are. It is made of a heavily quilted amethyst colored silk printed with gray leaves and is smart because it looks too big, with its over large shoulder line and bulky sleeves, which contrast smartly with the nipped in buttoned waistline.

THE STAGE

The American Theater society announces that its booking of "Mademoiselle," with Grace George and Alice Brady as co-stars, for a three weeks' engagement at the Erlanger theater beginning Feb. 6, has been canceled. This play will close its tour in Boston Feb. 4.

The society owes its subscribers one more play this season, but is not able at present to name it. Its tentative plan for a spring series of five additional plays has been abandoned.

"Blossom Time," which will begin a two weeks' engagement at the Grand Opera house next Sunday night, will follow the example of "The Cat and the Fiddle," at the Apollo theater, by reducing its prices. This adoption of the $2 box office scale by elaborately staged musical shows marks a return to the customs of 1900.

A dramatization of Mark Twain's "Tom Sawyer" will be the next offering in the series of children's plays at the Goodman theater. Saturday afternoon performances are scheduled during the next month. . . . Anton Chekov's drama, "The Three Sisters," will be the next production by the senior students of the Goodman theater's school of acting. It will be staged for evening performances on Feb. 6, 7, 8, and 9, with matinées on Feb. 9 and 10. C. C.

Girl Keeps Her Mate Guessing ---Claims It Pays

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"All men seem to admire a touch of the devil in a woman! It keeps them guessing, excited—and thrilled!"

So says "Eloise." But we'll have to hear from the men themselves on the subject.

So, how about it, gentlemen? Want to be kept guessing, excited—and thrilled by a bit of the demon in the little woman? Or does the ardor apply only until the "street car is caught," so to speak?

We fancy we hear echoes of "O, Lord deliver us!" from certain quarters where there's a nice, healthy old fashioned taste for peace and quiet. Again, we hear it said with a groan from quarters where there's too much of the Old Nick already for domestic joy.

But that doesn't need to stop us from hearing "Eloise" out. She claims to be practising what she advises and has seven years of marriage already to prove its worth.

"Say what you will," she continues, "it's the girl who keeps her man wondering what's coming next that gets the breaks. I've been married seven years and my husband is still trying to get acquainted with me.

"He had a little list of rules made up for the girl he was going to marry. She'd do this, and she wouldn't do that. She'd be this, and she wouldn't be so. I wasn't any of them and I've never tried very hard to be. His wife wasn't going to smoke. His wife does if and when she wants to. That's a lot sometimes—and then, again, she doesn't touch a cigaret for months. His wife wasn't going to drink. His wife doesn't, but solely because she doesn't want to . . . . .

"Anyway, I say it isn't so much what a woman does as how she does it so long as she sticks to her type and always gives the impression that she is holding back a little. Cooperating with your husband is necessary, of course—and trying to fit into his mood is another secret worth knowing."

And we would say in conclusion that if a woman would cooperate with her husband and try to fit into his moods—maybe he wouldn't mind her bragging about having a bit of the devil in her.

Hot Oil Treatments Rid the Blonde Head of Reddish Tints

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The blonds who are blond by artifice rather than by nature are doing some worrying these days. They're not content with the shades the hair has developed. And money isn't so free for the frequent touch up needed.

A certain reddish cast frequently appears on the bleached hair and it does not "sit well" with the fair ones. Hairdressers tell me this cast is regretted generally; that ash, drab or very white blond is preferred.

The girls who've had their hair bleached from medium or dark locks suffer the reddish cast along with uneven splotches of coloring toward the roots of the hair. The better hairdressers are urging the dark and brownhaired ones who insist upon a change of hair coloring not to go blonder than a golden shade; to preserve some of the natural reddish tints. But ash and drab blonds also suffer a reddish cast because of the use of ammonia, part of the bleaching process.

For this and other streaked effects in bleached hair apparently nothing better is to be found than reconditioning with hot oil treatments. All bleached hair requires this treatment to restore its elasticity since bleaching does take the vitality out of the hair.

In removing streaks and tints it is not too much to have two oil treatments a week. It hastens the results wanted. For general upkeep of hair and color a treatment once a week or every ten days is advised. These precede shampoos, of course.

Where the reddish tint or other color streaks appear it may be necessary to take another bleach, but no ammonia should be used. Just the peroxide or one of the lightest shades of liquid peroxide dyes, diluted with 75 per cent water.

Another happy emergency to do away with the streaked hair is the drab rinse you can get and which serves until the new hair grows out.

Memorial Drive to Be Named for Wife of First Governor

The driveway from Leif Ericson drive to the Adler planetarium on Northerly island is to be dedicated as a memorial driveway to honor the women of the state, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Paul J. Wimsey, 7020 Jeffery avenue, chairman of the Illinois Women's memorial. The dedication will take place on Illinois State day at A Century of Progress.

"To symbolize the courage and character of the typical women of today, as well as of all time, the name of a pioneer woman has been chosen as the name of the drive," Mrs. Wimsey said. "It is to be called Achsah Bond drive as a tribute to Mrs. Shadrack Bond, the wife of the first governor of the state.

"When Shadrack Bond went to Washington as a delegate to congress from the territory of Illinois, in the year 1812, Mrs. Bond sheared sheep, washed, carded, and spun the wool, wove it into broadcloth and made the suit of clothing he wore on the trip. Mrs. Bond accompanied her husband from Kaskaskia, Ill., making the trip on horseback, and he obtained the charter for the state of Illinois. Since that time women have continued to display the sterling qualities of the pioneer. The first association of women of Illinois was known as the 'Ladies' Education society' of Jacksonville, organized in 1833, for the purpose of helping girls obtain an education."

"MAGNETIC SUDS" MAKE CLOTHES LAST 2 or 3 TIMES LONGER

SCIENCE now explains why clothes last 2 or 3 times longer and come 4 or 5 shades whiter when washed in Rinso suds.

The reason is that Rinso suds have a magnet-like power which gently draws out even the most ground-in dirt. When clothes are soaked in Rinso suds, every particle of dirt and grease is completely surrounded by a soapy film—loosened from the fabric—and drawn away as though by tiny invisible magnets.

As a result, not even the smallest speck of dirt can escape. Clothes come from a Rinso soaking clean as new—so white and fresh, boiling would be a waste of time and effort.

Clothes last longer because they are spared the wear and tear of washboard scrubbing. Colors stay bright and clear. This way more than doubles the life of clothes and household linens.

Cup for cup, Rinso gives twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps. The home-making experts of 316 leading newspapers—the makers of 40 famous washing machines—recommend it. Millions use these "magnetic suds" for dishes and all cleaning—it's so easy on the hands. No wonder Rinso is the biggest-selling package soap in America.

Try Rinso Free

If you never have tried Rinso, send a clipping of this offer with your name and address to Lever Brothers Co., Dept. C 35, Cambridge, Mass. A full-sized package will be sent you without cost.

SISTER, IF YOU WANT TO KEEP THIN, HERE'S HOW

Just Watch a Boxer Melt Away.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 23.—I trust that I will not be considered fresh when I propose that some of our lady citizens, who are packing more heft than their framework calls for, might go to the vulgar prize fighter, consider his ways, and be wise and save money.

It is no feat at all for a pugilist to get quit of from five to fifteen pounds of padding in a few days and remain strong enough to fight ten or fifteen rounts. However, there is usually an absolutely compelling motive, consisting of weight forfeit, to keep them to their regimen.

A prize fighter's will power is not any stronger than that of a suburban lady with a son in the state university, a daughter in second year high, and a recurrent weakness for marshmallow salads and layer cake, but when a young man is given to understand that he must take off a certain amount of weight in a given time or forfeit from $150 to $3,000 of his own personal money his determination is fortified to a remarkable degree.

Dieting Becomes Easy.

He finds that he can live on hay, air, and imagination for sustained periods, meanwhile subjecting himself to certain routine treatments which seldom vary. He takes his exercise to start a moisture on his body and then either rolls up in layers of heavy blankets, with bath towels around his head, or climbs into a hotbox and sits with the light bulbs melting him away from himself.

His trainer will spank him briskly on his more lumpy portions, but this seems to be only a picturesque affectation, a flourish like the rhythm and snap of the shoe rag in the hands of an artistic bootblack. I have heard Mike Martin, the trainer of the Washington ball club, give really beautiful renditions of "Mother Machree" up and down Walter Johnson's nude leg on the slab in the dressing room, but it didn't mean anything. It used to soothe Mr. Johnson, to be sure, and sometimes he would give Mr. Martin the other leg and ask him to play "My Wild Irish Rose," or "Sweet and Low."

Johnny Just Melted Away.

Johnny Dundee was the most elastic prize fighter of all. He melted himself down from the region of 150 pounds to 135, or even 126, a dozen or more times and during the course of a few years took off more than a thousand pounds. He severed relations with potatoes and bread, of course, and generally subsisted on fruit juice and certain boiled vegetables. Between fights he put it on again.

The formula for reduction among the people to whom it is a routine buiness necessity includes exercise, perspiration and diet, the latter sometimes amounting to a fast. Rubbing is included only for the soothing effect and the Scandinavian practice of pounding or hammering is considered to be no good.

Get Enough Pounding in Ring.

The pugilists reckon to take enough pounding and hammering in the ring, and, anyway, the trainers have found the American system more effective and less damaging. The Scandinavian or Lapp trainers and rubbers developed massive wrists and hands milking reindeers in das har land of das har midnight sun and they love to sling punches at the defenseless forms of their victims.

It is unfortunately true that most of the trainers, imported and domestic, who deal with mature and sedentary victims are dangerous ignoramuses. They take their subjects strictly as is, without regard for their heart condition or general physical well-being.

The majority of the trainers, and they come in both sexes, are of about the intellectual grade of a gymnasium swipe or porter and there is something about their trade which seems to make noisy bullies of them. They bawl insults at their customers which the customers would never tolerate from barber or ladies' maid, and it is the favorite psychology of the old fashioned iron man type of rubber to begin by ignoring the victim, then turn on him suddenly with a roar of "Put out that cigaret or get out of here."

This puts the patient on the defensive and gives the rubber a picturesque reputation as a man with no respect for millionaires or their money. It is also strangely true that the more offensive the rubber's manner to the victim, the higher the price per treatment, whereas, in the present rate of the market, 50 cents an hour would be ample, and with no impudence, either.

Former Fighters Are Best.

The best or most prominent and successful American trainers who have catered to troubled ladies wishing to halve themselves, are Artie McGovern and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, who have studios or gyms in New York, and Charlie White of Chicago.

They were all good fighters in their day and use the fighters' methods, and modifications, to reduce weight. They are also men of good character, and O'Brien once collaborated with Dr. Royal S. Copeland, the present United States senator from New York, in a spectacular reducing program for a picked company of about 50 fat ladies, standing about 12,500 pounds on the hoof. I believe Mr. O'Brien reduced the ladies by about 4,000 pounds in a few weeks. The thing made a statesman of Dr. Copeland.

DODGERS LET WILSON WAIL; GOMEZ SIGNS

New York, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Determined to save $33,000 in players' salaries, the Brooklyn club today maintained an unyielding front against Hack Wilson, Joe Stripp, Al Lopez, and any others who may join the holdout ranks. The directors believe that in the past they were too quickly stampeded by the fear of loss of training and a slow start.

VERNON GOMEZ.

Officials failed to disclose any consternation over the receipt of Wilson's unsigned contract from his home in Martinsburg, W. Va. In fact, they acted as if they had expected it. They indicated that the club's chief rebuttal could be found in the 1932 batting averages, which show .272 for the home run record holder of the National league.

Wilson feels that in cutting his salary to $9,000, the Brooklyn club has placed him in the same class with Babe Ruth. It will be recollected that after he had hit 56 homers in 1930, Hack got a Chicago contract calling for $33,000. Now he is groaning over a reduction of $24,000 in two years.

Last season Wilson received $16,500. This was $1,500 over the club salary limit voted at a meeting of the board of directors. Dazzy Vance also managed to get the front office to ignore the limit. Incidentally, it is believed that Vance also has been cut to $9,000. He is fishing and saying nothing down at Homosassa, Fla.

Tony Cuccinello, whom Brooklyn fans rate the best second baseman in the National league, came over to Ebbets field today and signed his contract. It is believed that Cuccinello got a duplicate of his 1932 agreement, which called for $9,000.

Stripp, down in Orlando, Fla., was indignant over a cut of $2,000. Joe can not see how a National league club can expect a great third baseman to operate for $7,000 a season.

While Babe Ruth continued to hold out against a cut of from $75,000 to $50,000, the Yankees made headway in other quarters. Secretary Ed Barrow announced that four members of their world's championship cast had returned their signed contracts. Heading the list is Vernon Gomez, the lean lefthander, who had demurred a few days ago, despite the fact that the Yanks had named him as one of the only two on the club's roster to be offered an increase in salary. It is understood he is to get $15,000. The other Yanks to sign were the two new pitching recruits, Don Brennan and Russell Van Atta, and Arndt Jorgens, second string catcher.

Over the week-end Barrow had a talk with Lou Gehrig and that matter will be adjusted soon. As for Ruth, the Babe intends to go right on working in McGovern's gymnasium and playing golf at St. Albans, and he may not ask to see Col. Ruppert before the Babe moves down to St. Petersburg around Lincoln's birthday.

Just a year ago the Giants, conceded to be pennant contenders, were in a state of revolt. Terry, Lindstrom, Ott, Fitzsimmons, Critz, Hubbell—all were dissatisfied and their shouts were heard from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

But now things are different. Ott's signed contract was received today. He took his cut. As Carl Hubbell also surrendered over the week-end and Johnny Vergez telegraphed his willingness to take a guaranteed reduction, the club appears to have only one holdout—Fred Fitzsimmons.

The right hander, who had a poor season last year, is said to have received one of the biggest reductions on the club.

MINNESOTA HOUSE PASSES BOXING BILL

Under the present ruling professional bouts are legal only in cities of large population, such as Minneapolis, St. Paul, and Duluth.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The old champion, Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago, began fighting back last night to retain the world's three cushion billiard title.

His foe in a thrilling battle was Allen Hall, also of Chicago. Defeat would have indicated the end of Kieckhefer's reign as the king of the three cushion wizards.

Comes from Behind.

Playing with all his old time cunning, spinning the balls around the table to make them obey almost every command, and coming from behind with a run of four in the 53d inning the old champion won by a score of 50 to 48.

It was his third victory in four starts. It sent him into a tie for second place with Jay Bozeman, Clarence Jackson, and Tiff Denton. Bozeman and Jackson had encountered their first defeats in the title play during the afternoon. As a result Welker Cochran, the balk line star, is winging along out in front, the only undefeated player in the tournament.

Cochran was idle throughout both sessions so he made himself comfortable in a front row seat while the tide of battle swept him into an undisputed lead.

Scoville Beats Bozeman, 50 to 37.

Bozeman's defeat was at the hands of Frank Scoville of Buffalo by a score of 50 to 37 in sixty innings. Jackson was the victim of the former champion, Johnny Layton, 50 to 39 in 54 innings.

Kieckhefer's victory over Hall was one of the big thrillers of the tournament. Eleven times the score was tied and on ten of those occasions Hall broke the deadlock to sail back into the lead. Kieckhefer gave the spectators their first great chance to cheer for him when he reeled off an eight cushion shot to tie the score in the twenty-sixth inning.

But his finest shot of the night and probably the most brilliant of the tournament came at the start of the run of four which put him out in the last half of the fifty-third inning.

Hall Plays Safety.

Allen had shot a safety. He left the red ball on the side rail one diamond from the end rail. Allen's cue ball was one diamond from the side rail and two diamonds from the end rail. Kieckhefer's cue ball was near the head rail about in the middle of the table. The champion played a long reverse english four cushion shot off the white ball, just barely turning the corner at the head of the table. He counted on the red ball at the opposite end of the table.

Scoville's victory over Bozeman was the second longest game of the tournament. Right from the beginning both players started missing shots which ordinarily would have been easy for them.

Jackson in Early Lead.

Layton had to be in his best form to down the stubborn Jackson. He wasn't in good stroke in the early innings, so Jackson proceeded to pile up what appeared to be a comfortable lead. In the ninth inning he was in front by a score of 7 to 2. Then Layton got started. He made two in the tenth and five more in the eleventh. As a result of the rally he took the lead and from then until the finish was never a trailer.

Golden Gloves Seekers! Don't Confuse Novice, Open Classes

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Amateur boxers who wish to enter either the novice tournament or the open tournament of the Golden Gloves should fill out their entry blanks carefully. If it is impossible to get your name and address and other information on the lines, clip the blank and with it send your name, etc., on a separate piece of paper. According to the rules of the A. A. U. you must give your correct name. Nicknames or other such names as "Knockout Kid," etc., are banned.

When you send in your blank, be certain that you have checked your weight and the section in which you are eligible to fight.

Sixteen Will Qualify.

Two boys in each weight [16 in all] will qualify from each of the four sections in the open division for the Tournament of Champions. In the novice class, one boy in each weight will qualify from each of the four Chicago sectionals for the semi-finals and finals, which will be held in conjunction with the Tournament of Champions.

There is no team trophy for the novice division. Two team trophies will be offered in the open class. Points will be determined on the basis of the 32 boys who reach the Chicago finals, which will be held at the Stadium on March 8. The champion will score five points; the runnerup will score three points, and each of the defeated semi-finalists will score one point. Boxing teams may qualify in any of the four sectional tournaments, since no points are scored until the finals.

One team trophy will go to the Chicago team which scores the most points. The other will be awarded to the out of town team getting the highest number of points.

23 Cities Register.

Twenty-three cities in five central states have registered for the sixth annual Golden Gloves meet. To them will be added the champions of the Catholic Youth tournament. With the eight boys qualifying in each weight in Chicago's four sections, this will bring to the Tournament of Champions 32 boys in each of the eight weights.

Do not register for a class which you cannot make without reducing weight. If you weigh more than three or four pounds over the weight in which you wish to box, select the next higher weight class. A one pound weight allowance will be permitted in each division. This means that if you are entered in the 112 pound class, you will be permitted to box in that class if you weigh 113.

Novices, Remember This.

Two entry blanks are printed daily. Be certain you select the proper one for your entry. Remember once again that the requirement for the novice division is:

Novices are those amateur boxers who have not won more than one bout in any Golden Gloves tournament, or in any Catholic Youth tournament or in any Central A. A. U. tournament.

If you have competed in Golden Gloves and won one bout and have won one bout in a C. Y. O. tournament you must enter the open division. The novice class is to protect amateur boxers who have had practically no tournament experience.

Championship prizes and suitable awards for the runnerup will be given in the novice class. These boys also are eligible to be chosen on the Chicago team of 24 which will train for the sixth annual intercity fights with New York. These bouts will be held at the Chicago Stadium March 29.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Taking every advantage of Ed Garner's six foot, six inches, both under the basket and at the tip off, Michigan romped to a 34 to 22 decision over Minnesota here tonight.

The game revolved almost entirely around Garner as he steered the ball over the heads of the smaller Gophers wherever he wished. In addition to directing the play, Garner took advantage of his height to drop in three field goals in the first half and two in the second, all within the foul line. He also added two free throws for a total of 12 points.

The Gophers put up a battle in the first 30 minutes of play, matching Michigan point for point, and trailed only by 11 to 10 at the intermission. The Gophers continued their fight in the first 10 minutes of the second period and at one time led, 17 to 13. Then Eveland of Michigan made three field goals in a row to regain the advantage, which increased as Garner and Eveland popped in shot after shot.

Capt. Brad Robinson played one of his best games. Despite the fact that Garner guarded him closely, he broke loose for four field goals in the second half. He had made one in the first half for a total of 10 points and nearly half his team's total. Lineup:

ENGLISH CRICKET CLUB OFFERS TO CANCEL SERIES

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Marylebone Cricket club, governing body of the sport, tonight cabled a reply to Australia's protest of "unsportsmanlike conduct" by the English team now in Australia, and offered to cancel the remaining two matches of the test series if the situation is "such as to jeopardize the good relations" between the cricketers of the two nations.

Australia officially lodged a protest against the "body-line" bowling of the English players, especially Harold Larwood, after one of the home players had been struck on the head with the ball during the third test match recently held at Adelaide.

New York, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—King Levinsky, Chicago heavyweight boxer, was extended for four rounds by Meyer [K. O.] Christner, the ancient rubber puddler from Akron, O., at the St. Nicholas arena tonight, but managed to score a knockout in the fifth round of their scheduled ten round fight.

Christner, battling gamely after being floored four times, fell from sheer exhaustion to enable Levinsky to gain credit for a knockout.

Third Christner's Best.

The end came after one minute and ten seconds of the fifth round. Until the bout ended, Christner was on fairly even terms with his rival, and returned punch for punch with the wild swinging Levinsky. He made his best showing in the third session, when he almost toppled the Chicago battler with a long right to the jaw.

Levinsky had difficulty reaching Christner with any effectiveness until just after the fifth round started. Then he sent two vicious lefts into the Ohioan's face and floored him for a count of three. Another left to the jaw sent Christner down for two, and a left hook deposited him on the canvas for a count of nine.

Falls Without Being Hit.

Christner was pushed to the floor following this last knockdown and then took a count of two under the force of a left to the body. He was completely exhausted upon arising, and promptly fell without being hit, and Referee Gunboat Smith ignored the formality of a count.

Levinsky weighed 200½ pounds against Christner's 206.

Here's Prize Basketball Story of Year

Canon City, Col., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Most Canon City residents thought it a good joke when a group of young men who registered at the Canon hotel as the Colorado college basketball team gathered up barber poles and other loose objects and packed them to their rooms. It was even funnier, today, when, under the guidance of police, they hauled them back to their proper places again.

From Colorado Springs, however, came a denial that the Tiger cage team had even so much as looked at Canon City as its train rolled through here early Sunday. Clerk Charles Morris of the hotel said the six young men, headed by a man who said he was in charge of the "C. C. basketball team" engaged rooms for the sextet and obtained a "rate" on the strength of his representation that his group was the college team.

Morris said it was explained to him that the men were on their way from Gunnison back to Colorado Springs after a game.

Police Chief John Donahue, who supervised the replacement of the barber poles and other main street bric-a-brac, said the men told him they were C. C. players.

BREAK, BLACKMER RULING EXPECTED BY IOWA IN WEEK

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Before the University of Iowa basketball team resumes second semester competition against St. Ambrose next week it is expected that the Western conference will have settled the eligibility of Edward Break and Ivan Blackmer, first string forwards.

Reinstatement of both players was asked by the Iowa athletic board Jan. 10, after the conference ruled them "technically ineligible."

Hawkeye athletic officials have received the report of Maj. John L. Griffiths, Big Ten commissioner, which must be submitted to all conference members before a ballot is taken. Seven affirmative votes for reinstatement are required when the ballot is conducted by mail.

Dean C. C. Williams, chairman of the Iowa board, said today that the votes would be mailed to Prof. Ralph A. Aigler of Michigan, conference chairman. Dean Williams said that he expected to be notified of the vote within a week.

SMITTY—A LITTLE BIG SHOT

SHIKAT VS. EVKO MAT BOUT GETS COMMISSION O. K.

The Illinois Athletic commission yesterday sanctioned the bout between Richard Shikat and John Evko at the Rainbo Fronton tomorrow night as a wrestling contest. Since Nov. 2, 1931, when Ed [Strangler] Lewis was awarded a championship belt for throwing Wladek Zbyszko at the Chicago Stadium in two of three falls, all mat bouts in Illinois have been labeled exhibitions. The commission defined the matches as such because the various groups of wrestlers refused to face any opponents who were not in their own stables.

Joe Molitor, Rainbo Fronton promoter, was given permission to bill the Evko-Shikat match as a contest when he said that the wrestlers are not in the same group. Molitor contends that Shikat is a member of the Toots Mondt stable, and Evko is not aligned with any particular group and has been called the Trust Buster.

Molitor said there are four different groups working at present—the Strangler Lewis, the Paul Bowser, the Toots Mondt, and the Jack Curley factions.

The commission will allow the Evko-Shikat contest to go to a finish, best two out of three falls. In recent months bouts here have been limited to one fall with a one hour time limit. The supporting bouts will be labeled as exhibitions.

Five members of the Chicago Stadium corporation's board of directors will form a club within a few days to conduct boxing at the Stadium. The first show is scheduled for late next month. The club is being formed with the understanding that Nate Lewis will continue as matchmaker at the Stadium. Sidney Strotz, president of the Stadium, who is co-receiver of the big west side building with Fred Hummel, cannot be a member of the club under the law.

Johnny Phagan and Bobby Vernon will meet in the six round windup at Kid Howard's gymnasium, 116 Madison street, tonight. Leo Ranieri and Johnny will clash in the six round semi-final. George Kogut and Pete Shoe meet in a wrestling exhibition. Other bouts are:

St. Alphonsus parish amateur boxers will face a team from St. Edwards church, Trafton's gymnasium, and the Allerton club at St. Alphonsus gymnasium, Wellington and Southport avenue, Feb. 10.

Jackie Parker and Bob Groshek will clash in the six round windup at the Midway arena, 6115 Cottage Grove avenue, tonight. Eddie Jacobs will meet Al Woznica in a wrestling exhibition. Five bouts at four rounds complete the card. They follow:

The National Boxing association yesterday sanctioned the contest between Gorilla Jones, former middleweight champion, and Sammy [Kid] Slaughter of Terre Haute, Ind., as for the championship of the United States. Jones and Slaughter, both of whom are Negroes, meet at Cleveland, O., next Monday. Title recognition was approved when the Cleveland athletic commission joined the Ohio state boxing board, becoming a member of the N. B. A.

Tuffy Griffith, west side heavyweight, will be out of the ring for ten days due to a cut eye he received in a bout against Lee Ramage at Los Angeles last week. . . . Billy Petrolle has been offered a match with Sammy Fuller at Boston March 10. . . . Barney Ross will go to Pittsburgh Friday, where he boxes Johnny Datto on Monday. . . . Dick Sisk may appear in a supporting bout on the Kid Leonard-Frankie O'Brien card at White City Monday. . . . Frankie Harmon is attempting to match Freddy Lindstrom to wrestle George Trafton in his show at the Washington Boulevard Masonic temple, 3340 Washington boulevard, Feb. 6.

Les Marriner will go to Oklahoma City, Okla., Monday to face Babe Hunt there on Feb. 3. . . . Stanley Poreda will head a show at St. Paul on Feb. 7. . . . A professional card will be offered by Johnny Coulon at the Rainbo Fronton Friday. . . . King Levinsky is to leave New York today for Philadelphia, where he clashes with Unknown Winston Monday. . . . The Billy Jones-Lou Scozza contest at Rochester, N. Y., scheduled for Monday, has been canceled.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 23.—O, girls, you must come over next Thursday to see the British heavyweight championship flower festival.

There will be a boxing contest between Jack Petersen, Welsh holder of the title, and Jack Pettifer, 6 foot 7 inch London dishwasher, in a ring gaily festooned with daffodils—the Welsh national flower—and big red roses for the English challenger.

This terrible bouquet battle is promoted by an anonymous Brighton individual who has never dealt with big he-men in a contest for proving superior skill in the manly art before, but it will be just too sweet. He is known as "Jefferson Arthur" and is going to see that the grim encounter will be softened with garlands, posies and the delectable odor of fresh blossoms.

Women in ringside seats will be presented with lovely sprays of daffodils or roses, as they prefer, and the gentlemen accompanying them will be given intriguing buttonhole boquets of the same kind so that supporters of the great gladiators will be able to wave greenhouse clusters to encourage their favorites.

The spectators also will be given eyeshades of yellow and red so as to shut off the gruesome glare of the arena, and the event will be further uplifted by two Union Jacks flying from the corners of the two boxers.

Petersen will face the gallery in a gorgeous silken robe of yellow and green, wheras Pettifer will bow to the mob in a creation done in red and white. The flags fluttering above each contestant will be edged in his own national flower and ringside seats will be wrapped in colored paper which will give the impression of the Union Jack when seen from the gallery.

Tea will be served afterward in the basement if desired.

BLACKHAWKS TO OPEN 7 GAME ROAD TOUR TONIGHT

Beginning tonight at Montreal, the Blackhawks play a road schedule of seven games, played in six cities and lasting thirteen days, the most strenuous pilgrimage ever taken by a National Hockey league team.

The game tonight promises to be none too easy for the Hawks, who will meet the high scoring Montreal Maroons, who have just returned from New York, where they gave the league leading Rangers a 5 to 0 beating Sunday, the worst defeat the Rangers have suffered this season. From Montreal they journey to New York to battle both the Rangers and the Americans, and then again to the road to play in speedy time Boston, Ottawa, Toronto, and Detroit.

The best that can be said for the Blackhawks is that with the exception of a few minor bruises and cuts the team is fit and ready for the hard work which confronts them.

Ice Fishing Is an Art in New England

BY BOB BECKER.

If ice fishermen who now are going after pickerel, crappies and perch in the northern Illinois lake country want to see this kind of fishing reduced to a fine art, with a tricky system of flags on the lines, they will have to travel to New England.

At least, that is the verdict of Allan D. Millard, a fisherman of Beardstown, Ill., who writes to explain how the New Englanders rig up a outfit that flags you when a fish strikes and how they call it "type fishing" down there. Mr. Millard's letter will be of interest to the many sportsmen who now are fishing through the ice in the middle west. He writes:

"The last paragraph of your recent story telling how the ice fishermen on Lake Marie had rigged up 'strike signals' to indicate when a fish is on was nothing new, as this sport, known as 'type' fishing, is at least 200 years old back in New England.

Spring Releases Signal.

"The rigging they use down east has a hinge or spring on it so that when a fish strikes it throws a small flag signal into the air. I have a set of them in my shed now which I brought from Massachusetts many years ago. With these it is more fun than a circus to fish through the ice for pickerel, especially if you have out about 50 of these 'types' and the fish are biting well.

"If you want to see this fishing reduced to a fine art, go into New England about this time of the year, after the lakes are well frozen and there is some snow so the fish can't see through the ice. Watch how many pickerel a long nosed Yankee will snag on ONE live bait. Compared to these experts, I believe that a lot of these Illinois fishermen 'ain't seen nothing' when it comes to fishing through the ice. Go to Twin lakes, at Salisbury, Conn., or to the following lakes in the Berkshire hills of Massachusetts: Plantain pond, Lake Buel, Lake Garfield, Otis reservoir, Goose pond, Stockbridge bowl, Laurel lake, Prospect lake (where I used to fish). There you will see the masters at the game of 'type' fishing.

It's an Old, Old Sport.

"No one knows just who originated type fishing but my great-great grandfather mentions it frequently in his diary and he died in 1795, a very old man."

Mr. Millard's enthusiasm for fishing through the ice and the popularity of the sport in the east brings up a point which always is good for an argument among fishermen because apparently we have two schools of thought on winter fishing.

One holds that ice fishing is a regular sport, and is as sportsmanlike as fishing in the summer. The other condemns winter fishing as unsportsmanlike, a drain on our fish supplies and therefore not to be encouraged. So far it would appear that the ice fishermen have the best of the argument because the sport is legal in a number of northern states.

Coucci Completes Double.

Jockey Silvio Coucci completed a double in the fourth race when he won in close quarters by a head over the Greentree stable's Jungle King. The four leading horses finished heads apart. E. R. OUTLINE PLANS FOR POLICING LIGHT INDUSTRY

Expect to Win Public by Frankness.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The full significance of the reorganization of the electric power industry's trade organization is beginning to dawn on the public mind.

JOHN J. O'BRIEN.

Here is no mere trade association but business cooperation on the biggest scale ever attempted. A twelve billion dollar industry, comprising thousands of companies, large and small, has got together and decided to clean house so thoroughly that everybody will be convinced that the house has been cleaned.

The new Edison Electric institute proposes to police the entire industry throughout the country and to do it effectively. It proposes also to do this so openly that the public will endorse its actions and will not clamor for more interference by political regulatory bodies.

First Organization Failed.

Once before the electric industry organized to sell itself to the public—but failed. It organized the National Electric Light association. The chief purpose of this body was to carry on an "educational" campaign. It spent two million dollars a year, largely on publicity of various kinds. When the depression came along, however, and uncovered many serious abuses in the financing of utility groups the N. E. L. A. turned out to be a boomerang. The public was in no mood to distinguish the good from the bad. Properly managed companies and abortive speculations were tarred with the same stick.

Now the better elements in the industry are doing the steering. They have set up an organization which represents a new departure in business. Membership is attained by qualification, and the qualifications are so exacting that belonging to the Edison Electric institute, its organizers believe, will become a badge of merit.

Keep Members Up to Scratch.

Not only must a candidate for membership qualify upon applying for admittance, but it must keep qualified. Reports must be furnished not less frequently than once a year and unless these reports continue to be satisfactory the member may be suspended.

What the National Electric Light association failed to do at a cost of $2,000,000 a year the new Edison Electric institute proposes to do for $300,000 a year.

But it will try an entirely different method of wooing public confidence. Instead of flooding the mails with literature it will offer the public a look at its books.

Complete and dependable financial reports are demanded by the institute's constitution. Company figures will not be accepted. An absolutely independent audit by an outside firm of certified public accountants is demanded.

Expect Frankness to Convince.

The Edison Electric institute goes on the theory that giving the ordinary individual a look at the books will be more convincing than sending him a pamphlet arguing the utilities' cause.

"Do you believe that the officers of the institute will have sufficient courage and independent spirit to enforce its police powers and actually discipline members who may transgress the provisions of the constitution," John J. O'Brien, president of Byllesby Engineering and Management corporation and one of the board of trustees of the institute, was asked yesterday.

"I am certain of it," he replied. "Taking a broad view of the matter it is to the selfish interest of all honestly managed utility companies to punish the transgressors and keep the business clean. Unless we do this we shall have it done for us."

Plan for Enforcement.

Asked how the institute proposed to force into line companies that objected to the tactics adopted, Mr. O'Brien said:

"We believe that the actions of the Edison Electric institute will be so convincing and that the organization will meet with such public approval that a stigma will be attached to nonmembership. This will be particularly effective with reference to investors. Prospective purchasers of the securities of a company not belonging to the institute will want to know why it is not a member. They will suspect that it has something to hide."

The financial reports demanded of members by the Edison Electric institute are much more comprehensive than reports now required by security laws in most states.

Exchange Watches Group.

The electric power industry's attempt to do its own policing is being watched with much interest by other groups, particularly the New York Stock exchange. The latter has not yet arrived at a point where it has the courage to demand informative financial statements from corporations that are disinclined to give out facts.

Failure to give information to stockholders and bondholders is excused by such corporations on the ground that to do so would give aid and comfort to trade competitors.

British Spinners Buy More U. S. Cotton than During '31

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The commerce department reported today deliveries of American cotton to British spinners for 1932 totaled 1,440,000 bales, compared with 1,040,000 bales the previous year.

Term. National Bank Changes Capital Setup

Reorganization of the Terminal National Bank of Chicago, 400 West Madison street, has been approved by the directors, according to announcement yesterday by Gaylord S. Morse, president.

Under the plan the capital of the bank is being written down from $750,000 to $200,000 and surplus reduced from $227,128 to $100,000. In addition, the bank is obtaining $150,000 new capital through the sale of 5,000 shares of new stock. Contingency reserves of $250,000 are being set up.

The offering of new stock is being underwritten, but the stockholders will be given the opportunity to subscribe for the new stock at $30.

Will Write Off Paper.

"All slow and doubtful paper will be written off or covered by reserves deemed adequate in the opinion of the management," Mr. Morse says in his letter to stockholders. "In addition the bonds and securities owned by the bank will be written down by $242,000, which will enable the management to carry them on the books of the bank at approximately the present market value."

Mr. Morse stated that no assets will be taken out of the bank under the reorganization plan. Thus any recovery from present values will accrue to stockholders, he said.

Upon completion of the reorganization the bank will have combined capital, surplus, and reserve of $550,000 compared with approximately $527,000 at the present time.

Organize New Bank.

To conform with the requirements of the national banking act a new bank, the Terminus National bank, has been formed to carry out the reorganization. The new bank will sell $150,000 in new stock and then will be merged with the Terminal National.

As previously announced, the board of the directors has been reorganized and reduced from 24 to 19 members. The retiring directors are Anthony Czarnecki, Louis L. Emmerson, former governor of Illinois; Gen. Milton J. Foreman, Robert D. Lay, John R. Leonard, and Albert N. Page.

It was announced that the bank will extend its banking hours to accommodate commuters.

TWO AVIATION LINE MERGER PLANS DISCUSSED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 23.—Negotiations for an affiliation of Eastern Airport Transport, subsidiary of North American Aviation, with Ludington Airlines Inc., an independent unit, have been carried on for several months, an officer of one of the companies said today.

Both lines operate along the Atlantic seaboard, so that a merger, it was said, would eliminate much duplication of schedules and equipment.

A merger of North American Aviation and General Aviation corporation, which is affiliated with the General Motors corporation, has also been under discussion.

Consummation of this merger and the Ludington-Eastern Air Transport deal would result in a sweeping integration of air line companies, Wall street believes.

NEW LUDINGTON SERVICE.

Ludington Airlines, Inc., which operates between New York and Washington and Washington and Norfolk, Va., inaugurated a new passenger service between Washington and Nashville, Tenn., yesterday, to be flown three times a week. This route has been considered the key to the development of the southern transcontinental route of American Airways by air transport authorities.

The Ludington line is not an air mail contractor, while American Airways does carry the mail. The latter's contact with the east is through Eastern Air Transport, at Atlanta, Ga., and reaches New York via a northern route through Buffalo and Albany, N. Y.

TELLS OF DROP IN LOAN DEMAND ON LIFE POLICIES

Demands of policy holders of the Provident Mutual Life Insurance company of Philadelphia for loans on policies has been falling off considerably since the middle of 1932, according to M. A. Linton, president, in his annual report of the company's operations. "For the last quarter of the year the demand for loans was about 62 per cent of the rate experienced during the nine months of acute financial crisis through which the entire country passed from October of 1931 to June of 1932," Mr. Linton stated.

The report says that assets at the end of 1932 were $261,387,000, compared with $256,408,000 at the close of 1931. Volume of business in force was $998,324,000 at the close of 1932, a decline of 3.1 per cent from 1931. Premium and interest received totaled $45,200,000, compared with $47,200,000 in 1931.

More Passenger Autos Sold During December '32

EXCISE TAXES FALLING BELOW U. S. ESTIMATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—Excise and miscellaneous taxes which congress passed at its last session apparently have hit their stride and will produce between 31 million and 32 million a month, according to information made public by the treasury department today.

Bringing in revenue at this rate, the new taxes will not quite sustain the latest estimates which the treasury has made for them. This drop below estimates will not cause any substantial increase in the estimated deficit of $1,146,500,000 for the current fiscal year.

If the new taxes continue to yield an average of 32 million or more a month, they will have brought 338 million or 339 million into the treasury by the end of the fiscal year on June 30. In estimating the deficit for the current fiscal year, the treasury counted on them for about 360 million.

Total Revenue Off.

Although they have already added $146,920,977 to the government's collections of internal revenue during the first half of the fiscal year, which ended Dec. 31, the new taxes have not been able to offset 272 million decrease in income tax collections. Consequently the government's total internal revenues were only $744,437,455 during the July-December period of 1932, compared with $882,097,944 in the same period of 1931.

December brought the first recession in the collections under the new taxes, revealing that the peak probably had been reached. Each previous month had shown an increase in collections over its predecessor.

In December, when collections were made on the basis of November business, the new taxes brought in $31,732,329, compared with $32,834,353 in November, $32,500,000 in October and $27,500,000 in September. Part of the December decline was seasonal because of the importance among the new taxes of the levies on gasoline and lubricating oils. Consumption of these goods fall off in the winter.

Summer May Be Peak.

For this reason, the collections under the new taxes may normally have seasonal peaks in the summer, but this tendency will be offset in part by the collections under the electrical energy tax, which have an opposite seasonal fluctuation.

A list of the new taxes and the amount of revenue they have produced between July 1 and Dec. 31, follows:

AUBURN REPORTS $974,751 DEFICIT FOR YEAR CLOSED

Auburn Automobile company yesterday reported a consolidated net loss of $974,751 for the fiscal year ended Nov. 30. This compares with the record profit of $3,579,849, or $16.38 a share which the company earned in 1931.

The consolidated balance sheet of the company and subsidiaries as of Nov. 30 shows current assets of $10,898,194, including $5,137,676 in cash and government securities, as compared with current liabilities of $330,228.

"Notwithstanding a saving in all classes of overhead expenditures aggregating $2,259,672 compared with the prior year, the company was unable to earn a profit in 1932 because of a reduction in sales volume amounting to $24,232,137," President E. L. Cord says in his report to stockholders.

"Depreciation charges for the year aggregating $624,970 are in excess of the prior year and eliminating such charges from the year's operating loss amounting to $974,751, the company's actual cash loss was $349,780," he added.

Here's One Industry Which Started the Year in Strong Condition

Insurance Co. Buys Furniture of Blackstone

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday accepted a bid of $160,000 made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company for the furniture and fixtures of the Blackstone hotel.

The insurance company had previously taken over the building through foreclosure of a $1,600,000 first mortgage. The Metropolitan deposited $160,000 with the court by certified check.

It is expected that the final decree awarding the hotel property to the insurance company will be signed within 45 days, or as soon as the necessary negotiations are completed and documents for a clear tile are obtained.

Pick Company Withdraws Bid.

The Albert Pick company, Inc., hotel furnishers, withdrew its bid of $125,000 before the bid of the insurance company was accepted. Of the $160,000 the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, which holds a $275,000 chattel mortgage on the furnishings and a second mortgage on the real property, is expected to get $125,000.

The remaining $35,000 is to be distributed among the general creditors of the hotel. These include creditors who have sold supplies to the Blackstone during the receivership, because there is a receivership deficit variously estimated at from $35,000 to $50,000.

Must File Claims in Ten Days.

Paul G. Evans, equity receiver, was ordered by the court to instruct these general creditors to file their claims within ten days. Some of these creditors, the court indicated, may receive 100 cents on the dollar. Others, however, who sold goods to the hotel knowing there would be a receivership deficit, may have their claims scaled down.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance company has closed the Blackstone for two months for renovations.

For 1932 Du Pont's earnings were equal to $1.32 a share on an average of 10,867,678 shares of common stock, this figure including dividends from General Motors investment amounting to $1.15 a share on Du Pont common. CANADA'S DEBT TO U. S. PREVENTS INFLATION BENNETT DECLARES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 23.—Although Canada is senior overseas partner in the British Empire, the nation is so geographically and economically tied up with the United States that she can never tie up her dollar with a depreciated British pound, or inflate her currency in accordance with present vehement demands of Canadian agriculturists, Premier Minister Bennett of Canada told the Toronto board of trade here tonight.

Among the reasons he gave why Canada could not inflate currency, the principal one was that, "in the year 1933, Canada must meet in the United States for principal and interest the absolutely enormous sum of $266,124,000."

Pointing out that this was nearly one million dollars a day every day except Sundays, and that with the Canadian dollar tied to the British pound its value in New York would sink to between fifty and sixty cents, the premier declared that Canadians were "making themselves absurd" talking currency inflation.

Countries went off sound money basis, he said, either because there was lack of currency or because of insolvency and neither condition prevailed in Canada.

"It doesn't matter what kind of money you have to play with in this country," he said. "That is our job and our business, but when you have an international obligation to meet, you have to meet it in the terms the creditor has set."

BARNEY BALABAN ELECTED HEAD OF MOVIE CHAIN

Barney Balaban was elected president of Balaban & Katz corporation at the annual organization meeting of directors yesterday. He succeeds Sam Katz, who has been president of the firm since it was founded in 1917.

Mr. Katz' retirement follows by a few weeks his resignation as vice president in charge of the theater operations of the Paramount Publix corporation, which now controls Balaban & Katz. Mr. Katz also retired as a director of the latter company last week. His retirement is an outgrowth of a disagreement over management policies among officials.

Directors decided to defer payment of the dividend on the Balaban & Katz preferred stock. The stock has been paying at the rate of $7 annually. Stockholders were told at the annual meeting last week that the company operated at a loss last year.

John Balaban was elected secretary and treasurer to succeed Barney Balaban. Sam Dembow Jr. was elected vice president, a position formerly held by John Balaban. Walter Immerman was reelected vice president.

Directors approved a deal whereby the company will take over the operation of the Terminal and Sheridan theaters from the Fox organization.

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 24.—The chamber of deputies in the province of Buenos Aires today passed a bill suspending payments of the foreign debt, making it a law, as it had already passed the senate. A large portion of the province's foreign debt is held in the United States. Provincial employés have not been paid since October.

HELP TO SPECIAL TRADES URGED AS GENERAL AID

It's What Qualified Do-Nothings Want.

This is the second of a series of 10 articles reviewing the attitudes toward the solution of the depression held by business leaders, financiers, and economists in the United States today.

BY REUBEN D. CAHN.

The do-nothings, whose solution for the depression is to let it wear itself out, were described in the article which appeared yesterday. They are furthest to the right in present day American economic thought. Between them and the advocates of extreme measures are to be found many varieties of moderates. Constituting the second group, going from right to left, are those who believe in doing nothing in general but something in particular. They may be called qualified do-nothings.

The qualified do-nothings include a number of farm economists and farm leaders, bankers, and railroad presidents, and financial houses. On the whole they believe as firmly as do the class who were described yesterday that action in general should not be taken to disturb the healthy process of adjustment toward normal, or the "attainment of a new equilibrium." But on account of the peculiar relationship of their own business to the general welfare, as they put it, some concrete governmental action must be taken to help that line of business.

Plans for Farm Aid.

Thus some agricultural economists and some farm leaders premise their demand for farm relief upon a showing that farm prices have declined more than have the prices of manufactured goods. For that reason, while urban incomes are to be permitted to recover unaided, farm prices are to be put up by a farm board financed with public funds, or farmers are to have their incomes supplemented by bonuses calculated by a system known as the domestic allotment. All of this is to be done in the interest of all, the farmers merely being employed to initiate a revival which will be diffused through the various economic groups and benefit every one.

A second and important group of the qualified do-nothings are the bankers who applaud continuing action by the Reconstruction Finance corporation to grant banks the use of public funds so as to be able to meet their obligations, while personal debtors are given no such aid but are to be put through the wringer.

Banks and Railroads.

Others would have the government extend aid to foreign countries to help them reëstablish the gold standard, having funds in those countries which they are anxious to bring home but are unable to do so while gold is restricted by embargo. All of this is urged in the public interest because of the peculiar position occupied by banks.

Then there are the railroads who, being unable to meet interest charges, are loaned public funds with which to do so, in the public interest because the maintenance of our transportation system is so essential in the carrying on of business. Being qualified do-nothings, the interested parties, while securing the preferential treatment, see no inconsistency in their attitude that the whole situation be allowed to work itself out unhampered by any concrete general governmental action.

Woolen Corp. of America Reports Profit for 1932

N. Y. Cuts Rate on Bank Paper to Record Low

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 23.—A fresh wave of interest rate reductions appeared today to have been set in motion by the announcement last Friday that, effective on Wednesday, interest paid by clearing house banks on domestic deposits was to be cut in half to the lowest levels on record.

Bill dealers reduced quoted yields on bankers' acceptances, a high grade of paper, by one-eighth of 1 per cent, bringing asking rates down to a record low at one-quarter of 1 per cent on short term bills. The new official rates are ⅜ to ¼ per cent for 30, 60, and 90 day maturities; ½ to ⅜ for 120 days, and ¾ to ⅝ bid for 150 to 180 days.

The informal committee which governs interest rates paid by banks on foreign deposits announced reductions corresponding to those already ordered on domestic deposits and savings bankers prepared to make a further reduction, probably to 3 per cent, in the rates paid by them on savings deposits.

Savings Rate to Be Cut.

The mutual savings banks in greater New York plan to reduce their interest rate on deposits to 3 per cent, it was announced tonight by Paul W. Albright, general secretary of the Savings Bank association of the state of New York. The prevailing rate is 3½ per cent. Their deposits in savings banks are affected by the cut in interest rates on time deposits by the clearing.

"While it is not customary for savings banks to declare the rate of dividend for the current quarter so far in advance," said Mr. Albright in response to inquiries started by reports that the savings banks would reduce their interest rate, "the consensus is that the dividend rate in the savings banks in greater New York for the current quarter ending March 31 will be at the rate of 3 per cent per annum.

Cite Other Lower Rates.

"This action, if taken, will be in accord with the general lowering of returns on money under current business conditions. The interest rates on savings deposits in other parts of the country have reached as low as 2 per cent in many of the larger cities. There has been a materially lower yield in all types of legal investments for savings banks and in the case of interest on balances carried by savings banks in commercial depositories the rate now is one-half of 1 per cent."

The prevailing savings bank rate was 4½ per cent in 1929, but this was reduced in amounts of one-half of 1 per cent to the present prevailing rate, which became effective on Jan. 1 of 142 savings banks in New York state. 102 pay at the rate of 3½ per cent. Joseph A. Broderick, state superintendent of banks, recommended in his annual report that savings bank rates be reduced.

ALL THIS GROUP WANT TO ATTAIN PROSPERITY IS HUGE CROP OF BUGS

The hope that 1933 will see more insects disturbing American citizens than there were in 1932 was expressed last night by William H. Johns, president of the advertising firm of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborne. His statement was made in an address at a banquet at the Stevens hotel given by the Black Flag Insecticide Company of Baltimore to its brokers. Saying that dry weather last year checked the number of insects, Mr. Johns admitted his hope probably would not be echoed by the average consumer.

Mr. Johns paid tribute to the value of newspaper advertising in his address.

"While it is true that some expenditure has been made for Black Flag advertising in the magazines and in the medium of outdoors, yet 90 per cent of the appropriation is placed in the newspapers," he asserted. "The speed, flexibility, and adaptibility of newspapers is unequaled for our purposes."

TRANSIT LINES ARE PREPARING FOR FAIR RIDERS

I. C. to Overhaul All Its Equipment.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The Illinois Central railroad will completely overhaul its suburban equipment and redecorate its cars in preparation for the Chicago World's Fair, according to L. A. Downs, president.

Mr. Downs said yesterday that the railroad is anticipating a substantially larger volume of suburban traffic during the fair season.

Other transit companies in local and suburban service are making preparations to take care of the increased traffic during the exposition, a survey yesterday showed. Guy A. Richardson, president of the Chicago Surface Lines, said the company is speeding up the work of overhauling equipment which will be called into use during the fair season. Tracks in the vicinity of the exposition grounds are being replaced.

"The 'L' lines and the taxicab companies are also making plans for the fair. Officials stated that there is sufficient equipment in order to meet the demands of increased traffic.

Expect 50,000,000 Persons.

Plans are being made on the basis of an estimated attendance of 50,000,000 persons which is made by the fair officials.

"Present indications are," Mr. Downs said, "that we shall have to provide accommodations for from 55,000 to 80,000 passengers per day in addition to our regular patrons. On Chicago day the total may run as high as 200,000 persons. However, we are getting equipment and facilities in condition to meet any demand.

"Between now and the opening of the fair, every one of our 280 modern steel cars on the electrified suburban service will be completely overhauled and redecorated and in addition other equipment will be conditioned and placed in reserve for emergency use, on Chicago day for example.

Will Improve Stations.

"The Illinois Central will also enlarge and improve the four suburban stations at 12th, 18th, 23d and 31st streets. The 18th street exit will be a direct entrance to the fair grounds."

Mr. Richardson said that officials of the surface lines are unable to make a definite estimate at the present time of the increased traffic they will be called upon to carry. It is anticipated, however, that the surface lines will get a large share of the business from visitors who drive to the city and leave their automobiles in the suburbs or the outlying districts.

The plans of the taxicab companies hinge to a great extent on the final program which is worked out for handling automobile traffic in the immediate vicinity. Officials, however, are making general plans to handle the fair traffic. Equipment of the taxi companies has been kept in good order and it will be unnecessary to recondition old equipment or purchase new vehicles to meet the larger business.

Taxi Official's Estimate.

Thomas B. Hogan, president of the Chicago Yellow Cab company, said yesterday that if the fair attendance lives up to the estimates the revenue of the company should show an increase of from 10 to 15 per cent during the fair season.

A 10 per cent increase at the pres-

TWO SUITS ASK R. K. O. RECEIVER; BROUGHT IN EAST

President Makes Reply to the First.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 23.—An equity receivership for Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation, multimillion dollar amusement concern, was asked in a petition filed today in federal District court.

The plaintiff was Alfred West, a resident of New York and holder of $5,000 in R-K-O bonds, due and payable last Jan. 1. Mr. West complained that his securities had not been retired, and that he brought the action in behalf of himself and all creditors similarly situation. His petition alleged the company had lost money in 1931 and 1932.

The issue of 6 per cent gold notes, of which Mr. West held $5,000 worth, totaled $731,500. They were issued to fund indebtedness incurred in the purchase of Pathe Exchange, Inc.

Shows Decline in Assets.

Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation, according to the balance sheet as of Sept. 30 last, showed net working capital of only $8,868,122, contrasted with $17,350,818 at the end of 1931. Total current assets were $17,570,676, of which $2,780,798 was cash. Nine months earlier current assets totaled $26,878,694, of which $3,844,614 constituted cash.

The funded debt of the company and its subsidiaries aggregates $61,022,573.

The Radio Corporation of America owns $9,786,655 principal amount of the debentures and approximately 1,800,000 shares of the common. These holdings were acquired in 1931, when Radio corporation aided Radio-Keith-Orpheum in effecting a financial reorganization.

R. K. O. President Talks.

"My attention has been called to a proceeding in the New York federal court," M. H. Aylesworth, president of Radio-Keith-Orpheum, said "brought today by one Alfred West against the Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation. It is not unusual at this time for actions of this nature to be filed against companies in the entertainment business and other corporations.

"I will be prepared to make a statement after counsel and officials of the company have had an opportunity to consider the contents of the bill of complaint."

Another Similar Suit.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Receivership proceedings against the Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation, incorporated in Maryland, were filed today in Circuit court by Joseph G Basker and Edward Goldman of Boston, Mass., stockholders.

Judge H. Arthur Stump set Feb. 7 as the time limit for the company's reply.

Mead Johnson & Co.

Please furnish me with a report on Mead Johnson & Co.—T. A. B.

Mead Johnson & Co. is one of the leading producers of infant foods. The company has built up considerable good will among doctors, who prescribe the company's products.

Lower prices, increased advertising, and change in method of billing in 1931 were factors responsible for a slight reversal of the upward trend evidenced since 1922. Net income for the first half of 1932 was $539,000, or $2.91 per common share, against net of $674,000, or $3.72 per common share, for the corresponding 1931 period. Net for the full 1931 year was $1,382,000, or $7.66 per common share, against net of $1,688,000, or $9.51 per common share, for 1930. Net for 1929 was $1,278,000, against $1,082,000 for 1928 and $1,069,000 for 1927.

On Dec. 31, 1931, current assets were $3,764,000 and current liabilities were $576,000. Cash was $969,000 and marketable securities [book values] were $1,817,000.

There is no funded debt. There are outstanding 170,000 shares of 7 per cent cumulative $10 par preferred and 165,000 shares of no par common. The common pays 75 cents a quarter. On April 1, 1932, and previously, extras of 25 cents a quarter were paid. The extra dividend was omitted on July 1, 1932.

The preferred deserves a fairly high rating. The common is medium grade.

CHICAGO HAS 6 OF 100 LARGEST BANKS IN NATION

Chase National Continues in First Position.

Chicago has six banks which rank among the nation's 100 largest, according to the annual roll call of banks prepared by the American Banker. The Chicago banks and their positions follow:

No.		Deposits.
5	Continent. Ill. Nat. Bk. & Tr..	$673,123,603
9	First Nat. bank of Chicago..	459,624,791
31	First Union Tr. & Svgs. bk..	157,074,414
33	Northern Trust company....	149,514,305
39	Harris Trust & Savings bank	110,045,737
54	City Nat. Bank & Trust Co.	80,442,536

The 100 largest banks are located in 33 cities, and the 200 largest banks are in 68 cities. The report states that more than 50 per cent of the bank deposits in the country, exclusive of 10 billion dollars in mutual savings institutions, are in the first 100 banks.

10 Largest Banks.

No.		Deposits.
1	Chase Nat. bank, N. Y...	$1,466,038,619
2	National City bank, N. Y..	1,299,377,710
3	Guaranty Trust Co., N. Y.	1,038,778,217
4	Bank of America N. T. & S. A., San Francisco......	700,447,811
5	Continental Illinois Nat. Bk. & Tr. Co. Chicago....	673,123,603
6	Bankers Trust Co., N. Y..	621,867,430
7	Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., New York......	594,220,198

10	Security-First National bank, Los Angeles.........	452,777,581

Capital of the 100 largest banks is $1,324,615,000 and surplus and undivided profits $1,621,296,000, indicating that the eighteen billions of deposits in these 100 great institutions are supported on a combined capital structure of $2,946,911,000. This indicates $1 of capital funds for every $6.21 of deposits, American Banker says.

Banks May Be Reduced.

The paper asserts that in the event branch banking becomes a fact, the nation will probably see 10 or 20 banks, with deposits in each ranging from 1 to 10 billion dollars. Deposits in these banks would total from 50 to 75 per cent of all deposits.

Bank deposits have increased steadily since the low point was reached in June, 1932, the American Banker finds, and are now within $435,000,000 of the total on Dec. 31, 1931. The deflationary effects began at the end of 1930, but since June of 1932 deposits have been increasing.

INFLATION TALK BOOSTS PRICES OF EXCHANGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 23.—The rising discussions of inflationary proposals in Wall street and Washington, coupled with Senator Borah's assertion that the budget cannot be balanced under present conditions, provoked another flurry of speculative selling of the dollar in the foreign exchange market today.

The movement, which was similar to that of Jan. 4, when Senator Borah announced his intention of introducing a bill to provide for devaluing the dollar, lifted sterling to the best price since last October and whirled the French franc and other gold standard exchanges sharply higher. In the case of sterling, intervention by the official control was required to repress the tendency of the pound to advance against the dollar.

In Sharp Rise.

At its high for the day, $3.37½, sterling was up 1⅝ cents from Saturday's final price and showed a recovery of 23 cents from its record low of last November. At that level the control sold sterling and purchased dollars and francs, with the result that a reaction set in which carried the exchange to its closing level of $3.36 11-16, a net gain of 13-16 cent on the day.

Francs rose to 3.91¼ cents, the best price since Jan. 4, and closed at 3.91 1-16 cents, up 13-16 point from Saturday's final price and once again far above the price at which gold can be imported from Paris. Guilders rallied 2 points to 40.20 cents, belgas rose 1½ points to 13.88 cents, and Swiss francs were up 5 points to 19.36 cents.

Japanese Yen Gains.

Even the Japanese yen and the Danish krone appreciated in terms of the dollar, the former rising 25 points to 21.12 cents and the latter 4 points to 1.96 cents. Canadian dollars alone lost ground, going to a discount of 13 1-16 per cent, against 12⅝ per cent on Saturday.

The daily gold report of the Federal Reserve bank of New York showed a net decline in the country's gold stocks for the second occasion in a week and also, incidentally, the second time since last June. The loss amounted to $1,126,500.

LOWLY HORSE GIVES BOTH TRUCK AND RAILS STIFF RACE IN POLAND

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

WARSAW, Jan. 23.—The horse is successfully competing not only with motor cars but also with railroads in many parts of Poland. The yearly conference of Eastern Galician railway directors ascribes the reduction in freight in the hard hit agrarian provinces to the fact that short distance loads formerly carried by train have been taken over by horse carts.

Yielding to the general demand of agriculture and industry the state owned Polish railways have considerably reduced the freight charges on farm products, lumber, building material, and steel to aid the farmers and stimulate construction. Grain and milk are benefiting by a 25 per cent cut and timber by a 20 per cent reduction.

MEMBER BANKS BUY U. S. BONDS RESERVE SELLS

Report Shows Holdings of Federal Issues Gain.

Member banks of the reserve system were buying U. S. government bonds last week while the reserve banks themselves were reducing their holdings. This is shown in the weekly report on the position of the member banks in the principal cities which was issued yesterday.

The report discloses that the member banks bought an additional $29,000,000 of government bonds last week bringing their current investment to $5,291,000,000 as compared with $3,880,000,000 a year ago. The report covers the week ended last Wednesday, Jan. 18.

Reserve Banks Selling.

The statement of the 12 reserve banks covering the same period, issued last Friday, showed that holdings of government bonds had been reduced by $34,200,000. Thus the member banks were buying up most of the governments which the reserve banks were disposing of through their open market operations.

The increase in government holdings was the most significant change shown in the position of the member banks last week. Demand deposits showed a shrinkage of $35,000,000 while time deposits held steady at $5,702,000,000. Both time and demand deposits are still above the year ago figures.

The increase in government holdings was offset to a great extent by a reduction in investment types of securities which were reduced $26,000,000. Loans and discounts were down $21,000,000.

Close Books on New Bonds.

Subscription books on the U. S. treasury's current offering of $250,000,000 five year notes have been closed, Secretary Mills announced last night. The issue runs for 5 years, maturing Feb. 1, 1938. Announcement of the basis of subscription will be made next Friday.

Mr. Mills also announced that subscriptions totaling $427,740,000 have been received for the $81,000,000 of 91 day treasury bills which were offered Jan. 18.

The average interest rate on the bids accepted is .18 per cent. This compares with an average rate of .24 per cent on the $75,000,000 which was awarded Jan. 18. The record low was reached Jan. 28 when the treasury sold an issue at an average rate of .09 per cent.

CASUALTY COMPANY | ASSURANCE COMPANY

To the Holders of 5% Secured Sinking Fund Gold Debentures of

KREUGER & TOLL COMPANY

NOTICE OF FEBRUARY 6th TIME LIMIT ON PROOF OF CLAIM

Dividends distributable through the American bankruptcy of Kreuger & Toll will be paid only to creditors who have duly filed proof of claim with the Referee in Bankruptcy by FEBRUARY 6, 1933.

The undersigned Trustee intends to file proof of claim in respect of the entire outstanding amount of Secured Debentures. Counsel for the American Trustee in Bankruptcy has, however, announced that in view of the uncertainty of the law covering such a proof of claim, it may become necessary for him to take appropriate proceedings to secure a judicial determination of its validity. In view of this announcement and of the possibility of attack by other creditors, the undersigned can give no assurance that the claim to be filed by it can be relied upon by Debentureholders as a substitute for their individual action.

The Trustee accordingly strongly urges that all Debentureholders, desiring to participate in the American bankruptcy assets, arrange to have individual proofs of claim duly executed and filed with the Referee in Bankruptcy on or before February 6, 1933. The Debentures on which each claim is founded should physically accompany the filed proof of claim. Furthermore, the proof of claim should contain appropriate reference to the collateral held under the Debenture Agreement, otherwise there is risk that the interest of the Debentureholder in such collateral may be deemed waived.

Since the Bankruptcy Act itself fixes six months from adjudication in bankruptcy as the time within which claims must be filed, the time for filing can not be extended beyond February 6, 1933. Debentureholders are accordingly advised to act with promptness as they may otherwise forfeit any right to share in the assets of the American bankruptcy.

New York, January 23, 1933.

THE MARINE MIDLAND TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK
Successor Trustee under Debenture Agreement, dated March 1, 1929

TO HOLDERS OF KREUGER & TOLL SECURITIES REFERRED TO ABOVE:

Referring to the above notice, each of the undersigned Committees is prepared, on behalf of Secured Debentureholders depositing with it, to furnish suitable forms for proof of claim and to attend to the filing of such proofs and of the relative Debentures.

Debentures not yet deposited should be immediately deposited with one of the undersigned Committees, which are collaborating generally in the interest of Debentureholders depositing with them.

Such deposit should be made by delivery of the Debentures to the depositary (or a sub-depositary) of that Committee. Thereupon such depositary will issue its certificate of deposit in respect of the deposited Debentures and deliver to the depositor form of proof of claim and instructions as to its execution.

The secretary of each Committee will be glad to answer inquiries.

The number of Debentures to be handled is so large and the detail incident thereto so considerable, that prompt action by the Debentureholders is considered imperative.

Debentureholders should act well in advance of February 6, 1933, which is the last day.

STOCK MARKET DRIFTS; PRICES SLIGHTLY LOWER

BY FRED HARVEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 23.—Today's stock market found trading down to a point which made the session one of the slowest since the turn of the year and the list drifted to irregularly lower levels of its own weight.

There was encouragement, however, in the fact that at no time did pressure develop against the general market. Rather, scattered liquidation in certain definite directions was the chief characteristic of trading, as for example among the dairy stocks and amusement issues. Heaviness was most apparent in the closing hour.

Traders did not take seriously the Washington talk of inflation, although there was the inclination in some offices to look into the future and conclude that if the dollar was disturbed business would suffer. Discussion of such projects in congressional circles tends to make for hesitation, although the rank and file have no great apprehension as to the possible success of such measures either now or in a special session.

RKO Suit Has Little Effect.

Breaking in the last hour of trading, news of the application for a receivership for Radio-Keith-Orpheum, was not reflected as sharply in price movements as might have been expected. At 4⅝ Radio sold at the lowest price of the year and closed down a small fraction. One sale of 16,700 shares was made at the bottom quotation, probably in anticipation of receivership proceedings.

General Electric was little affected, dipping a trifle fraction on a scanty turnover. Westinghouse, however, was heavy all day and at times changed hands 2 points below the previous close. It closed off almost 1 point.

American Can was an exception to a broad receding movement among pivotal industrial shares, with a rise on the day of more than a point in a sizable turnover. Du Pont and United States Steel, among other favorites, were fractionally lower.

Dairy Issues Lower.

Marked heaviness developed in the dairy products section and was traceable to price reductions on milk by the leading distributors. National Dairy was the pace setter here, dropping a fraction on a larger than usual turnover.

Tobacco shares as a group ran counter to the rest of the market. American Tobacco was especially strong on the dismissal of the minority stockholders' suit and the expectation of a one dollar extra dividend some time this week.

An outstanding performer was Homestake Mining, considered the pivotal gold mining issue. It sold sharply higher all day and closed up more than 4 points.

Strength in the rail group was limited to Chesapeake and Ohio, which was better all day and ended with a moderate improvement. Other carrier shares ruled lower on small volumes. Norfolk and Western dipped 4 points when some one offered stock for sale without regard for the selling side.

Case and Harvester were a little higher at the close, their strength being credited to a strong wheat market. Most other groups and individual shares followed the trend of market favorites and declined in proportion to the leaders.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet today and no sales were reported. The undertone was steady and while refiners showed an interest in nearby sugars their ideas were not above last paid prices, or 2.67c, with nothing firmly offered below 2.70c. TRANSIT LINES ARE PREPARING FOR FAIR RIDERS ent fares will boost the daily revenue by approximately $1,300. Of this amount $496 will go in additional commissions to drivers. Gasoline, tires, depreciation and insurance will take $382, and repairs and garage labor will take an additional $340. This leaves daily profit of $80.90 a day for the company from the increased business.

All equipment of the company has been kept in operation, and increased use of the present equipment will take care of the larger business.

The company may employ as many as 232 additional drivers during the fair season. This will vary depending on the volume of traffic. Mr. Hogan said that the 10 per cent gain would mean an increase in total mileage of 8,500 per day and would cause a corresponding increase in consumption of motor fuel and lubricating oils.

Transit Company's Help.

The Chicago Rapid Transit company is distributing between 20 and 30 thousand pamphlets among school children to stimulate interest in the fair, according to Hal M. Lytle, vice president. The "L" lines have already sponsored several tours of school children to the exposition grounds. Reduced rates have been put in effect for these tours. It is understood that special fares will be given by the "L" lines to visitors during the fair.

The present facilities of the "L" system will meet any increase in traffic, officials state.

EGG FUTURES LOWER

January fresh first eggs continued to decline on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, closing 1c lower. Refrigerators fell 3c, while other deliveries closed ⅛+¼c lower. Butter was off ⅛@⅝c at the last. Fresh egg deliveries weakened again as a result of continued heavy receipts, the mild weather and further weakness in the spot markets. Selling was heavy in February eggs, but new buying and active covering held the delivery to a slight decline. Butter was weakened by the favorable weather conditions. Liquidation was heavy in the February delivery near the close and new buying was not as active as has been the case recently. The four markets reported 100,000 lbs more butter out of storage than last year. Sales: Butter, 130 cars; eggs, 69 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 4 cars; eggs, 4 cars. Prices follow:

EUROPE SEEKING TO AVOID BUYING FOREIGN WHEAT

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Importing countries of Europe have not given up the idea they can achieve economic independence to a considerable extent as far as supplies of wheat are concerned. Despite record low prices, estimates on the acreage seeded for the crop of 1933 in the deficit countries of Europe combined with tentative figures by the department of agriculture's Berlin representative, suggest an increase of 2 to 3 per cent as compared with last year. Russia is not included in the calculation.

There is likewise little prospect of a reduction in the wheat acreage in Argentina and Australia, according to the bureau of agricultural economics. While the new crops of the two countries have just been harvested and the grain is now moving for export at the rate of 10,000,000 bu per week, the acreage is expected to be maintained as far as economic factors such as prices and cost are concerned and present intentions reveal, the bureau's representatives advise.

High Tariffs Check Trade.

In the last few years determined efforts have been made by a number of leading European countries to increase the domestic wheat acreage. Owing to abnormal yields per acre in 1932 both France and Germany secured sufficient grain to permit of official estimates that there would be no imports of consequence during the 1932-'33 season. Italy, France, and Germany impose extremely high import duties on foreign wheat. These duties are as high as $1.87½ per bu. Normally the three countries are liberal importers.

Official reports indicate that the United States is the only leading exporting wheat country that has reduced its acreage in recent years. The Canadian acreage for the 1932 crop in the prairie provinces, as officially revised, was 26,395,000 acres, or above trade expectations, and compared with 25,439,000 acres in 1931 and 24,764,000 acres in 1930.

Wheat Closes at Top.

While the greater part of the news yesterday favored buyer of wheat there was little activity in the market. The trade regarded the reports from at home and abroad as extremely conflicting and were inclined to keep close to shore on either side. A small break which came shortly after the noon hour was wiped out later due to commission house buying and futures closed at the top, with net gains of ⅜@⅝c. May finished at 47⅝c, July 47⅝@47¾c, and September 48⅝c. Winnipeg was ½c higher; Liverpool unchanged, and Buenos Aires ⅛c higher for the day.

Corn held within a range of ¼@⅜c and closed ⅛c hifher in sympathy with firmness in Argentine markets and on less favorable weather reports from that country. May closed at 26⅝@26¾c, July 28¼c, and September 29½c. Buenos Aires gained ⅜@½c for the day with March 30½c at the close.

Trade in oats and rye was light, the former being unchanged for the day with May at 17¼c and July 17½c, while rye was unchanged to ⅛c higher. May closed at 34½c and July at 34c. There was no trade in barley.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP)—SILK—Raw futures closed easier; sales, 770 bales. March, $1.14; May, $1.14*; July, $1.15. Open market quotations [sixty day basis]. Shanghai steam extra B, $1.60; Canton double extra A, 14-16s, $1.05.

RUBBER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP)—RUBBER—Crude futures closed quiet and steady. Jan., †2.94c; March, 3.00c; May, *3.06c; July, 3.15@3.16c. Smoked rib spot closed, †2.96c.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Steady prices ruled on small lots of cotton goods today. Rayon fabric held firmly in an inactive market. Hosiery mills were reported buying raw silk supplies. Burlap was unchanged.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 23.—Firmness ruled in the bond market today. High grade issues showed improvement, although some of the speculatives slipped back a bit from the level of last week's rally.

Improvement in high grade bond prices was attributed to further signs of the extreme ease in money and to the general improvement in sentiment. Announcement today of new treasury financing, consisting solely of short term issues, was beneficial not only to government securities but to the entire high grade market.

The downward adjustment in interest rates paid on bank deposits, coupled with some talk of further lowering of savings bank rates, helped sentiment toward high grades.

Specter of Inflation.

While the specter of inflation is always before bond buyers, the tendency in Wall street today was to look with greater confidence toward possible war debt developments.

Speculative bonds failed to carry through on last week's rally, although legislation is looked for soon which will facilitate railroad reorganizations. Last week's carloadings reports are also receiving favorable attention.

Stimulation to United States government bonds was traced directly to the favorable reception accorded the announcement of new financing.

Aids U. S. Treasuries.

The small size of the issue and its favorable terms stimulated short term treasuries, while long term bonds were aided by temporary removal of the long term issue threat.

Foreign bonds, particularly Germans, showed the most striking improvement. Reich 5½s and 7s climbed to new highs for the recovery movement, with corresponding improvement in other Germans. Miscellaneous South American and foreign bonds were higher.

An easier tendency was apparent in many speculative bonds of the rail and utility groups. Declines included issues of St. Paul, Rock Island, Federal Light and Traction, and others.

YANKEE DOLLARS NOW BOOTLEGGED IN EUROPE ON THE 'BLACK BOURSE'

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The remaining gold standard nations and those, like England, which are so close to the gold standard that their currencies enjoy international prestige, now face the task of preventing the bootlegging of money.

People in countries with depreciated currencies are so eager to trade their paper money for gold currencies, the American dollar in particular, that they have sought holes in the restrictions placed by their governments on foreign exchange transactions.

They are willing to pay fancy premiums to bootleg dollars into their coffers. Dealings of this character are handled by a devious system called the "black bourse." The "black bourse" in the foreign exchange world is about as adventuresome as the famous "rum row" New York harbor.

Because of exchange restrictions, enforced by countries which are seeking to keep what remaining gold they now own, American foreign trade has been badly crippled. American merchants frequently receive orders for shipment to countries off the gold standard, but when foreign buyers seek to buy dollar exchange in their home markets they find it next to impossible to get enough to pay. Their governments have clamped down the lid tightly to prevent flight of capital.

COTTON MAKES SMALL GAIN; TRADE UNSETTLED

Political and trade conditions are too uncertain for speculation in cotton to assume large proportions. The textile industry is in fairly good condition and many mills are sold ahead. Politically, there is too much uneasiness over the allotment proposition and until conditions are clarified nervous and narrow markets are expected to prevail.

Prices moved within a narrow range and the market developed strength at the last presumably on buying to cover shorts which carried prices up to around the highest of the day and closed with futures in Chicago 6@9 points net higher and other markets up 1@7 points. Spots advanced 5 points in New York to 6.30c, Galveston 6.10c, New Orleans 6.15c, and Houston 6.05c. Liverpool closed 5 points net lower and is due 2@5 points higher today.

Census ginnings returns to Jan. 16 aggregate 12,418,210 bales, compared with 15,996,382 bales for the same time last year, and 13,594,388 bales two years ago. The Bennett-Miller estimated ginnings was 12,340,310 bales. The difference between the two reports was too small to have any effect on the trade.

NEW U. S. BONDS FINDING FAVOR IN WALL STREET

Expect Premium in Trading of New Issue.

New York, Jan. 23.—A favorable reception was given by Wall street today to the announcement of new treasury financing for Feb. 1, consisting of $250,000,000 of five year 2⅝ per cent notes.

All descriptions of treasury obligations were active and higher, owing to the small size of the issue and the favorable terms of the offering. With less than one-half of the issue available to cash subscribers, a heavy oversubscription with correspondingly small allotments was generally expected.

When-issued trading in the new notes was not expected to begin until tomorrow, but a premium of perhaps one-half point was expected almost immediately for the new issue.

Larger Issue Expected.

Gains in short term treasury obligations were partly a reflection of the small size of the offering, since a total of from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000 had been expected.

Long term treasury bonds gained substantially, because the relief had been widespread that a long term issue would be announced. Such an offering, it is now believed, will be held over at least until March 15.

Preference will be given to the amount of $75,000,000 to offers to exchange outstanding treasury certificates bearing 3¾ per cent coupons maturing on Feb. 1, of which $144,372,000 will fall due on that date.

For the first time, a clause is inserted in that part of the announcement signed by George L. Harrison, governor of the federal reserve bank, to the effect that exchange subscribers, those offering the maturing certificates for the new ones, will be required to present old ones to the treasury "in face amount equivalent to the amount of their exchange subscriptions." This has been the practice heretofore, though notice had not been given. It is construed as intended to prevent the doubling of exchange subscriptions in the hope of obtaining a larger allotment than otherwise would be granted.

Uses for Proceeds.

Proceeds of the sale will be devoted to payment of $13,000,000 interest on the public debt, in addition to retiring of the maturing certificates. It is expected that the remainder, or about $87,000,000, will be assigned to meet the needs of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Limitation of the issue disposes of any notion that the treasury might try at this time to test the market to ascertain whether it were a favorable time to convert part of the $6,268,000,000 fourth liberty 4¼s outstanding or to fund some of the $5,350,000,000 short term debt. It appears evident that any such test will be left to the next administration.

The next large treasury financing occurs on March 15, when about $700,000,000 of 3¾ per cent certificates will mature.

BONDHOLDERS TO BECOME OWNERS OF SUNNY COURT

Reorganization Plan Is Made Public.

BY AL CHASE.

Reorganization of the Sunny Court apartments, at 7822-28 Laflin avenue, is to be effected without the usual delay incidental to the redemption period, and depositing bondholders are to become the sole owners, it was announced yesterday. The refinancing plans provide for the purchase of the rights of redemption and the negotiation of a small three year loan.

FRANK W. BLAIR.

The plan, formulated by the committee for the protection of first mortgage bonds sold through the American Bond and Mortgage company, provides for the formation of a new corporation to acquire and operate the property, and the issuance to depositing bondholders of voting trust certificates representing common stock in this corporation.

Operation of the property is in the hands of the Chicago Title and Trust company, as receiver, which reports a cash balance of $3,064 as of Nov. 26, 1932, and an average occupancy of 82 per cent for the year. Foreclosure proceedings have been carried through to decree and are now ready to go to sale.

Avoid 15 Months' Delay.

Arrangements have been made by the committee to purchase the equity of redemption and the second mortgage for a total of $2,000, thus avoiding the fifteen months' delay for the expiration of the period during which, according to Illinois statutes, the former owner and junior lien holders may redeem from the foreclosure sale.

Reorganization expenses are to be paid through a new loan to be obtained from the Fort Dearborn Mortgage corporation. This loan, of $15,000 or less, will be secured by a first mortgage and will run for a period of three years at 5½ per cent interest, with $1,500 semi-annual interest prepayments, if earned.

Members of the committee include Craig B. Hazlewood, chairman; Dayton Keith, Joseph E. Otis, Frank W. Blair, Frederick G. Curry, Charles W. Weston, H. K. Hallett, and Walter J. Sugden. George L. Wire is secretary.

Astor Street Deal.

Joseph H. Beuttas, president of the B.-W. Construction company, yesterday took title from the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee, to the 105x120 at 1348-56 Astor street. Four years ago a syndicate composed of John R. Fugard, architect, Hugh Croxton and Mr. Beuttas, bought this property, then improved with three residences. One formerly was the home of Ralph C. Otis; one was the Kenney Smith house and the third was occupied by Mrs. A. C. McCormick.

It was then planned to tear down all three and erect a de luxe apartment building. Wreckers actually did clear away the McCormick residence and then the market slumped and fortunately they didn't go any further with their project. The other two houses are now occupied by the Delta Sigma Delta fraternity of Northwestern university dental school. Mr. Beuttas has no plans for development at present.

Balaban & Katz have leased the Terminal theater, at Lawrence and Kedzie, and the Sheridan theater, at 4038 Sheridan road, from the Chicago Title and Trust company, receiver for the Fox Theaters' corporation, Chicago company, for the period of the receivership.

Tuesday, January 24, 1933.

A Misunderstanding.

To the Editor: In 1926 we purchased a five room bungalow, just built, for $10,400. We paid $4,000 and got a first mortgage of $6,400 held by a building and loan association where my husband was employed. In 1928 we thought it would be easier to have a straight mortgage if we cared to sell. The ——— ——— company placed a first mortgage for $6,000, due in April, 1933, and we made two payments of $500 each two years apart, so that in April the mortgage to be renewed is $5,000.

In the meantime we have paid $500 for the paving of the street and have also had two rooms finished upstairs and had an extra toilet and lavatory put in and three additional hot water radiators, automatic hot water heater, and glass inclosed the front porch. We have spent $1,500 on improvements, including the street assessments.

The ——— ——— company, without reappraising the building, refuse to renew unless we pay $400 at once, thereby reducing it to $4,600, and make two payments of $750 during the five years. All our taxes are paid. We have enough money to pay our next interest note, also their commission charge of 3 per cent. We can meet all payments we contract for, but may not have the additional $400 in time. Can they foreclose?

My husband still is employed. Will you kindly give us the names of some mortgage place that would appraise and make a loan on a bungalow or some building and loan association that would be most apt to make a mortgage of $5,000? MRS. C. W. D.

ANSWER.—We called up the ——— ——— company and find there seems to have been some misunderstanding. They tell us that the holder of the mortgage undoubtedly will renew and that they understood you were in a position to accept the terms they made regarding renewal. Prepayments, they state, will be five semi-annual prepayments of $250, leaving the final payment $3,600.

You ask if foreclosure is possible. Unquestionably, if you don't either pay up the mortgage or renew it.

PRICES OF HOGS GAIN AS SMALL RALLY DEVELOPS

Lightweight Cattle Are in Demand; Advance.

A mild rally in hogs yesterday replaced Saturday's slight losses and headed the market into its higher course again. Lights gained 5@10c, the top at $3.50 showing 10c advance. It equaled the highest mark in 56 days. Medium and weighty stock ruled steady to strong and in spots sold to slightly better advantage. The general average for the day moved up 5c to $3.25. Current hog quotations are 35@50c above the low point of the winter, the top showing a rise of 16 per cent and the average 13 per cent in 23 days.

Receipts were below normal again yesterday, as expected. The run at the 11 leading markets at 108,000 showed a decrease of 41 per cent compared with the corresponding day in 1932.

A run of well finished hogs had been expected as a result of the large corn crop the last year. Other big corn crop years were invariably followed by plenty of well fattened hogs. That the unfinished hogs now coming may be the first of the "cleanup" stock for the season is hard to believe, since it would ordinarily be considered about six weeks too early for this, traders contend, yet this angle is geting some serious consideration. As a rule periods between seasons are light in receipts.

Lightweight Cattle Higher.

Lightweight cattle got good support on a strong to 25c higher market for steers weighing 1,100 lbs and lighter, the top sale for 1,040 lb yearlings going up 15c to $7.25. This was the highest mark in almost two weeks. Last week's extreme top was $7.10. However, trading in medium and weighty stock was an entirely different story. Progress was sluggish and sales in spots weak to slightly lower at the close. Many loads of 1,300@1,500 lb steers quoted at $4.00@4.75 went into the afternoon rounds practically without bids.

Receipts were light, but this had little strengthening influence where weight was concerned. Only a small proportion of the heavy cattle sold above $5.00. One load of "stick outs" averaging 1,406 lbs reached $6.00. A similar situation was found in the butcher stock division. Heavy stock met an undependable trade, while lightweight cows and heifers ruled steady to strong. Bulls weakened off a little. Calves were steady.

Top Lambs $6.60.

Light receipts abruptly reversed the trend of the lamb market yesterday. Advances of 25@35c brought top sales on a par with the highest marks since Nov. 28. All interests bought top grades aggressively at $6.60, with the close the high point of the session. Declines were halted in the wholesale market for dressed lamb. Buyers were eager for numbers and reluctant about letting go when they managed to get on a good load of lambs. The good quality of fed western lambs this winter has been a boon to the trade the last few weeks.

NEW FARM BILL TOO COMPLEX, McADOO ASSERTS

Shreveport, La., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Senator Elect William Gibbs McAdoo believes something ought to be done about mortgages, the credit system and the farmer. He says, however, the pending "domestic allotment" farm relief plan is "to complicated to administer" in its present form.

Stopping over here en route home by airplane, McAdoo said he believed the farm relief bill now before the senate would need several amendments to be made practical. He said he believed the country's credit system needs "revamping."

The senator added, "I feel that we must do something to make all banks safe for depositors."

SOLUTION TO FRATRICIDE
The professor knew that the evidences of Boyle's death were framed. Had he just cut a hole in the exhaust pipe, which Fordney found "new and CLEAN," and then ran the motor, the hole could not have been CLEAN. It would have been smudged by carbon from the exhaust.
